RESOLUTION ON PROGRESS REPORT OF FOREST ADMINISTRATION IN BENGAL FOR 1886-87.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—FORESTS.

Calcutta, the 26th August 1887.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Progress Report of Forest Administration in Bengal for 1886-87.

The Report, which was due on the 1st, was received in the Secretariat on the 4th instant. The Annual Report has not in any recent year been submitted on so early a date, and the Conservator deserves commendation for his efforts to attain punctuality. Mr. Home was in charge of the Department throughout the year, except from the 9th June to 20th August 1886, when sickness obliged him to take privilege leave, and Mr. Chester officiated as Conservator.

2. The forests in the Lower Provinces under the control of the Department at the end of the year under review covered a total area of 7,317,594 acres, or 11,434 square miles, classified as follows:—

	Area in acres.
Reserved	3,191,225
Protected	1,404,923
Unclassed	2,581,420
Total	7,177,568
Proposed reserves not yet finally gazetted	140,026
Total	7,317,594

There was an increase of 9,157 acres in the area of reserves by addition of the Dondimal and Khorda ranges in Orissa, which were taken out of the class of Protected Forests, and the area of forests of the latter class was further diminished by transfer of 5,765 acres in the Sunderbans and Khorda to the Revenue officers for settlement. The area of unclassified forests includes only the forests in Chittagong shown in former reports under the name of District Forests. The forests gazetted as proposed reserves, but not yet finally notified under section 19 of the Forest Act, are, for the most part, in Chota Nagpore. The forests last referred to were notified as proposed reserves as long ago as 1880 and 1882; but on account of difficulties which have arisen in determining the rights of the villagers who dwell on the borders of the proposed reserves local enquiries are still going on. In the case of the Porahat Forests there was unnecessary delay in the proceedings of the Forest Settlement Officer first appointed; and in proceedings relating to the Khurchuta forests, the Lieutenant-Governor was unable to accept the views of the Conservator as to the sufficiency of the investigation which had been made of the rights of the cultivators.

3. The record for the reserved forests of the length of boundaries and number of boundary marks, as corrected during the year (but stated to be not yet accurate), shows a total length of 3,531 miles, of which 2,072 miles are demarcated with 27,842 posts or pillars, and the remaining 1,459 miles are natural boundaries which it is not necessary to demarcate. Seventy-seven miles of boundaries were newly demarcated during the year, 1,236 miles were re-cleared, and 628 more miles were kept clear as fire traces. The average cost per mile of the new demarcation was Rs. 8-2 and of the re-clearing Rs. 5-12, in both cases less than the cost of the preceding year. Under the head of Survey, the most important operations of the year were those carried on in Singbhoon by the Forest Survey party, who surveyed 431 miles of forests, which it is proposed to reserve. In Angul the demarcation of the reserves bordering on Native States was begun by the Revenue Survey party.

4. A special Working Plans Division was created in April 1886, and was placed in charge of Mr. Chester, Deputy Conservator of Forests, who, however, had also other charges including the charge of the Darjeeling Division throughout the year, and was therefore only able to give a portion of his time to the Working plans. The new division was able to complete a plan for the Bamanpokri Forest in the Kurseong sub-division, which has been approved by the Inspector-General of Forests and by Government, and to take in hand the plan for working the forests in the Darjeeling sub-division, from which the stations of Darjeeling and Jalapahar and the adjacent tea gardens are supplied with timber, fuel and fodder. The work done by Messrs. Chester and French and by Messrs. James and Wittenbaker in preparation of these plans is favourably noticed by the Conservator. The Lieutenant-Governor much regrets that on account of the present paucity of officers of the controlling staff (of whom three are at present absent on leave), it has been necessary to close the Working Plans Division for a time, and he hopes that, when the staff is again at its full strength, the useful work done under this head will be resumed with energy.

5. A separation of the Bengal Controlling Staff from that of Assam was sanctioned by the Government of India in September last.

The controlling staff now sanctioned for Bengal consists of one Conservator, seven Deputy Conservators, and five Assistant Conservators. In fact, Bengal has now, besides the Conservator, nine Deputy Conservators and two Assistant Conservators. The staff was therefore one officer short of its sanctioned strength during the year. The Lieutenant-Governor has been informed by the Government of India that one of the officers newly appointed to the Indian Forest Service, who will arrive in India next cold weather, will be appointed to these Provinces. The Executive staff of Sub-Assistant Conservators and Forest Rangers had seven officers of the former and 23 of the latter rank at the close of the year, and the Protective staff, which consists of Foresters and forest peons, had 83 of the former and 308 of the latter. From the statement given on page 8 of Mr. Home's report, it appears that a Forest Ranger in the Lower Provinces has on an average 497 square miles, a Forester 137 square mile, and a forest peon 37 square miles of forest to supervise.

Prosecutions were instituted during the year against three forest guards for misappropriation. One of these was convicted and one acquitted; the third case was pending at the end of the year, and the result has not been shown. Three forest peons, who were dismissed from Government service by the Divisional Officer of Chittagong in connection with a charge of extortion, were reinstated under the orders of the Lieutenant-Governor. On the whole, prosecutions and dismissals of subordinate employes were less numerous than in the two preceding years. The Conservator repeats in this report remarks which he has made in former reports with regard to the distaste generally felt by educated natives of the Lower Provinces for employment in the lower grades of the Forest service.

6. Eight hundred and thirty-nine new cases of breaches of the forest law and offences under the Penal Code were taken into Court during the year, against 624 cases instituted in the preceding year. The Conservator has not commented on this increase which requires explanation. From Statement No. 50 appended to the report, it appears that the increase was chiefly in the Sundurbuns division. The number of cases decided by the Courts, including cases pending from the previous year, was 920, of which 821, or 89·2 per cent., resulted in convictions. Besides these cases, 882 cases were compounded out of Court. The Lieutenant-Governor requests that some particulars may be given in future reports of the cases taken into Court and compounded which are returned under the head "Other offences." More than half the cases disposed of by the Courts during the year have been returned under this head without any details.

7. The area of reserved forest which the Department attempted to protect from fire during the year was 1,007,283 acres, or not quite one-third of the whole area of the reserves. The remaining area, except the forests of the Singbhoom Division, is not liable to fires. The result of the measures adopted for protection was more satisfactory than in any previous year, 897,372 acres, or 80·9 per cent. of the area in which special measures were taken, having escaped. To the 109,911 acres burned, though specially guarded, have to be added 236,220 acres and 2,040 acres burned in unprotected forests in Singbhoom and Buxa, respectively, making a total of 348,171 acres burned. The noticeable features in this part of the report are the measures of success which were attained in Singbhoom and in Angul as compared with the results of former years and the failure in the Jalpaiguri Division. In the lastnamed division, where 19,511 acres were burned, the failure was due, in the Conservator's opinion, chiefly to neglect in inspection and posting of fire guards. The special difficulties which have to be encountered in attempting protection of the Singbhoom and Angul forests were mentioned in last year's Resolution. The total amount expended in fire protection was Rs. 14,378 only, a smaller sum than was spent in the two preceding years in protecting smaller areas, and it appears to the Lieutenant-Governor that a less stinted expenditure under this head is called for.

8. The revenue realised from grazing and the sale of fodder was Rs. 6,680, half of which was raised in the Darjeeling sub-division. The Conservator's proposals for restricting sheep-grazing in the Singalila Range in this sub-division, to which reference is made in paragraph 66 of the report, are now before the Lieutenant-Governor, and it is only necessary here to remark that the question cannot be decided with reference to considerations of forest conservancy only.

9. The area of regular plantations was increased during the year by 270 acres, and the area of cultural operations (which include nurseries and the planting of blank spaces in the forests) by 19 acres. The cost of these additions, which were made chiefly in Darjeeling, Chittagong, and Khoorda, and the up-keep of plantations already existing, was Rs. 7,460. The total area of plantations of all kinds, including oak, tûn, sâl, teak, bamboos, &c., is now 3,410 acres. Cutting of creepers was actively carried on in Buxa and Kurseong, but comparatively little was done in other divisions.

10. Twenty-three miles of export roads and nearly 14 miles of inspection paths were opened during the year, and 420 miles of existing export roads and inspection paths were repaired at a total cost of Rs. 6,468. Most work was done under this head in the Chota Nagpore and Darjeeling Divisions. The total expenditure on buildings was Rs. 14,998.

* The figures of the report for 1885-86 have been corrected.

More forest produce was removed by departmental agency than in the preceding year, the increase being due chiefly to indents received for the Northern Bengal State Railway, and to larger demands of the military authorities for fuel in the Darjeeling Division. With reference to the remarks made by Mr. Home in paragraph 109 of his report regarding the transactions of his Department with the Railway authorities, it is to be noticed that the Lieutenant-Governor has already expressed his desire that the Forest and Public Works Departments should come to an understanding for the delivery and purchase of sleepers in which the pecuniary effect to Government of the transactions as a whole rather than departmental profit should be kept in view.

The removals of timber by permit-holders increased by 453,181 cubic feet, but there was a large falling off of 1,499,249 cubic feet in the exports of fuel under permits. These fluctuations occurred chiefly in the Sunderbuns Division, where there was a more brisk demand for timber for the Calcutta market, but a greatly decreased demand for permits to remove fuel, the decrease being apparently connected with the notification of last year, which raised the rates for sundri firewood. The number of bamboos removed from the forests by Government agency and by purchasers was 17,973,964 against 16,664,460 in the previous year, and minor forest produce was removed in all amounting to 52,01,317 maunds, a yield somewhat less than that of the previous year.

12. The financial results of the year compared as follows with those of the two preceding years :—

	Receipts.	Charges.	Surplus.	Proportion of surplus to gross revenue.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1884-85 ...	5,71,152	4,11,915	1,59,237	28
1885-86 ...	5,97,432	3,70,399	2,27,033	38
1886-87 ...	6,53,634	4,22,781	2,30,853	35·3

The gross revenue of the year is considerably larger than that of the last two years, and there has been a small increase in the surplus. The increase in expenditure was caused chiefly by a charge of Rs. 33,282 on account of the construction of a second steamer for the Sunderbuns Division, and by increased charges for carriage of railway sleepers. On the whole these results are satisfactory.

13. The Conservator's remarks on the conduct of officers will be noted in the Appointment Department. Mr. Home has again earned the Lieutenant-Governor's thanks for his efficient administration of his Department.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the readings during the same period for the past ten years. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as percentage, saturated air being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional stations for the period in question during the same period in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredths of an inch fell.

for the week ending Friday, the 26th August 1887.

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 26TH OF AUGUST 1887.

THE most prominent feature in the meteorology of week ending the 19th of August had been the formation of a feeble cyclonic storm in the northern half of the Bay, which had been remarkably persistent for some days, but which, on the morning of the 19th, was crossing the west coast of the Bay, the centre passing a little to the south of Gopalpore. On the morning of the 20th, it had practically entirely passed inland towards the Central Provinces, where it subsequently filled up. With the advance of the feeble depression inland, it then became possible for the monsoon winds to again flow over Bengal, and rain became pretty general in Orissa, South-West Bengal, and East Bengal on the 20th, but the general rainfall only reached North Bengal and the greater part of Behar and Chutia Nagpur on the 22nd. Thus, at the commencement of the week, the conditions over the Province were fairly normal, and up till its close the principal changes have been in the alternate strengthening and falling off in the two branches of the monsoon current. Up till the 24th the whole Province was principally influenced by the current blowing from the Bay of Bengal, but this, considered as a rain-bearing current, was somewhat weak. On the 24th, however, winds, which had been previously strongly easterly and south-easterly, became more southerly, and it was evident that the Bengal current was commencing to be driven back by the Bombay current. On the 25th the winds blowing over Bengal had become strongly westerly and south-westerly at all stations except those in the extreme east and north of the Province, and on this day the rain-bearing current from the Bay of Bengal was strongly deflected towards the east coast of the Bay; and with the commencement of these westerly winds rainfall almost ceased over the greater part of the Province, except in North Bengal. Owing, however, to the interaction between the two wind currents, on the 26th there was a distinct cyclonic circulation of winds set up over a part of South-East Bengal, and this was accompanied by the formation of a feeble area of low pressure; but the depression and wind circulation were exceedingly feeble on this day. At the close of the week, therefore, conditions were becoming more favourable for rainfall in the southern districts.

It will therefore be seen that, for a considerable part of the week, conditions have been fairly favourable for rainfall over a large portion of the Province. The amounts received, however, generally have not been large, for the current blowing was, in the first place, weak, and it was subsequently strongly deflected towards the east coast of the Bay. Except therefore in Orissa, which was subject to the actual passage of the depression above alluded to, the rainfall has generally been decidedly below the normal, though not quite so largely in defect as it was during the previous week.

Pressure.—The mean pressure during the previous week had been, to a great extent, influenced by the existence of the depression off the south coast of Orissa, and pressure was slightly above the normal in the south-western districts, and rather largely above it elsewhere. With the passage of the depression westwards, pressure continued to fall for the first two or three days of the week, particularly in the western and south-western districts; but on the 23rd pressure rose rapidly in South-West Bengal, where in several instances the rise equalled a tenth of an inch: while pressure fell in South Behar. Pressure generally rose on the 24th: the changes were variable on the 25th, while on the 26th pressure again fell over the whole Province, the fall being largest at the south-eastern, eastern, and southern stations. The tendency of the changes during the week has therefore been to make pressure far more nearly normal, though pressure on the average has still been comparatively low in the west and south-west of the Province. Thus, in South Behar, Chutia Nagpur, Orissa, and South-West Bengal, the mean pressure for the week has been slightly, though distinctly, below the normal, while elsewhere it has been slightly above the normal. For the whole Province of Bengal, therefore, the mean pressure has been very nearly normal. In Assam also the mean pressure for the week has been nearly normal, the variation at no station exceeding a few thousandths of an inch, while the average pressure for the whole of Assam is absolutely normal.

Temperature.—The variations of temperature throughout the week have generally been small, and the average temperature in each district has been very nearly normal, and the variation from the normal in no case equals half a degree. For the whole of Bengal the mean temperature of the week has not varied from the normal by so much as a tenth of a degree. In Assam, on the other hand, the mean temperature for the week has been 0.3° in excess of the normal.

Rainfall.—The actual rainfall during the week has been heaviest in East Bengal, which has received an average of three inches. In Orissa the fall has averaged rather more than two-and-a-half inches; in South-West Bengal, North Bengal and Chutia Nagpur it has averaged from one-and-a-half inches to two inches, and in Behar it has averaged between one and one-and-a-half inches. Compared with the normal, and expressed as a percentage of that amount, Orissa has received 104 per cent.; South-West Bengal 58 per cent.; East Bengal 92 per cent.; North Bengal 54 per cent.; North Behar 58 per cent.; South Behar 38 per cent.; and Chutia Nagpur 53 per cent. Taking these districts as having an equal value in the calculation, the rainfall of the whole Province for the week may be said to have averaged 67 per cent. of the normal. The following districts have received exceptionally small falls throughout the week:—Maldah, Rungpore, Ohumparun, Sarun, Shahabad, Gya, Patna, (which has averaged less than a tenth of an inch), and South Bhagulpore and Monghyr.

In the Nuddea district Kishnaghur appears for the greater part of this month to have been a centre of exceptionally light rainfall, and so far as the returns show, it would appear that this station has only received a fall of 2·76 inches since the commencement of the month, while the normal fall would be 10·43 inches. The remainder of the Nuddea district shows a fall much more nearly normal, and generally averaging from about three-fourths to a fall actually above the normal at Mcherpore. Sherpore, in the Bogra district, is also another station which has received very little rain since the 1st of the month.

In Assam, the following are the amounts which have been received during the week:—At Sibsagar 5·82 inches, at Silchar 3·04 inches, and at Dhubri 0·29 inch.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the eight meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 26th of August 1887:—

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, merely at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

SOUTH CHANNEL BUOY.

THE following information has been received from the Port Officer of Chandbally :—

The G. buoy in the South Channel, entrance to the Brahmini or Dhāmra river, being damaged by the cyclone of May 1887, has been changed, and a fairway buoy, painted black and white, with spire and basket, substituted.

The best track over the outer bar at present is to keep the C. buoy nearly on with this fairway buoy, or a little open to the northward of it.

(1). Reported sunken rocks Northward of Jebel Zukur island.

WITH reference to Notice to Mariners No. 47, of 22nd July 1887, on the reported sunken rocks northward of Jebel Zukur island, the Admiralty has notified that a close examination has been made on two occasions by H. M. S. Griffon of the area in which the dangers reported by the steam-vessels Avocet and Teddington are said to lie, without the discovery of any sign of shoaling of the water.

Pending the report of the inquiry into the loss of the latter vessel, and the receipt of evidence as to her position, no further search will be made, but vessels are warned to pass to the westward of a line joining Centre Peak island, Zebayir islands, and High island, Jebel Zukur.

(2). Dahalak Bank—Position of wreck Northward of Seghalah island.

Information has been received from Commander Hon'ble H. Lambton, H. M. S. Dolphin, through the Admiralty, that the steam-vessel Graville lies stranded about two miles northward of Seghalah island, Dahalak Bank.

The vessel, the mast and funnel of which were still standing, lies in a depth of three fathoms, with the following bearings and distance:—

North-east point of Seghalah island	... S.S.E., distant nearly two miles.
South-west point of Bilhah island	... N.W. by W. $\frac{1}{2}$ W.

Position.—Latitude $15^{\circ} 47' 15''$ N.; longitude $40^{\circ} 44' 0''$ E.

Note.—It does not appear likely that the Graville will break up for some time.

The bearings are Magnetic. Variation 4° westerly in 1887.

SEALED tenders in the form used in the Commissariat Department (blank forms whereof can be had on application at the Commissariat Storekeeper-General's Office, Madras) will be received by the Commissariat Storekeeper-General, Madras, until 1 o'clock on Monday, the 17th October 1887 (and opened by him at the same time and place in presence of those interested), for the supply, by contract, of Indian black tea not exceeding in quantity 139,745lbs., to be delivered at the Commissariat Stores at Madras to the Commissariat Storekeeper-General on or before the 30th day of April 1888 free of all charges whatsoever. No payment will be made on account of such supply prior to the 1st April 1888. The above quantity is subject to a possible deduction of 117,000lbs. or less, if favourable tenders for out-stations (as per paragraph 3) are received.

2. Earnest Deposits.—Each tender must be accompanied by a receipt from the Secretary of the Bank of Madras acknowledging the payment of earnest-money equal to the amount shown in the table in paragraph 3 according to the number of stations tendered for, or by Government promissory notes to the same amount duly endorsed over to the Commissariat Storekeeper-General, Madras. If such earnest-money is not lodged, the tender will be rejected. Tenders to be sealed and superscribed "Tender for Tea."

3. Tenderers have the option of tendering for the supply of the whole quantity of tea at Madras as mentioned in paragraph 1, or of supplying at the following stations separately the respective quantities given opposite each station. In the latter case the amount inserted opposite each station is the earnest-money to accompany such tenders in the manner set forth in the preceding paragraph:—

The security deposit may be lodged either in cash or in Government promissory notes. If the contractor desires to lodge the deposit in cash, he should pay the same to the Secretary of the Bank of Madras, or to the nearest Government treasury; and forward to the Storekeeper-General the Bank or treasury receipt for the same. If Government promissory notes are deposited, they are to be endorsed over to the Commissariat Storekeeper-General, Madras, for the time being as security for the due fulfilment of the contract. The earnest-moneys deposited with the successful tenders will then be returned to the tenderers.

5. The earnest-moneys of all unsuccessful competitors will be returned on the decision of Government as to the acceptance of any tender being received.

6. Contract Decl.—The successful competitors will be required to sign contracts on the basis of their tenders containing the usual provisions in the form used in the Commissariat Department (form whereof can be seen on application to the Commissariat Storekeeper-General at Madras), and to furnish the requisite security deposit within eight days from the date on which the acceptance of their tenders is notified to them. Should the successful competitors fail to sign the contracts or to furnish the security deposits within the time specified, so much of their earnest moneys will be forfeited as will reasonably compensate Government for such breach of contract, and their tenders will be considered as having been rejected. It is, however, to be clearly understood that the forfeiture of the total amount (if necessary) of such earnest-moneys for such default shall in no way preclude Government from recovering from the defaulting competitors all such damages as Government may sustain by reason of such defaults, and that the amount of such earnest-moneys is not to be taken as the total amount of compensation payable to Government for such defaults.

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor-General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 24th August, 1887:

NO. 10 OF 1887.

A Bill to make better provision for recovering certain public demands.

(2) The certificate shall be signed by the Collector making it, and, save as otherwise provided by this Act, shall be conclusive proof of the matters therein stated. [Cf. Act X 1873, s. 1891, s. 9.]

(3) On receiving the certificate the Collector of the other district shall proceed to recover the amount stated therein as if it were an arrear of land-revenue which had accrued in his own district.

4. (1) When proceedings are taken against a person under the last foregoing section for the recovery of an amount stated in a certificate, that person may, if he denies his liability to pay the amount or any part thereof and pays the same under protest made in writing at the time of payment and signed by him or his agent, institute a suit for the re-payment of the amount or the part thereof so paid. [Punjab Land-rev. Bill No. 1 73.]

(2) A suit under sub-section (1) must be instituted in a Civil Court having jurisdiction in the place where the office of the Collector who made the certificate is situate, and the suit shall be determined in accordance with the law in force at that place as if the payment under protest had been made thereat.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The principal object of this Bill (sections 3 and 4) is to provide for the recovery of arrears of revenue in districts other than those in which the arrears have accrued. The necessity of making provision in this behalf arises from the fact that most of the enactments relating to the recovery of revenue are local in their operation. Thus, the North-Western Provinces Land-revenue Act, 1873, extends only to the territories for the time being under the government of the Lieutenant-Governor of those Provinces, and the Oudh Land-revenue Act, 1876, only to the territories under the administration of the Chief Commissioner of that Province. The consequence is that a process for the recovery of an arrear which has accrued in Oudh cannot be enforced in an adjoining district of the North-Western Provinces. Similarly, a process for the recovery of an arrear which has accrued in the North-Western Provinces cannot be enforced in Madras, Bombay, Bengal, the Punjab or the Central Provinces. It has even been doubted whether, in the absence of such a clause as is to be found in section 94 of the Central Provinces Land-revenue Act, 1881, a process issued for the recovery of an arrear which has accrued in one district of the North-Western Provinces can be enforced in another district of those Provinces. The very great inconvenience arising from such a state of the law has been represented to the Government of India by the Governments of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and the Punjab, and legislation on the lines of this Bill has been urged by those Governments and approved by all other Local Governments.

2. The minor object of the Bill (section 5) is to provide, as in section 61, sub-section (3), of the Punjab Municipal Act, 1884, a machinery for the recovery of sums which are recoverable by officers other than Collectors and by public bodies as if the sums were arrears of land-revenue. Such sums are those mentioned in section 4, Act XII of 1880, section 9, Act XVII of 1878, and section 77, Act XV of 1879, which are recoverable as arrears of land-revenue by the head of the office, the District Magistrate and the Rangoon Port Commissioners, respectively.

3. Section 6, sub-section (4), of the Bill lays down a rule which has been law in the Bengal Presidency since the year 1822 and has since been enacted for most other parts of British India.

The 24th August, 1887.

- Resolution in the Home Department, No. ²⁸ ₁₅₇₀₋₉₀, dated the 15th July 1887.

RESOLUTION.—The remarks and orders contained in the Resolution of the Home Department of 15th July above quoted, which are confined to reports furnished to that Department, seem to apply equally to the annual* reports upon subjects administered in this Department. The general opinion of the Local Governments who were consulted on the subject is opposed to any considerable curtailment of reports bearing on revenue matters.

The administration of Provincial revenues is left so much in the hands of Local Governments, and they are also financially so greatly interested therein, that it is not, in the opinion of the Government of India, expedient to restrict the Provincial authorities with respect to the information they may consider it desirable to collect and to place on record regarding them.

2. In the case of Opium and Salt Administration Reports, the fiscal interests involved are of such great importance that, even if the fullest information were not necessary for the purposes of the Local Governments, annual reports would be required by the Government of India in order to enable it to watch the administration of the revenue. These reports should therefore be as full as possible without being prolix, and should be furnished to the Government of India annually, as at present.

3. As regards the reports on Stamps, the Governor-General in Council has no objection to their being prepared and submitted triennially by any Local Government which considers this sufficient. Statistical information only would in this case be submitted in the intermediate years. The reports on the External Land Trade may also be submitted triennially in the same way, the monthly statistics of the trade being transmitted to this Department as at present.

4. The remarks contained in paragraph 5 of the Home Department's Resolution on the necessity of methodical arrangement are specially applicable to the reports submitted to this Department. In reports bearing on revenue matters and trade, comparisons with past years are of special value; but these are rendered difficult unless a systematic arrangement is observed in the subjects dealt with.

5. The Excise reports should in all cases be prefixed by a concise description (which may be repeated from year to year) of the various systems on which the excise is administered in the province concerned, and the extent to which each system applies. There is necessarily in such matters much diversity of practice, and the value of the reports is occasionally diminished by the use of technical terms, whose precise signification is little known beyond the limits of the province, and is often different in different provinces.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to all Local Governments and Administrations, and to the Heads of Departments under the Department of Finance and Commerce, for information.

CALCUTTA, the 6th September 1887.

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 2ND OF SEPTEMBER 1887.

At the close of the previous week a feeble area of low pressure had formed over South-East and South Bengal, which was accompanied by a distinct, though feeble, cyclonic circulation of winds, and thus conditions had become distinctly more favourable for rainfall in the south of the province, than they had previously been. On the 27th the very feeble depression had moved in a westerly direction and was in South-West Bengal, and moving towards Chutia Nagpur, and it was again accompanied by the distinct though feeble wind circulation. In connection with this feeble whirl, heavy rain was falling at many of the southern stations, and amounts of two inches and upwards were reported at Saugor Island, Diamond Harbour, Jehanabad, Burdwan, Raipur in the Bankoora district (5·65 inches) and Bongong; and in Chutia Nagpur at Ranchi, Ghatsila, Barrabhoom and Jhalda, while in the north of the province the following stations also received very heavy rain:—Matabhanga, Kissengunge, Soopool, Mahua, Patna, Banka and Nauihat. On Sunday, the 28th, the depression had disappeared in a westerly direction, and a moderate south-easterly and southerly monsoon current set in from the Bay of Bengal, but rainfall on this day was usually confined to a few light showers, and there was no general rain in any district. These conditions continued practically unaltered on the following day, and though during the whole of this time a fairly strong monsoon current was blowing at the head of the Bay and in Ceylon, as shown by wind velocities at Saugor Island and Galle, yet rainfall over almost the whole of Bengal was comparatively light. On Tuesday, the 30th, however, though the general conditions had scarcely altered, heavy and rather general rain commenced in the northern districts of the province, and on this day Protapgunge, in the North Bhagulpore district, received 7·35 inches and Buxa 4·21 inches, and over the southern districts moderate showers were rather numerous. This heavy rain in the north of Bengal on the 30th set up a slight cyclonic circulation of winds, which was distinctly noticeable on the 31st, and pressure also became slightly low over the central and northern parts of the province, and with these favourable conditions for rainfall, particularly heavy rain was received over a considerable part of North Bengal. On this day Julpigoree reported the excessive fall of 11·47 inches, Mickligunge one of 7·75 inches, Fallacotta 7·51 inches, Protapgunge 5·11 inches and Kaliagunge 4 inches, while moderately heavy showers became pretty numerous over the whole province. On the 1st of September the meteorological conditions had scarcely changed, except that the rainfall rather decreased in quantity in the northern districts, but the area of rainfall extended, and rain was more general than on the previous day, and on the last day of the week the area of rainfall again extended, and the great majority of the stations in the province received moderate rain. The only other noticeable feature in the meteorology of the 2nd was that a westerly element had appeared in some of the wind directions, and this was the only occasion during the week when the influence of the Bombay current was at all felt in Bengal.

Pressure.—During the previous week the mean pressure over the province had been very nearly normal. At the commencement of the present week, the changes were governed by the movement of the very slight depression, but with its disappearance from the province on the 28th, pressure commenced to rise steadily up till the 1st of September, when a slight reaction set in, which was, however, again followed by a rise on the 2nd. It will thus be seen that the mean pressure for the week has been above the normal over the greater part of the province, and taking only those stations into consideration from which observations have been received for several years, and which therefore afford reliable averages, the mean pressure of the whole province of Bengal for the week has been 0·022 inch in excess of the normal. In Orissa, however, pressure has been very slightly below the normal, while in the north of the province, at Purneah, there has been an excess of 0·044" and at Durbhunga one of 0·035". In Assam, at Sibsagor, the mean pressure has been 0·016" in defect of the normal, at Silchar it has been 0·025" in excess, and at Dhubri 0·026" in excess.

Temperature.—The variations of temperature during the week have again not been very large, and the mean temperature in no case differs from the normal by as much as one degree. Generally temperature has been in excess of the normal, and the mean average temperature for the whole of Bengal is only about 0·4° in excess of the normal. In Assam, on the other hand, the mean temperature has been in defect of the normal by 0·5°.

Rainfall.—The general distribution of the rainfall as to time and district has already been referred to under the meteorological summary, and it will have been seen that the northern districts have received very heavy rain, while the remainder of the province has received only moderate general rain. Thus North Bengal has received an average fall of nearly four inches of rain, and North Behar an average of a little more than three inches. South-West and East Bengal and Chutia Nagpur have received between one-and-a-half and two inches, and Orissa and South Behar between one and one-and-a-half inches. Compared with the normal falls, and expressed as a percentage of this amount, the falls in the various districts during the week have been in Orissa 78 per cent., in South-West Bengal 76 per cent., in East Bengal 56 per cent., in North Bengal 105 per cent., in North Behar 111 per cent., in South Behar 51 per cent., and in Chutia Nagpur 72 per cent.

Taking these districts as having an equal value in the calculation, the rainfalls of the whole province may be said to have been equal to 78 per cent. of the normal.

As before indicated, the rainfall in the following districts has been very largely in excess of the normal :—Julpigoree, Purneah, and Chumparun ; while the following districts have received falls largely in defect of the normal :—Bankoorah, Furreedpore, Dacca, Oomilla, Mymensingh, Pubna, Maldah, Mozufferpore, Sarun, Shahabad, South Bhagulpore, Monghyr, and Southal Pergunnahs.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the eight meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 2nd of September 1887 :—

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park-street Observatory). The barometer is about 8 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore .003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 0.6° higher; and, finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0.6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

MEMORANDUM.

THE birth and death returns of the principal Municipalities in Bengal for the week ending 20th August 1887 disclose the following results:—

1. That births were registered at the rate of 18·9 per 1,000 of population, and deaths at 29·1 per 1,000. The ratios of the preceding week ending 13th August being 16·7 and 28·6 per 1,000, respectively, a fair advance in birth registration is indicated.

2. That the following Municipalities furnished the highest proportions of births and deaths:—

Births.				Deaths.
			Ratio per mille.				Ratio per mille.
Arrah	43·1	Arrah	149·5
Bhagulpore	31·7	Gya	62·8
Beaulah	31·5	Beaulah	42·0
Serampore	29·4	Serampore	39·2
Durbhanga	29·1	Bhagulpore	32·6
Gya	28·7	Monghyr	32·5
				Burdwan	32·0
				Puri	31·5
				Suburbs of Calcutta	30·2

3. That the mortality from the specific death-causes stood as follows in contrast with similar information for the preceding week:—

Ratio per mille during the weeks ending—
			20th August 1887.	13th August 1887.
Cholera	5·5	5·4
Small-pox	·2
Fever	11·8	10·4
Bowel-complaints	3·6	5·5
Injury	·5	·3
Other causes	7·5	7·0

The comparison indicates, chiefly, much increase in the death-rate from fever, and a sensible diminution in that from bowel-complaints.

4. That in local incidence of the diseases above named, while no Municipality presented noticeably high mortality from small-pox and injury, Puri suffered pre-eminently from bowel-complaints, which carried off 14·7 per 1,000 of its population, and the following Municipalities from cholera, fever and "other causes," which exhibited the death-rates noted opposite them:—

Cholera.			Fever.			Other Causes.

Serampore	...	7·8				Bhagulpore...	...	11·8

It will be seen, from the above figures that cholera prevailed with marked fatality in the Arrah town.

5. That the death-rates in relation to Sex, Class and Age, stood as follows:—

A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives, as before, as it was not possible to ascertain the census of the Europeans, was estimated, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans was not taken.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE LEGAL AFFAIRS OF THE GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1886-87.

RESOLUTION.

JUDICIAL.

Calcutta, the 5th September 1887.

READ—

The Report on the Legal Affairs of the Government of Bengal for the year 1886-87.

Read also—

The Reports for the two preceding years, and the orders of Government thereon.

The following statement shows the result of Government litigation in all the Civil Courts of Bengal during the year 1886-87 as compared with the two previous years:—

	1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.
Decided in favour of Government	448	576	742
Decided against Government	148	92	167
Compromised, remanded or withdrawn	102	340	142
Percentage in favour of Government	75	86½	81½

The increase is due to a large number of land acquisition cases in connection with the Kidderpore Wet-dock.

2. The result of Government litigation in the High Court only was as follows:—

	1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.
Decided in favour of Government	24	28	30
Decided against Government	1	4	77
Compromised, remanded or withdrawn	4	305	2
Percentage in favour of Government	96	87½	28

The Legal Remembrancer points out that the low percentage of cases decided in favour of Government is due to the fact that 66 enhancement of rent-suits from Malinaggar, in the district of Mozufferpore, were decided by the High Court against the Government in two special appellate decisions, each governing a number of cases. Even if the 66 cases be treated as two cases, the percentage of decisions in favour of Government would still be far from good. The Lieutenant-Governor is satisfied that in many of the cases noticed in the Report, the Government had no reasonable grounds to go upon, and such cases should not have been taken into or defended in Court. The Legal Remembrancer will be asked to report specially on this point, and to state whether he can suggest any means whereby a more careful examination of the probabilities of success may be made in the first instance, and a stricter watch kept over the progress of cases afterwards. The attention of the Revenue Department will also be called to this matter.

3. Sir Steuart Bayley does not deem it necessary to discuss the details of the various cases which have been decided against Government. With reference to the case under Act XI of 1859 mentioned by Mr. Allen in paragraph 12 of his Report, the suggestion made by him will be considered in the Revenue Department. On the data now before him, the Lieutenant-Governor is certainly of opinion that the Commissioner or the Board of Revenue would have done well to cancel the sale.

4. Perhaps the most important case during the year was the Deara Survey case, in the district of Furrעדpore, in which a quantity of land was resumed as new accretions, and assessed under the provisions of Act IX of 1847. The plaintiffs instituted a suit against Government claiming the land as a re-formation on the site of their permanently-settled mouzah. The Government urged that the lands being liable to assessment under Act IX of 1847, the Civil Court had no jurisdiction to entertain the suit. This contention was disallowed by the Court of first instance, but allowed by the District Judge on appeal. On a second appeal to the High Court, the question of jurisdiction was referred to a Full Bench and decided against the Government. The Legal Remembrancer has made the following remarks regarding this case: "The question whether the land is liable to assessment, or already covered by an existing settlement, appears to have been always reserved for the decision of the Revenue authorities, and section 6 of Act IX of 1847 declares the Board's decision final in such a case. This judgment of the Full Bench, ignoring this principle, and overruling previous decisions of the High Court itself, has been appealed to Her Majesty in Council."

5. The result of Government litigation in the lower appellate Courts was as follows:—

		1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.
Decided in favour of Government	...	111	29	25
Decided against Government	...	8	17	7
Compromised, remanded, or withdrawn	...	8	...	17
Percentage in favour of Government	...	93	63	78

As regards the seven suits decided against Government, Sir Steuart Bayley would only remark that the suits mentioned in paragraphs 20 and 21, which were brought for the cancellation of certificates issued under Act VII (B.C.) of 1880, show the necessity for the exercise of caution and supervision in the application of the certificate procedure.

6. The following was the result of Government litigation in the Courts of first instance:—

		1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.
Decided in favour of Government	...	313	519	687
Decided against Government	...	139	71	83
Compromised, or withdrawn	...	90	35	123
Percentage in favour of Government	...	69	88	89

The increase in the number of cases is due to there having been an unusually large number of land acquisition cases in the districts of the 24-Pergunnahs, Patna, and Dacca. Of the 83 cases decided against Government, 21 were cases under the Land Acquisition Act, in which the Judge awarded larger amounts of compensation than had been offered by the Collector. Of the remaining cases, 35 were brought by the tenants of Bokalia, in the district of Chittagong, for a reduction in the rent assessed on them under Act VIII (B.C.) of 1879. In these cases appeals have been instituted in the District Judge's Court against the decisions of the Munsif. The result of the appeal filed in the case arising out of an alleged encroachment on a public road mentioned in paragraph 31 of the Report, should be specially reported. The suit, brought by the Maharajah of Durbhunga against the Chairman of the Durbhunga Municipality, for the recovery of a piece of land which had been acquired by Government, is one of great importance, as affecting the powers of a Manager under the Court of Wards. The Legal Remembrancer should see that the case on behalf of Government is properly and thoroughly placed before the High Court on appeal. This remark also applies to the case mentioned in paragraph 38, as the question as to the existence of any transferable right is one of great importance. As remarked by the Collector, the judgment, if not upset on appeal, will certainly form a most inconvenient precedent.

7. The figures below show the result of the litigation in which the Court of Wards were concerned for the year under report as compared with the two preceding years:—

	1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.
Decided in favour of Court of Wards ...	700	1,113	1,034
Decided against Court of Wards ...	121	158	310
Compromised, remanded or withdrawn ...	56	44	91
Percentage in favour of Court of Wards	85½	87½	77

The low percentage is said to be due to the fact that 210 cases instituted by the Manager of the Dighapatia Estate for recovery of arrears of rent were decided against the Court of Wards during the year. Appeals have been preferred in these cases.

8. The following table shows the amount of Government decrees recovered during 1886-87, as compared with the amounts recovered during the two previous years:—

	1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Amount under realization ...	6,42,647	6,26,182	50,419
Realized during the year ...	20,407	12,338	13,367
Percentage of recovery ...	3½	2	26½

Omitting the Canning decrees which were remitted in the previous year, the amount under realization in 1885-86 was only Rs. 44,903, or less than in the present year. The percentage of recovery on that amount was Rs. 27½, so that the percentage has dropped by 1 per cent. during the year under report.

9. The amount of Wards' decrees recovered during 1886-87, as compared with the realizations of the two preceding years, was as follows:—

	1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Amount under realization ...	5,72,757	9,37,524	11,07,570
Realized during the year ...	1,02,253	1,69,179	1,63,506
Percentage of recovery ...	19½	18	14½

The Lieutenant-Governor is of opinion that the percentage of recovery, both on Government decrees and Wards' decrees, is exceedingly bad. The most unsatisfactory feature of Government litigation in Bengal is that Government must of course make good to the uttermost farthing all adverse decrees, while it experiences the greatest difficulty in realizing the decrees in its favour, some of them being wholly infructuous. The Board of Revenue are of opinion that what is necessary to improve realization is greater energy on the part of the officers in the Execution Department. This remark of course applies only to Wards' decrees. As regards Government decrees, Sir Steuart Bayley agrees with the opinion of his predecessor that small collections are due in a great measure to the facility for concealing property, to the joint family system, and to the prevalence of benamoe transactions, which offer almost insuperable obstacles to the realization of decrees, even by private persons. Sir Steuart Bayley has no doubt that the offences of fraudulent concealment, removal, or transfer of property are of frequent occurrence in Bengal. Collectors, however, have some remedy in their own hands, as they might apply to the Magistrate in any fitting case to issue process under section 424 of the Penal Code, an offence, for the prosecution of which no sanction is required. The Lieutenant-Governor is not aware whether a commission upon realizations is now paid to Nazirs and their subordinates. If not, he thinks that the experiment might be tried. The Legal Remembrancer will be asked to report on this point. Statement E appended to the Report shows that the amount expended in litigation by Government during the year was Rs. 48,368, while the receipts amounted to only Rs. 13,367.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Superintendent and Remembrancer of Legal Affairs for information and submission of the report called for in paragraphs 2, 6 and 9.

Ordered also that a copy of this Resolution, with a copy of the Report, be forwarded to the Revenue Department of this Office with special reference to the remarks contained in paragraph 2.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

J. WARE EDGAR,

Offg. Chief Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

DONATION BY MAHARANI SARNAMAYEE FOR THE PROMOTION OF TECHNICAL EDUCATION.

- A letter from the Director of Public Instruction No. 5616, dated the 18th August 1887.

In commemoration of the Jubilee year of the reign of Her Majesty the Queen-Empress of India, the Maharani Sarnamayee of Cossimbazar, Member of the Imperial Order of the Crown of India, has offered to make an endowment of Rs. 20,000 for the promotion of technical education in the Moorshedabad district, and with this view has proposed the following scheme. Of the sum of Rs. 20,000, Rs. 5,000 will be appropriated for the purpose of obtaining the necessary apparatus and instruments, and the income accruing from the investment of the remainder will be expended, in concert with the Municipal Commissioners of Berhampore, on (1) the endowment of a class at the Berhampore Collegiate School to which the present technical school under the charge of the Municipal Commissioners will, together with its apparatus and materials, be transferred; and (2) the establishment of classes in connection with this technical class at some of the elementary schools maintained by, and situated within, the municipality.

The Lieutenant-Governor has pleasure in accepting Maharani Sarnamayee's munificent gift, and desires to communicate to her his approval of the scheme which she proposes, and to tender his thanks for her great liberality.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and that a copy of it be forwarded to the Commissioner of the Presidency Division for information and communication to the Maharani Sarnamayee of Cossimbazar, Member of the Imperial Order of the Crown of India.

Ordered also that a copy be sent to the Director of Public Instruction for information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

W. C. MACPHERSON,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE GENERAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE RAJSHAHYE DIVISION FOR 1886-87.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

Calcutta, the 13th September, 1887.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Annual Administration Report of the Rajshahye Division for 1886-87.

The Rajshahye Division was in the charge of Lord H. Ulick Browne until the 1st October 1886, when, on his retirement from the Bengal Civil Service after nearly 10 years successful administration of the Division, he was succeeded by Mr. Lewis. The Report is submitted by Mr. Lewis, who held charge of the Division for the remainder of the year under review.

2. Tours.—Mr. Lewis was on tour in the Division for 138 days, and did a large amount of inspection work, including inspection of all the district offices and six of the sub-divisional offices. All the district and sub-divisional officers spent the prescribed period in touring, and appear to have made good use of their time in camp; the longest tours were made by Messrs. Oldham and Paul in Darjeeling (119 days), Mr. Sunder in Alipore (159 days), and Mr. O'Donnell in Kurseong (147 days). The time spent in the interior by Joint and Assistant Magistrates, other than those in charge of sub-divisions, was insufficient, and the attention of the Commissioner is called to the Resolution on the Report for 1883-84, in which it was urged that an effort should be made to arrange for the Joint-Magistrates to spend at least a month in camp.

3. Weather and crops.—The rainfall of the year was copious and well distributed, and the outturn of the crops was generally good, that of the aman dhan, which is the chief food crop of the division, being an unusually full crop. Indigo, which is now grown only to a limited extent in three districts of the division, was damaged by the heavy rains of July and August, and jute and tobacco, which were not such good crops as in the preceding year, suffered, the former from the excessive rainfall and the latter from hail. The year was favourable to the cultivation of ganja, and the outturn of this crop was very satisfactory.

The following estimate of the outturn of the different crops, in which the average harvest is taken at 16 annas, is taken from the Commissioner's report:—

4. Public Health and Vaccination.—The mortality statistics of the year show an increase in the number of deaths in all the districts of the division except Rajshahye and Bogra. This increase is to some extent attributed to improved registration, but the year appears to have been generally unhealthy in this division and especially so in Dinagepore, where the public health is reported to have been extremely bad and the season is compared with the memorably unhealthy year, 1877. Cholera was epidemic in Pubna in the hot weather and in Julpigoree after the rains, and was also prevalent in the Darjeeling Terai and in Rungpore. In the last named district the prevalence of fever and cholera resulted in the highest annual figures of mortality ever recorded for the district, viz, 32·22 per mille. The highest death-rate, viz, 35·27, was recorded in Julpigoree.

Vaccination operations generally appear to have been very much on the same scale as last year, except in Rungpore and Julpigoree. In Rungpore there was an increase of 6,000 vaccinations, which is balanced by a falling off of about the same number in Julpigoree; the decrease in the latter case was due to the insufficiency of vaccinators. In Pubna it is said that vaccination is still regarded with distrust in backward villages; but on the whole and especially in the Darjeeling hills it seems that the system is gaining popularity.

5. Material Condition of the people, &c.—The Commissioner considers that the material condition of the people of the Rajshahye Division is at present good, owing to the favourable harvests of recent years, and the District Officers give satisfactory accounts of the general prosperity in ordinary years, and of the increased comfort of the cultivators and labouring classes in the present times of plenty. The Officiating Collector of Dinagepore, whose estimate is the lowest with regard to the material condition of the people, places the mass of the cultivating classes in his district half way in the scale of comfort between the same classes in Eastern Bengal and Behar, and remarks that, while there appears to him to be a great difference between the standard of comfort maintained by the ryots of Dinagepore and that of the Mymensingh ryots, there is, on the other hand, an absence of any appearance of actual squalor and want such as may be met with in the interior of a Behar district. The Commissioner, however, who has served in Dinagepore, takes a more cheerful view of the condition of the district, and writes as follows:—

“Rents in Dinagepore are low, land is still plentiful, though much waste and jungle has been reclaimed of late years, and the cultivator has a ready market for his produce.

These are not conditions that tell against the welfare of the agricultural community, and the fact that the villagers can afford to import labour to carry on agricultural operations proves that their condition is good. I have always considered Dinagore as pre-eminently a district where the ryots hold their own acres not liable to rack-renting, where, though the zemindars are poor, there are a large number of substantial ryots, mundols, jotedars, and others, through whose influence a system of village government prevailed; where generally the peasantry live in ease and content. It is true that some years have elapsed since I was Magistrate of Dinagore; but I cannot think that the mere fact of the district having been since then opened out to trade can have had any evil effect on the condition of the people at large."

A proof of the general agricultural prosperity is found in the fact that while there is no emigration from the division, immigrant labourers come every year into all its seven districts to take part in the harvesting and field work, and in road-making and tank-digging. In the year under review, the Assam-Bihar Railway works also attracted large numbers of up-country labourers to Dinagore. A falling off in the number of immigrant labourers who came to work in the Julpigoree tea-gardens is ascribed to the fact that unfair and illegal means were largely used by Assam recruiters both in the Chota Nagpore recruiting grounds and en route to divert the labourers to Assam. These accusations ought to have been enquired into at the time. If Assam recruiters offer higher terms than the Julpigoree recruiters and by fair means are able to persuade labourers to go to Assam in preference to the Julpigoree gardens no grievance is established; but, it is the duty of the local officers to ensure that no fraud or compulsion is used to intending emigrants.

No general change occurred in the wages of agricultural labour except in the Rajshahye district where a rise is attributed to the good crops. The price of food fell everywhere as compared with the average prices of the last five years, common rice ranging in the plains districts from $20\frac{1}{4}$ seers a rupee in Rungpore to $24\frac{3}{8}$ seers in Dinagore. The price of food has fallen. Compared with the average quantity sold per rupee during the five preceding years, the average quantity of common rice and wheat increased in all districts, and of pulses everywhere, except in Rajshahye, and there further appears to have been an improvement in 1886-87 over the year 1885-86.

6. Manufactures and Trade.—Jute, tea, silk, molasses, and tobacco are the most important manufactures of the division. The outturn of tea in Darjeeling increased from 9,090,298 lbs. in 1885 to 9,416,631 lbs. in 1886, and in Julpigoree tea cultivation continued to expand, and there was an advance of little short of two million pounds in the outturn (5,571,404 lbs.) as compared with that of the preceding year. The continued decline in the silk industry of the Lower Provinces has occupied the attention of Government, and steps have been taken under the supervision of the Agricultural Department with a view to investigate and combat disease among silk-worms.

The Commissioner gives a very interesting review of the trade of the division registered in the calendar year 1886. His figures represent the trade carried by the Northern Bengal State Railway, the Darjeeling-Himalayan Railway, the Eastern Bengal State Railway, and the Serajgunge steamer service, the total value of which is estimated approximately at 10 crores of rupees. The figures show a net excess of exports over imports to the value of about one-and-a-half crores of rupees. It is to be observed that the exports to Calcutta, Assam, and Eastern Bengal were more than double those of 1885. The expansion of the Serajgunge steamer trade is especially noticeable. External trade is carried on with Bhutan, Sikkim, Nepaul, and Thibet. There was a very considerable increase in the trade with Sikkim, Nepaul, and Thibet during the earlier months of 1886, but towards the end of the year a strict blockade was maintained, and trade in consequence was brought to a standstill. Trade with Bhutan also fell off. On the general trade aspects of the division the Commissioner writes:—

"The opening out of lines of railway and their attendant feeder roads have given a great impetus to the extension of trade and commerce in the division, and this has re-acted favourably in improving the condition of the people. The cultivators have a readier market for their produce and can obtain better prices, and as a consequence cultivation has extended. It is not so long ago since Rajshahye, Dinagore, Rungpore, and Bogra were covered with jungle famous for the shikar to be had in them, immense tracts of which have now been cleared for cultivation. During even the nine years that have intervened since I was personally acquainted with some of the above districts, a great change has taken place, and the effect of the impetus given to trade on the material condition and well-being of the people is very marked."

7. State of public feeling.—The District Officers state that public feeling on general subjects is as yet almost unknown, but they are unanimous in their reports regarding the unprecedented enthusiasm and loyalty evinced, by all classes on the occasion of the celebration of the Queen-Empress's Jubilee. The imposition of the income-tax does not appear to have been followed by any pronounced feeling of discontent, and it is said to be considered more equitable than its predecessor, the license-tax, the incidence of which was on one section of the community only. The provisions of the Tenancy Act are gradually becoming better understood, and the excitement attendant on its introduction has, according to the Collectors of Rungpore and Rajshahye, subsided. Local Self-Government in Pubna is said to have been greatly appreciated as a mark of confidence in the people.

8. Employment of Muhammadans.—A comparison between the tabulated statement prepared by the Commissioner under this head and that submitted last year shows no change in the number of Muhammadan gazetted officers, but a very large increase in the numbers of Muhammadan officers employed by Government in superior and inferior service; as, however, last year's returns were admittedly incorrect, and did not include certain departments taken into account this year, it is impossible to draw conclusions on the subject at present. The statement for 1886 is reproduced below:—

DISTRICTS.	Proportion of Muham- madians to district population.	Proportion of educated Muham- madians in the district as compared with edu- cated Hindus.	NUMBER OF PERSONS IN GOVERNMENT SERVICE.						REMARKS.

Total	1 to 1.5	1 to 1.1	167 *	13	2,314	654	3,977	1,827

9. Police and Crime.—There was a slight decrease in cognizable crime in the division, the number of cognizable offences reported falling from 13,225 to 12,891, but this decrease occurred in Dinagpore and Rajshahye only, the returns of the other districts showing a small increase. Non-cognizable cases rose from 8,503 to 9,336, the increase having been common to all the districts of the division except Dinagpore. A considerable amount of work continues to be disposed of by the Magisterial Benches. With regard to the conduct of the regular police, the Lieutenant-Governor observes that the figures showing the percentage of police officers and men punished judicially and departmentally exhibit very far from satisfactory results as regards every district except Dinagpore, and there the conduct of the force is expressly reported by the Magistrate to have been most unsatisfactory.

10. Civil Justice.—From the statement of civil suits, it appears that the total number of suits instituted in 1886 was 45,199 as against 44,407 in 1885. Rent suits increased in number in Rajshahye and Pubna, but fewer were instituted in all the other districts of the division; suits for title and for money and moveable property increased generally. The explanation of the fluctuations appears to be that in a season of plenty tenants have been in a better position to pay their rents; while, on the other hand, creditors have for the same reason been eager to seize the opportunity to sue their debtors. It is also possible that, owing to doubts being entertained as to the effects of certain provisions of the Tenancy Act, suits are being withheld pending the decision of test cases.

11. Land Revenue and Settlements.—The total land revenue demand of the division for the year was Rs. 51,21,620 from 5,447 estates, and the collections reached the percentage of 96.48 against 96.04 in 1885-86. The remissions granted amounted to Rs. 18,311 only as against Rs. 32,600 during the preceding year, and the balance outstanding at the close of the year was also smaller than that with which it opened. Under the head of settlements the grant of leases of waste land in Julpigoree, amounting to 22,394 acres, and the Mircha Deara Settlement in Rajshahye, were the most important operations. In Pubna, Bogra, and Rungpore a re-valuation under the Cess Act of 292 estates was completed with the result of a net increase of Rs. 48,779 in valuation and Rs. 918 in both the cesses.

12. Relations between Landlord and Tenant.—The relations existing between landlords and tenants in the Rajshahye Division appear to be on the whole satisfactory, but in Pubna they are reported to be in many instances strained. The circular orders issued by the Board of Revenue are said to have to a great extent settled the disputes, which were at first frequent, regarding the filling up of the printed form of rent receipt. The work done under the Tenancy Act during the year in the Collectors' offices relates principally to the issue of notices under the different sections and the payment of landlords' fees on the transfer of tenures. The Commissioner expresses only the general opinion that "the Act has worked on the whole satisfactorily," and adds that all the District Officers have not reported fully on the matter. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that a fuller notice of the working of the Act will be given in next year's report. It is noticed that landlords in many cases do not appreciate the provisions of section 12 of the Act, which were inserted especially for their benefit, and refuse to accept fees sent to them with notices of transfer under the impression that acceptance will bind them to acknowledge such transfer.

13. Excise and Stamps.—The Excise revenue rose from Rs. 6,02,106 to Rs. 6,51,713, in the year under review, the increase being shared in by all the districts. This general improvement was obviously due to the prosperous condition of the people caused by good harvests, and the consequent advantageous settlement of shops. In the stamp revenue there was an increase in three districts, and a decrease in four, resulting in a net increase of Rs. 30,508 for the division.

14. Monetary arrangements.—The value of notes received from, and issued to, the public in payment of Government dues increased in five of the seven districts, the divisional result being a decrease in the receipt, and an increase on the issue side. Stock-notes continue to be unpopular, only one sale and one renewal being reported for the whole division. There was a large increase in the amount of money deposited in Savings Banks, no doubt due to the great convenience to the people of post offices as banks for deposits. As regards money-orders, there has been a steady increase in transactions since their transfer to the Postal Department.

15. Education.—Three thousand four hundred and thirty-eight schools and 87,556 pupils were under the cognizance of the Education Department in this Division at the end of the year. There was a rather large decrease under lower primary schools and pupils on account of further exclusion from the system of rewards, and therefore from the returns of very small and inefficient schools; the decrease is especially marked in Bogra, Pubna, and Rajshahye. The Lieutenant-Governor has again to notice with regret the decrease in the number of girls' schools and of pupils attending them, attributed to the stricter working of the reward system. In Rajshahye, in spite of the fact that for the first time some girls were successful in the Lower Primary Scholarship examination, there was a discouraging decrease from 27 schools and 482 pupils to 20 schools and 330 pupils, and in Pubna the decrease was still greater. The attention of the Director of Public Instruction will be called to this portion of the Commissioner's report.

16. Communications, Road Cess Committees.—Rupees 3,63,000 were spent during the year by the District Road Cess Committees in original works and repairs. The Commissioner especially insists on the necessity of improving communications in the Dooars in order to encourage the taking up of waste lands.

The members of the Road Cess Committees in Rajshahye and Rungpore are said to have taken much interest in their work. Before the close of the year District Boards had been constituted in Rajshahye and Pubna.

17. The Commissioner's remarks on the conduct of officers will be noted in the Appointment Department.

18. The Lieutenant-Governor observes that this report is 73 pages long without appendices, against reports of 63 pages and 46 pages for the years 1885-86 and 1884-85. The Commissioner has too often quoted at length the opinions of his District Officers, instead of summarising the results of the year for the Division as a whole. Sir Stuart Bayley requests therefore that the Commissioner's future reports may be more concise.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

W. C. MACPHERSON,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE GENERAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE DACCA DIVISION FOR 1886-87.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

Calcutta, the 13th September 1887.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The General Administration Report of the Dacca Division for 1886-87.

MR. W. R. LARMINIE was Commissioner of this division throughout the year under review. The report is submitted by Mr. C. F. Worsley, who subsequently officiated as Commissioner.

2. Annual Tours.—The Commissioner set a good example to the officers of the division in spending 128 days on tour, visiting the head-quarters of each district twice or oftener, and all of the sub-divisions, except Jamalpore, once. The Collectors' tours were all of sufficient length, except in Dacca. Mr. Fasson was especially energetic in visiting all parts of the Backergunge district. In explanation of the deficiency of 11 days in the case of the Dacca district, it is said that the use of a steamer during the rainy season rendered it possible for the Collector to see more of the interior in less time than usual; but this is not a sufficient reason for curtailing the prescribed number of days. The Sub-divisional Officers, with one exception, spent 120 days or more in camp. The exception is in the case of Baboo Mahendra Chundra Mozumdar, Sub-divisional Officer of Kishoregunge, whose tour was in the preceding year also short by 35 days, and whose repeated shortcomings in this respect call for an expression of the Lieutenant-Governor's displeasure. It is impossible for a Sub-divisional Officer to be efficient in his work unless he moves about actively in his sub-division, and it is noticed that this officer's executive work has fallen under the censure of the Commissioner.

3. Weather and Crops.—The rainfall of the year was in excess of the average of the last four years, except in Backergunge, where the total for the year was deficient, although in the same district damage was done by excessive rain in the transplanting season. The rainy season was marked by very high floods, especially in Dacca, but notwithstanding these the agricultural results are said to have been generally good. The tables appended to the Report show, however, that the amun rice, which is the most important crop in the division, was a full crop only in the Furreedpore district, and below the average in the other three districts. Aus rice and jute also suffered from excessive flooding; but judging from the trade returns, the latter crop was abundant. The yield of winter crops, i.e., mustard, linseed and pulses, is said to have been good, but this is not generally borne out by the figures of outturn.

4. Material condition of the people and prices of food and labour.—No change in the material condition of the people is reported, the agricultural classes continuing to be well-to-do and prosperous, and the literate classes, including office-seekers, to struggle with straitened circumstances and limited prospects. The deterioration in the condition of landed proprietors, remarked by the Collector of Dacca, is, it is to be feared, the consequence of constant litigation and improvidence, and not of a depreciation in the value of landed property. That the year was a favourable one is shown by increased trade and by better collections of revenue under all heads. The price of common rice fell in every district, and wages of labour continued to maintain a high rate.

5. Public health.—The total number of deaths registered was 183,994 against 164,359 in 1885-86. The increase may to some extent be due to improved registration; but it is believed that the year was unhealthy except in Furreedpore. Cholera of a virulent type was generally prevalent but fever and small-pox were less fatal in every district except Backergunge. The practice of steeping jute indiscriminately in stagnant khals and bheels is noted as decidedly injurious to health, and steps should be taken to prevent the pollution of drinking-water by instituting prosecutions for nuisance.

6. Trade and Commerce.—The main lines of traffic with Calcutta and western districts continue unchanged. Trade is most brisk in the rainy season when boat communication is easy and cheap, but is greatly impeded at other times by the want of roads. In Dacca the jute and rice trade increased, and both the import and export trade flourished in Mymensingh; but the low price of rice, which diminished the purchasing power of the cultivators, had a depreciating effect on trade in Backergunge. The value of the trade of the Naraingunge port rose from 65½ lakhs of rupees in 1885-86 to 88½ lakhs in 1886-87. Far the most important trade staple of this division is jute, the export of which from Naraingunge were valued at 80½ lakhs of rupees, or 91 per cents. of the trade of the port.

7. Public feeling and Administrative arrangements.—The Lieutenant-Governor has again, in the case of this Division, to notice the universal and spontaneous display of feeling called forth on the occasion of Her Majesty's Jubilee. Much interest is reported to have been taken by the educated classes in the enquiries of the Public Service Commission, and some enthusiasm was displayed in the districts of Dacca and Furreedpore on the occasion of elections to the Local Boards under the Local Self-Government Act. The working of the Tenancy Act is noticed later in this review.

The following table shows the extent to which Muhammadans are employed in Government service in this Division—

* Do not include Rural Sub-Registrars and Registrars of Muhammadan marriages. The figures of other districts include them.

Sixty-four per cent. of the total male population are Muhammadans; but for every Muhammedan able to read and write three Hindus were returned at the last census. It will be seen therefore that in superior service the Muhammedans do not hold their own in this division, while in inferior service they do much more than hold their own. Some thing may be done to redress this balance by proper supervision on the part of heads of offices when vacancies are filled; but it lies with the Muhammedans themselves to make good their position by improvement in education.

8. Police and Crime.—The conduct of the regular police is, on the whole, favourably reported upon, but the standard of merit does not appear to be high, and the success of the force in bringing offenders to justice is not satisfactory. In every district of this division the town police are said to be overworked and underpaid. The improvement in the payment of chowkidars' wages throughout the division is very satisfactory, and to this is naturally in a large measure attributable the good service reported to have been done by their agency. The returns, as compared with those for 1886, show an increase in both cognizable and non-cognizable crime; but the figures are below the average of recent years. The results of the prosecution of false cases were slightly better than formerly. The extraordinary want of uniformity shown in the extent to which, in the different districts of the division, the power of refusing enquiry is exercised by the police is unsatisfactory, and suggests the conclusion that section 157 of the Criminal Procedure Code is nowhere duly appreciated or judiciously utilised.

9. Civil Justice.—The fluctuations in the number of civil suits were slight, and all that need be observed is that the Tenancy Act has not conduced to an increase of litigation.

10. Land Revenue, &c.—The current demand of land revenue rose from Rs. 33,67,739 to Rs. 33,83,507, and there was a general improvement in collections. In spite of a heavy arrear balance, the collections in Backergunge for the first time within the last ten years reached the normal standard of 90 per cent., a result which is most creditable to Mr. Fasson. The balances at the close of the year show a decrease in every district, and the number of certificates filed fell from 14,096 to 13,662. There was an increase in revenue both from Stamps and Excise, and, with regard to the latter, it is satisfactory to note that it was accompanied by a general decrease in the number of shops and licenses. The collections under the present Income-tax Act more than doubled those under the Act of 1872, and showed an increase of 63·1 per cent. over those under the License-tax Act in 1885-86.

11. Relations between Landlord and Tenant.—In the Dacca and Furreedpore districts relations between landlord and tenant are reported to have been more satisfactory than in the preceding years; but in Backergunge, and still more in Mymensingh, there appears to be considerable tension. The reports of the District Officers under this head are chiefly taken up with accounts of the introduction of the form of rent receipt prescribed by the Tenancy Act. The difficulties attending the introduction of the form are briefly put by Mr. Glazier, Collector of Mymensingh, as follows:—

“Rent receipts are making their way but slowly. A large number have been used, but their use is by no means universal. In many cases the zemindars do not care to use them, as they do not see their way to incorporate with the rent the illegal cesses they have been accustomed to levy. In other cases the ryots object to them, as they do not agree to the amount of annual rent the zemindar wishes to enter in the receipt.”

On the whole matters appear to be settling down with the more general recognition on the part of the landlords that accurate records will check litigation and with the growing appreciation by the ryots of the benefit of a definite acquittance. The management of the Dakhin Shabazpore estate in Backergunge was taken over by the Court of Wards on the application of the joint-proprietors under the provisions of sections 93 to 95 of the Tenancy Act, and the result of the experiment will be awaited with interest. On the general working of the Tenancy Act in this division, Mr. Larminie made the following remarks in his Land Revenue Report:—

“So far I think there is no reason to be dissatisfied with the working of the new Rent Law. Its provisions are of course being only gradually understood, and it would be very rash as yet to predict that the present calm will continue. I see no reason, however, to anticipate any serious disturbances. From what I have been able to gather, a certain sense of security has grown up amongst the ryots, and landlords generally have become conscious that it is useless to try and either evade or act in opposition to the law.

12. Monetary arrangements—There was a large decrease, which is not fully accounted for, in both the receipts and the issue of currency notes everywhere except in Mymensingh. Money-order transactions and savings bank deposits increased in a very satisfactory manner.

13. Railways and communications.—The passenger traffic on the Dacca State Railway was most encouraging, but the high rate of freight seems to have interfered with the success of the goods traffic. It is unfortunate that there is not more successful enterprise in the matter of internal steamer communication in this division. Existing roads were maintained in an efficient state, except in the district of Furreedpore, and more original works were executed than in the preceding year. Considerable damages caused by floods had to be made good in the Dacca district. The schemes for the opening up of khals in the Backergunge district appear to be particularly useful.

14. Education.—The returns of the Education Department show a continued loss of lower primary schools and pupils in all the districts of this division, except Dacca, with the result that the aggregate numbers of schools of all kinds and pupils at the end of the year were 9,248 and 213,096 respectively as against 11,248 and 245,735 at the end of the preceding year. The Circle Inspector writes that the schools which have disappeared from departmental cognizance were for the most part of inferior quality; but it is also said that in Furreedpore the prosecution of some gurus for submitting false returns alarmed others and prevented them from furnishing any returns. The loss of schools, including girls' schools, was proportionately largest in Furreedpore, and it is observed that the Deputy Inspector in that district is charged with want of interest in his work. In Dacca only was there improvement in female education in the year, and the good result here is perhaps due to greater efficiency. The number of upper primary schools and secondary schools increased, and the results of the Entrance Examination were remarkably good.

15. Working of Committees and conduct of zemindars.—District and Municipal Committees appear on the whole to have worked very well in this division, but the Lieutenant-Governor regrets to hear of irregularity on the attendance of Honorary Magistrates in Dacca. An efficient Bench of Honorary Magistrates reflects credit on the Magistrate of the district, and on Sub-divisional Magistrates, and no effort should be spared to obtain the zealous co-operation of non-official gentlemen in the administration of justice.

16. The Commissioner finishes his report with a long list of generous donations, many of which are intended to commemorate the Jubilee of the Queen-Empress, made by the zemindars of this division, who are not second in public spirit and liberality to the zemindars of any other part of these Provinces.

17. The Commissioner's remarks on the character of his subordinates will be communicated to the Appointment Department.

Letter from the Director of Public Instruction, No. 400a, dated 21st June 1887.

In paragraph 29 of the Home Department Resolution No. 10—309, dated the 23rd October 1884, the Government of India approved the recommendation of the Education Commission that conferences (1) of officers of the Education Department, and (2) of such officers with managers of aided and unaided schools should be held from time to time for the discussion of questions affecting education, the Director of Public Instruction being in each case ex-officio President of the Conference. In accordance with this recommendation, a conference of Inspectors of Schools in the Lower Provinces was held in 1884, and interprovincial conferences have been held of Inspectors of European schools in the Bengal Presidency. Two educational conferences have also been held at Calcutta in 1886 and 1887 at which teachers and managers of European schools attended for the purpose of discussing the provisions of the Code for European schools. A more general conference was proposed by the Director of Public Instruction in his report for the year 1883-84 for consideration of the rules for grant-in-aid to colleges and native schools, with special reference to the standards and other requirements of female education. This proposal was approved by the Lieutenant-Governor, but arrangements were postponed during Sir Alfred Croft's absence on furlough. In August of last year it was determined that a conference, which should be as representative as possible, should be held in Calcutta in the cold weather of 1886-87, and a report of the proceedings of this Conference, which was duly held, has been submitted to Government.

2. In the deliberations of the Conference, which met altogether sixteen times, commencing from the 14th February 1887 to 30th April, the ladies and gentlemen below named took part :—

1. The Revd. K. S. Macdonald, M.A. ; } Representatives of the Calcutta Missionary
2. Mr. W. C. Madge, } Conference.
3. „ Abdur Rahman, Barri-ter-at-Law, representative of the Muhammadan Literary Society.
4. „ Ameer Ali, Barri-ter-at-Law, representative of the National Muhammadan Association.
5. Baboo Bijoy Kishen Mukherjee, President of the Uttarpara Hitakari Sabha.
6. „ Surja Kumar Adhikari, B.A., Principal, Metropolitan Institution.
7. „ Unes Chandra Dutt, B.A., Principal, City College.
8. „ Krishna Benari Sen, M.A., Principal, Albert College.
9. Dr. Guru Das Banerjee, Member of the Bethune School Committee.
10. Miss A. M. Hoare, Superintendent of the S. P. G. Zenana Mission.
11. „ Hook, Superintendent of the American Zenana Mission.
12. Mrs. Clifford, of the Church of England Zenana Mission.
13. „ Macdonald, of the Free Church Zenana Mission.
14. „ M. Wheeler, Inspector of Schools.
15. Rai Radhika Prasanna Mukherjee, Barradar, Inspector of Schools, Presidency Circle.

The Director of Public Instruction was ex-officio President of the Conference, and the Inspector of Schools, Presidency Circle, acted as Secretary.

The subjects discussed by the Conference were—(1) The grant-in-aid Rules. (2) The course and standards of female education and the means of encouraging and extending it. (3) The revision of the regulations governing the transfer of pupils from one school to another.

3. The grant-in-aid Rules.—The principal changes recommended by the Conference refer to rules 6, 11, 14, 15, 16, 19, 20, 21, and to the rules regarding special and building grants. The reasons for the changes and additions made are thus stated in paragraphs 4 and 5 of the Director of Public Instruction's report No. 4005, dated 21st June 1887.

"Rule 6 has been considerably simplified, and brought into harmony with the requirements of classes needing special encouragement, as recommended by the Education Commission. Provision has also been made for a certain proportion of free scholars in aided schools, in accordance with recommendation 5, chapter VII, and recommendation 22, chapter VIII of the report of the Education Commission.

In Rule 9 (i) the distance of four miles has been substituted for six miles in accordance with the unanimous recommendation of the Circle Inspectors. The shorter distance has been for years past practically accepted by the officers dealing with applications for grants-in-aid.

In Rule 11—Municipal contributions are treated as receipts from public sources, in accordance with the views expressed in the report of the Education Commission, chapter XII, paragraph 668, and its appendix, page xxxvi. Similarly, in the report of the Sub-Committee of the Education Commission appointed in 1882 to revise the annual statistical returns of the Education Department, it is explained (paragraph 11) that "schools, whether aided from provincial, from local, or from municipal funds, are classed together as aided schools," in general table III, now in use throughout India. The effect of the proposed change of rule will be to render schools situated within municipal limits more dependent than before on municipal contributions.

Rule 14—Has been altered with a view to encourage independent effort in the direction of higher education. Paragraph 478 of the report of the Education Commission (page 420), pointed out that, although a proportion of 25 per cent. of the total expenditure was sufficient for Calcutta, it was not large enough for the country districts of Bengal, where no aided college had yet been established by private enterprise; and that it was therefore necessary to raise the proportion to 33 per cent. This recommendation has now been adopted.

Rules 15 and 16.—The difference of advancement between district and district, which has all along been recognised for middle schools, is now extended to high schools, in accordance with the recommendations of the Circle Inspectors. In rule 16, the limit up to which the higher rate of aid to middle schools may be given has been raised from Rs. 30 to Rs. 40, as it is now recognised that middle schools maintained at a cost of from Rs. 30 to Rs. 40 a month are just those that need most encouragement.

Rule 20.—The conference raised strong objections to the rule that "a grant should ordinarily be reduced on renewal." It has been reproduced (in new rule 19) in a less stringent form, and in closer accordance with the principles declared in paragraphs 507-509 of chapter VIII of the Education Commission's Report.

Proposed rule 20 merely confirms the existing practice. The object of the stamped agreement is to fix the responsibility of the managers in a formal way.

Rule 21 (1) (b).—Charges for servants and contingencies are omitted, except in the case of girls' schools. Many schools are apt to raise these charges above what is necessary, in order to claim a larger grant. If not recognised in the grant, the expenditure on this account will be kept at the lowest possible point.

Rule 21 (3).—There is greater simplicity in submitting the accounts for the month for which the grant is claimed, and not for the previous month. This change renders it necessary also to substitute the word "due" for "paid" in the form of certificate annexed to the account.

Rule 21 (7a).—It is the duty of the Department not only to see that competent teachers are appointed, but to protect them against the chance of wrongful dismissal.

Rule 21 (10 and 11).—Are introduced as being an improvement on the existing rules.

Rule 21 (15-18).—These are new provisions to meet cases that arise from time to time. The object is to enable the Department to exercise more complete control over the accounts of schools, and to secure the construction of school buildings in accordance with sanitary principles.

Rules 22-29.—Provide for special grants for buildings and furniture, and have been adopted bodily from the corresponding sections in the Code for European schools. In rule 24 the proportion of the maximum Government contribution has been defined in the case of each class of schools.

Rule 30.—This is a new rule, intended for the assistance of schools that desire only a temporary advance from the public funds in lieu of a grant.

5. It only remains for me to add that the forms have been altered to suit the rules, and that in Form A a statement of the proposed fee-rates is in future to be entered."

The amendments in the rules are approved by the Lieutenant-Governor, with the exception of the change recommended in the second sentence of rule 20 (new rule 19). The proposed change in this rule shown in the margin* would abolish an important principle of the grant-in-aid system—the gradual transfer of Government aid from established to new and struggling institutions. It is only by enforcing this principle that funds can be secured, without imposing additional burdens on the tax-payer, for the development of education in parts of the country still in a backward state among classes who have not as yet taken full advantage of the benefits offered, and in directions which have hitherto been to some extent overlooked. The proviso suggested in the words "if this can be done without loss of efficiency," implies that grants made for a term are to be treated in fact as perpetual, except in the rare case where the withdrawal of the grant would not lead to some diminution in the facilities afforded for instruction. Such a rule would, however, altogether cripple the action of Government in promoting the general cause of education. It implies that Government must for ever renew all grants in full, unless precisely the same efficiency can be obtained with the diminished income as with the greater, and that though there may be no funds available, or though such funds as can be used might produce more good if devoted to some other purpose. The Lieutenant-Governor cannot therefore approve this amendment, but he accepts an amendment of the rule

* Existing rule.—A grant should ordinarily be reduced on renewal.

A grant should ordinarily be reduced on renewal, when this can be done without serious loss of efficiency.

shewn on the margin, which has been proposed by Sir Alfred Croft. The addition of the sentence requiring that notice be given to managers of schools in all cases of reduction of grants is in accordance with the recommendation made by the Education Commission in paragraph 509 of their report, and is accepted.

The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Director of Public Instruction in thinking that it will be necessary to revise, in the sense of the grant-in-aid rules now sanctioned, the rules relating to grant-in-aid, in Part VI (Education) of the rules framed under the Local Self-Government Act, for all schools, the grants to which are sanctioned by District Boards. The Director is requested to submit draft revised rules for the approval of Government.

4. The course and standards of female education, and the means of encouraging and extending it.—The improved vernacular standards of examination adopted by the Conference for girls' schools and zenanas are approved by the Lieutenant-Governor. In view, however, of the present urgent necessity for keeping down all expenditure which is not absolutely necessary, the proposal to provide an additional Inspectress of Schools, and to create special scholarships for girls, cannot be sanctioned. The proposal that rewards should be given to female teachers on passing by standards IV, VI or VII to the amount of Rs. 10, Rs. 20, and Rs. 30, respectively, will not involve much cost and may be sanctioned.

5. The revision of the regulations governing the transfer of pupils from one school or college to another ("inter-school rules") with a view to their application to the educational institutions of Calcutta.—The "inter-school rules" or "transfer rules" for colleges and high schools, as revised at the Conference, are sanctioned provisionally for one year; they will be again subject to revision in the light of experience at the end of that time. The Lieutenant-Governor accepts the Director's recommendation that the revised rules should be at once applied to Calcutta only, and that Circle Inspectors and other local authorities should be consulted as to the expediency of substituting these rules throughout Bengal for those now in force.

6. Sir Stuart Bayley desires that his thanks may be conveyed to the President and to the ladies and gentlemen who took part in the deliberations of the Conference.

ORDERED—That this Resolution and the revised rules and forms approved in paragraphs 3 and 5 above, and also the statement of vernacular standards of examination for girls' schools and zenanas, be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and that copies be sent to the leading newspapers. The Bengali Hindi, and Uriya Translators will be requested to translate the revised grant-in-aid rules into Bengali, Hindi, and Uriya, and to publish them in the vernacular Gazettes; also to furnish the Director of Public Instruction with as many copies of the translations of the rules as may be required for distribution. The Bengali Translator will also be requested to translate into Bengali the vernacular standards of examination for girls' schools and zenanas, and to publish the same in the Bengali Gazette; also to furnish the Director of Public Instruction with as many copies of the vernacular translation of the standards as may be required for distribution.

The Superintendent of Government Printing, Bengal, will be asked to supply the Director of Public Instruction with as many English copies (1) of the revised grant-in-aid rules and forms, (2) of the vernacular standards of examinations for girls' schools and zenanas, and (3) of the transfer rules of high schools and colleges as may be required for distribution.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

W. C. MACPHERSON,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RULES FOR GRANTS-IN-AID TO COLLEGES AND SCHOOLS IN BENGAL, 1887.

1. A grant from Provincial revenues is assigned by Government annually for the province, to be expended in grants-in-aid to schools not under Government management provided they fulfil the conditions prescribed in the following rules.

2. The grant is distributed by the Director of Public Instruction, on the recommendation of the Circle Inspector, to schools which are certified to be eligible under these rules, reference being had to the requirements of each locality, as compared with others, and to the funds disposable.

3. Any school to which aid is given, together with all its accounts, books, and other records, shall at all times be open to inspection and examination by any officer appointed by the Government for the purpose; and to this end the records and accounts shall be placed in such custody that they shall be always accessible on the visit of any inspecting officer. Such inspection and examination shall have no reference to religious instruction, but only to secular education.

4. Inspecting officers will interfere as little as possible with the local management of schools, but are employed to see that the instruction is efficient, and that the conditions on which the grants were made are fulfilled; and aid will be withdrawn from any school in which such conditions are not fulfilled.

5. Grants are given on the principle of strict religious neutrality, and no preference will be shown to any school on the ground that any particular religious doctrines are taught or not taught therein.

6. Grants-in-aid will be made to such colleges and schools only (with the exception of training schools, girls' schools, night schools for adults, and schools for aborigines and low castes) as require some fee, however small, from all their scholars. Exemption from this rule may be allowed in exceptional cases by the Director of Public Instruction.

7. The promoters or managers of any institution by whom application for a grant is made must appoint a Secretary to conduct their correspondence with the Department, and they must record the names of the managers.

8. The managers are responsible for the due expenditure of the school funds in accordance with the conditions of the grant.

9. In respect of any school for which application is made, full information must be supplied on the following points, and must be thrown into the shape given in form A appended to these rules—

- (a) The pecuniary resources, permanent and temporary, on which the school will depend for support.
- (b) The proposed monthly expenditure in detail.
- (c) The average number of pupils to be instructed.
- (d) The persons who will form the Committee of Management.
- (e) The class of school and course of instruction.
- (f) The number and salaries of the teachers.
- (g) The fees to be charged in each class.
- (h) The amount of aid sought.
- (i) The treasury at which the grant, if sanctioned, is to be payable.
- (j) The existence of other schools of all classes within a distance of four miles.

10. An application for a grant is made either directly to the Circle Inspector, or to the District Deputy Inspector, who forwards it with his remarks to the Inspector. The Inspector, after taking the opinion of the Magistrate upon his proposals, forwards the application to the Director for sanction. If the Magistrate and the Inspector differ, the decision rests with the Director.

11. Grants shall in no case exceed in amount the sums to be expended from private sources, except in special cases, under special orders of Government. Municipal contributions will be reckoned for this purpose as receipts from public sources.

12. Aided places of instruction are divided into the following classes:—

Colleges—In which students who have passed the University Entrance Examination are educated in the University Course or any part of it.

High Schools—In which students are educated up to the standard of the Entrance Examination.

Middle Schools—In which the scholars are educated up to the middle English or middle vernacular scholarship standard.

Primary Schools—In which the scholars are educated up to the upper or lower primary scholarship standard.

Girls' Schools—Including agencies for senana instruction.

Training Schools—For the training of masters and mistresses.

Special Schools—For instruction in special subjects.

Grants are also given in certain cases in aid of boarding establishments.

13. Grants are of two kinds—annual grants and special grants.

ANNUAL GRANTS.

14. For colleges the grants shall not exceed one-half of the income guaranteed from private sources, and in Calcutta they shall not exceed one-third of such income.

15. For high schools the grants shall not exceed one-half of the income guaranteed from private sources, except in the districts of—

Beerbhoom,	Chittagong,
Dinagapore,	Tipperah,
Rungpore,	Noakhally,
Bogra,	The Patna Division,
Darjeeling,	„ Bhagulpore „
Julpigoree,	„ Orissa „
Mymensingh,	„ Chota Nagpore „
The island of Dhukin Shahbazpur in Backergunge, in which the grants may equal two-thirds of the income so guaranteed.

16. For middle schools, in which the expenditure is more than Rs. 40 a month, the grants shall not exceed two-thirds of the income guaranteed from private sources, except in the districts mentioned in the last rule, in which the grants may equal the income so guaranteed.

17. For primary schools, as well as for girls' schools, training schools, and special schools the grant shall not exceed a sum equal to the full amount of the income guaranteed.

18. The amounts above laid down are maximum amounts, and it must be understood that the maximum grant will not in all cases, and as a matter of course, be sanctioned.

19. Grants will be sanctioned ordinarily for a term of three years; but the Inspector may at any time during its currency recommend the revision of any grant. A grant should ordinarily be reduced on renewal, when this can be done without serious loss of efficiency. In this way money will from time to time be set free, and the Department will be able to aid new schools even though the grant-in-aid allotment remains stationary. Notice of any proposed reduction shall in all cases be given to the managers, who shall be allowed an opportunity of stating any objection that they may have to the reduction.

20. When a grant is sanctioned, the managers shall sign an agreement on stamped paper to the effect that they will conduct the school in accordance with the conditions of the grant.

21. The sanction of a grant is conveyed in the following form* :—

Office Memorandum of the Director of Public Instruction.

(1) A grant of Rs. _____ a month is sanctioned from the _____ 13 for the _____ school at _____ in zillah _____, on the following conditions :—

(a)—That Rs. _____ a month at least be regularly contributed from private sources.

(b)—That the following scale of expenditure be maintained, subject to any alteration that may be sanctioned by the Inspector.

Rs. A. P.

Head Master

(2) The grant is payable every month.

(3) The monthly bill (in form B annexed) must be sent to the Inspector for countersignature, and must be accompanied by a certificate (in form C) that all salaries for previous months have been paid in full.

(4) The monthly bill and the certificate must be signed by the Secretary of the school.

(5) The bill is countersigned on the distinct understanding that the salaries and other charges certified by the Secretary to have been paid have actually been paid.

* In the case of colleges the form is modified.

- (6) Salaries for service in any month become due on the first day of the following month.
- (7) The appointment and dismissal of every teacher shall be notified to the department. No appointment shall be confirmed until it has received the sanction of the department; and the department shall have power to inquire into any case of the dismissal of a teacher.
- (8) The grant is liable to be reduced or withdrawn if the payment of any teacher's salary is delayed for more than two months after it has become due.
- (9) The grant is liable to be reduced or withdrawn if the school is unfavourably reported on as regards the attendance or proficiency of the scholars.
- (10) The grant is liable to be reduced or withdrawn if the managers keep their accounts in a negligent and untrustworthy manner, or if they send up incorrect accounts, or if they fail to transmit punctually the periodical returns required by the department, or if the school-house is unfit for the purposes of the school, or is untidy or dirty, or if the department is otherwise dissatisfied with the management of the school.
- (11) The grant is liable to be reduced or withdrawn if the teachers are inefficient, or if they are absent from duty otherwise than in accordance with the rules of the department, or if they keep the school registers in a negligent or untrustworthy manner.
- (12) Holidays are not to exceed 60 days in the year, exclusive of Sundays, except under peculiar circumstances and with the sanction of the Inspector.
- (13) Every new election to the Committee of Management must be notified to the Inspector under the signatures of the Secretary and of the member or members elected.
- (14) Every change of Secretary must be notified to the Inspector under the signatures of the new Secretary and the Members of the Committee of Management.
- (15) All receipts from whatever sources or for whatever purposes collected must be entered in the account book of the school, which shall be open to inspection and examination by any officer appointed by Government for that purpose.
- (16) No part of the previous balance of a school shall be spent without the sanction of the Inspector, except for payment of the sanctioned establishment, in order to make up any deficit in the private contributions in any particular month.
- (17) No new building shall be constructed for the school until the plan and estimates have been approved by the Inspector.
- (18) Government may claim a fair share of any balance at the credit of a school at the time of its abolition, as well as of the sale proceeds of any school-house or furniture towards the erection or purchase of which a grant may have been made by Government.

SPECIAL GRANTS.

22. Grants may be given to managers of schools in aid—

- (a) Of erecting, enlarging or furnishing school buildings.
- (b) Of executing extensive repairs.
- (c) In special cases, of paying off debts incurred in erecting or enlarging school buildings.

NOTE.—Expenditure in the purchase of buildings may be treated as expenditure in the erection of buildings.

23. Except in the case provided in the foregoing rule, no grant shall be made in consideration of former expenditure on school buildings.

24. In general, the proportion of the Government contribution made under rule 22 shall not exceed the proportion laid down in rules 14 to 17 for schools of the same classes.

25. Before a building grant is sanctioned, the site, plans, estimates, specifications, title and trust deed must be approved by the Director of Public Instruction. If the school receives no monthly grant the managers must also satisfy the department that it is likely to be maintained in efficiency, and that it will be open to inspection.

26. The trust deed must declare the building to be granted in trust for school purposes only. It must also provide for the legal ownership of the premises, for the proper maintenance of the building, and for the inspection and management of the school.

NOTE.—This rule does not preclude the managers from using the building for other purposes when not required for the purposes of the school.

27. No grant is finally sanctioned until a certificate is received from the managers, setting forth that the funds in their hands will, when added to the grant, be sufficient to meet all claims and to close the account.

28. Advances may be made from time to time out of the sanctioned grant on receipt of a report from the Public Works Department that the work is proceeding satisfactorily.

29. The grant is not paid in full until—

- (1). A report is received from the Public Works Department or other sufficient authority that the building is satisfactorily completed.
- (2). The trust deed is duly registered, and a copy lodged with the Department.

30. Loans may also be made to managers of schools for the erection of school buildings. The amount of such loan shall generally be limited to the amount of any grant claimable under rule 24. TRANSFER RULES—COLLEGES.

I.—A STUDENT applying for admission to a college affiliated to the University in Arts, or Law, shall be required to produce a certificate from the Principal of the college in which he was last reading. But if he applies, at the beginning of a session, for admission to the first year or to the third year class, the certificate of having passed the last Entrance or First Arts Examination respectively shall be accepted in lieu of such certificate. A student who has failed at the First Arts or the B. A. examination may be admitted in the following session to the second or fourth year class of the college, on production of the Registrar's receipt.

II.—The certificate shall run as follows:—

_____ is permitted to remove his name from the college register. He has been a student in the _____ class from _____ to _____ 18 ; during that period the roll of the class was called _____ times, and _____ was present on _____ of these occasions. His character and conduct have been _____ College fee paid for _____

III.—The certificate is to be given without any avoidable delay. The only grounds on which it can be refused are (1) gross misconduct, (2) failure to pay the sums due to the college, including college fees and fines and transfer fee (if any). If a certificate is refused, the cause of refusal shall be notified in writing to the applicant.

IV.—Fees are annual charges, though for the convenience of students they are levied monthly. They are therefore payable for the vacation months equally with others. If a student applies for transfer in or after the month of January, he shall be liable to pay fees in that college up to the close of the session. The transfer fee shall in no case exceed the ordinary admission fee.

V.—All questions arising between one Principal and another respecting the enforcement of these rules shall be referred as soon as possible to the Director of Public Instruction.

VI.—If a student be found producing a false certificate, or making a false statement as to his attendance at any college, he shall be liable to expulsion, and shall be reported to the Director of Public Instruction.

VII.—Wilful transgression of any of the foregoing rules will render a college liable to forfeit the right of sending up candidates for Government scholarships, and to be reported to the University.

TRANSFER RULES—HIGH SCHOOLS.

I.—A boy, before he is admitted to a high school, shall be required to state in what school he has last been reading, and to produce a certificate from the head-master of that school. He should also be required to bring with him a letter of application from his parent or guardian. If he has failed at the previous Entrance examination, and applies for admission at the commencement of the following session, the Registrar's receipt shall be accepted in lieu of a certificate.

II.—The certificate shall run as follows:—

"Certified that—was in the—class of the—school, and leaves with a—character. All sums due by him to this school have been paid. He has (or has not) passed the annual examination for promotion to the—class."

III.—The certificate is to be given without any avoidable delay. The only grounds on which it can be refused are (1) gross misconduct, (2) failure to pay the sums due to the school, including schooling fees and fines and transfer fee (if any). If a certificate is refused, the cause of refusal shall be notified in writing to the applicant.

IV.—Fees are payable for the vacation months equally with others. If a boy applies for transfer in or after the month of February, he shall be liable to pay fees in that school up to the close of the session. No transfer fee shall be charged to any pupil leaving a school at the close of a session, nor shall it in any case exceed the ordinary admission fee.

V.—A boy coming for admission shall not be placed in a class higher than that in which he was in the school he has left, or if he has passed the annual examination for promotion in that school, in the next higher class. This rule shall apply to admissions to the first and second classes only. Thus, a boy failing at the annual examination of the third class of one school cannot be admitted to the second class of another.

VI.—The fact of a boy appearing for admission without having undergone the annual examination of his old school must be regarded, unless the reverse is certified to by his former head-master, as sufficient evidence of his not having been fit for promotion; he should therefore be admitted into the class in which he was reading in the other school.

VII.—After admission under the foregoing rules, no boy shall be promoted to a higher class before the next annual examination of the school.

VIII.—All questions arising between one head-master and another respecting the enforcement of these rules shall be referred as soon as possible to the Inspector of Schools (or in Calcutta, to the Director of Public Instruction).

IX.—If a boy be found producing a false certificate, or making a false statement as to his attendance at any school, he shall be liable to expulsion, and shall be reported to the Department.

X.—Wilful transgression of any of the foregoing rules will render a school liable to forfeit the right of sending up candidates for junior scholarships, and to be reported to the University.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h. and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVA- TIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, DURING THE MONTH OF AUGUST 1887.

THE normal meteorological conditions in Bengal during August resemble those of July to a very great extent, and the month is therefore nearly as important as July from a meteorological point of view. The south-west monsoon winds continue to blow over the province with almost undiminished force during the greater part of August, though towards the end of the month, or commencement of September, wind velocities begin to fall off. The normal rainfall in August is distinctly, though slightly, smaller than in July, and this would tend to show that the monsoon current even in August commences to weaken. The greater part of the rainfall in Bengal in August is undoubtedly brought up by the Bay of Bengal current, but a considerable part of the rainfall at the western stations of the province is also due to the Bombay branch of the current, which, interacting in these districts with the Bengal branch, causes ascensional air motion, and consequently increased precipitation of rain. The Bay of Bengal branch alone gives the heaviest rainfall to the southern, eastern, and northern districts, but the interaction just mentioned increases the rainfall in the western districts, and thus supplements the action of the Bengal current, and tends to produce greater uniformity of rainfall over the whole province.

The actual amount of rainfall in August will no doubt depend mainly on the strength and volume of the Bay of Bengal monsoon current, the heaviest rainfalls usually occurring in the eastern and northern districts, and the amount slowly diminishing towards the western districts; but the actual distribution will be affected by the causes which have been discussed in the previous monthly summaries. One of the causes which will produce marked variations from the normal distribution of rainfall will be the formation and passage of areas of barometric depression or small cyclonic storms, which bring large amounts of rain to the districts through which they pass. The formation of such storms is a prominent characteristic of many rainy seasons, though they are to a certain extent absent in others: and as the line of country through which they pass varies very considerably, they are prominent causes in modifying the distribution of rain in particular years. A second cause which modifies the normal distribution of the rainfall is the varying strengths of the two currents, and the amount and position of their interaction, and it will be seen that, if from any cause a larger amount of interaction than usual takes place over the western districts of the province, the rainfall will be increased by a corresponding amount.

The normal distribution of rainfall during the month is comparatively simple. The two localities in which rainfall is heaviest, and where the amount exceeds 20 inches, include, first, the Chittagong, Noakholly, and Backergunge districts; and second, the Julpigoree, Cooch Behar, and Darjeeling districts. The area which receives a rainfall of between 20 and 15 inches starts from Saugor Island and runs nearly parallel to the sea coast, then turns to the north, runs parallel to the Tipperah and Sylhet hills, and through the centre of the Rungpore district to Kissengunge in the Purneah district. The greater part of Chutia Nagpur, and of South-West, Central, East and North Bengal receives a rainfall of from 12 to 15 inches, while the greater part of Behar receives only from 10 to 12 inches. The central districts of Behar receive the smallest amounts of rain, the average being generally rather less than 10 inches.

Meteorology of the month.—During the last week of July a small cyclonic storm which had formed at the head of the Bay had advanced inland through South-West Bengal and had filled up and disappeared near Satna on the 28th of July. In the rear of the storm a very strong current set in from the Bay of Bengal, and at the commencement of August conditions were decidedly favourable for general rainfall in Bengal. The strength of the monsoon current blowing over Bengal at the commencement of August may be shown by the fact that from the 1st to the 2nd the average wind velocity at Saugor Island was no less than 30 miles an hour. This velocity, however, was exceptionally high, and it speedily became smaller; but for the first ten or twelve days of the month a fairly strong monsoon current continued to blow over the province, and the only feature of change or of interest was the alternate increase and falling off in the strength of the two branches of the monsoon current—for some days the current from the Bay of Bengal holding entire possession of the province, when it would be then partially driven back by the westerly current from the Arabian sea, only to be again re-established a few days subsequently. About the 12th of August, however, it became evident that both branches of the monsoon current were becoming decidedly weaker as rain-bearing currents, and on this day the area of rainfall rapidly contracted, and the greater part of the province received little or no rain. A partial break in the rains then set in, which lasted only three or four days in some districts, and about a week in others, and during this period a feeble cyclonic storm was formed in the north of the Bay, which only crossed the west coast to the south of Gopalpur on the 19th. This storm naturally formed a prominent feature in the meteorology of this part of the month, and during its formation and advance towards the west coast the monsoon winds were mainly deflected towards it, and rain to a great extent ceased in Bengal, and it was only after the feeble storm had advanced inland that it again became possible for the monsoon winds to blow over Bengal. Rain therefore became pretty general in Orissa, South-West Bengal, and East Bengal on the 19th and 20th, but the general rainfall only reached North Bengal and the greater part of Behar and Chutia Nagpur on the 21st and 22nd. The monsoon current blowing over Bengal was, however, not very strong, and as usual the two branches of the current alternately strengthened and weakened, giving rise to a certain amount of interaction between them for some days, till on the 26th a distinct cyclonic circulation of winds set up over South-East Bengal, and this was accompanied by the formation of an exceedingly feeble area of low pressure. On the 27th the very feeble depression had moved in a westerly direction and was in South-West Bengal, and was moving into Chutia Nagpur; it was still accompanied by a feeble circulation of winds and by rather heavy rain, and amounts exceeding two inches were received at a considerable number of stations in South Bengal and in Chutia Nagpur, while rather heavy rain also set in over the northern districts on the same day. On the 28th the depression had disappeared in a westerly direction, and a moderate south-easterly and southerly current from the Bay of Bengal set in over the whole province, but the rainfall was confined to a few light showers up till the 30th, when, though the general conditions had scarcely altered, heavy and rather general rain commenced in the northern districts of the province, and on this day Protabgunge, in the North Bhagulpur district, received 7·35 inches, and Buxa 4·21 inches, and over the southern districts moderate showers were rather numerous. This heavy rain in the north of Bengal on the 30th set up a slight cyclonic circulation of winds, which was distinctly noticeable on the 31st, and pressure also became slightly low over the central and northern parts of the province, and with these favourable conditions for rainfall, particularly heavy rain was received over a considerable part of North Bengal. On this day Julpigoree reported the excessive fall of 11·47 inches, Mickligunge one of 7·75 inches, Fallacotta 7·51 inches, Protabgunge 5·11 inches and Kaliagunge 4 inches; while moderately heavy showers became pretty numerous over the whole province. At the close of the month therefore conditions were again rather favourable for rainfall over the whole of Bengal.

Barometric depressions of the month.—It will be seen from the foregoing summary that only one barometric depression of any importance was formed, while the second, which lasted only on the 26th and 27th, was exceedingly feeble. The second was formed in South-East Bengal, and moved in a westerly direction through South-West Bengal and Chutia Nagpur, and it had practically disappeared from the province on the 28th. The first was decidedly more important, as it produced a distinct break in the rains in Bengal. Its history may be briefly described as follows:—

Barometric depression of the 14th to the 20th of August.—On the 13th the conditions over Bengal and the sea area to the south of it were those of an ordinary very light monsoon, except that pressure was decidedly low along the coast of Madras from Gopalpore to Masulipatam. Winds also were rather more strongly easterly along the west coast than is usual. Conditions remained almost unchanged for the following two days at the stations in the northern half of the Bay and in Bengal, but the strength of the monsoon blowing in the south of the Bay began to increase very considerably. On the 16th winds became north-easterly at many stations in Bengal, and also along the Orissa coast and at Akyab, while to the south winds were westerly. It was therefore clearly evident on this day that a distinct depression had formed in the centre of the Bay. On the 17th the centre of the feeble storm was off the South Orissa coast, but it had not strengthened to any material extent, though there was a distinct cyclonic circulation of winds accompanying it. On the 18th it had approached rather nearer the land, but it still remained a feeble storm, and on the morning of the 19th it was crossing the South Orissa coast a little to the south of Gopalpore, and the centre of the storm on this day was a little distance inland. The storm afterwards drifted into the Central Provinces, where, after a day or two, it filled up. It was a remarkably persistent storm, though the barometric depression at its centre was feeble, and though the winds in connection with it were comparatively light; but at sea it gave rise to somewhat squally weather and rough sea.

Strength of the monsoon current during August.—The only actual measure of the strength of the monsoon current is obtained by recording the wind velocity. This record is manifestly important though imperfect, for it only deals with one of two important factors, for the monsoon current may not only vary in velocity, but also in depth or volume, and probably of the two, the latter will be the more important factor in influencing the rainfall. The estimation of the second of these factors is impossible, and thus the actual strength of the monsoon current blowing can only be judged by the measurement of the wind velocity. At the end of August the strength of the monsoon undoubtedly begins to diminish, but, on the other hand, if the wind velocities measured during August are equal to or above the normal, there is a reasonable probability that the strength of the monsoon (i.e., both velocity and depth) is fully equal to the normal, and that the monsoon will continue to blow, and to give rain for the normal period. In the following table the actual and normal wind velocities are given at the typical coast stations at the head of the Bay, and also at five or six of the most important inland stations of the province. The average of the whole of the eleven stations shows that the actual daily wind velocity has been 129 miles against the normal 126 miles. Out of the eleven stations, however, seven show a velocity distinctly smaller than usual, while at Saugor Island and Hazaribagh velocities have been much above the normal. If these two stations are left out of the calculation (as there is evidently something abnormal in them), both in the determination of the mean for the month and the normal, the mean velocity for August has only been 98 miles against the normal 103 miles. These facts would distinctly point to the probability that the monsoon current blowing in August was decidedly weaker than usual, and this is borne out by the diminished rainfall. Another fact which has been noticeable throughout the month is the strong westerly element which has frequently been present in the wind directions. This being the case and the monsoon being weaker than usual, there is perhaps a possibility that the present monsoon, as derived from the Bay of Bengal, will close rather earlier than usual.

Pressure.—The variations of pressure have as a rule not been very large during the month. At the commencement of August pressure was in excess of the normal by amounts varying from about 0.03" to 0.05". The largest excess pressures at this time were recorded in Orissa and South-West Bengal, and the smallest in Assam. For the second week in the month the excess pressure rather increased to about 0.06", but the seat of maximum excess was transferred to the northern parts of the province and to Sibsaugor, while at the extreme western stations the excess was decidedly smaller. For the third week the pressures were largely influenced by the existence of the depression in the Bay, and thus while in Orissa pressure was nearly normal, at Purneah an excess pressure of 0.114" was registered, and at Dacca one of 0.072". In Assam also the mean pressure was above the normal by 0.043". Conditions as to pressure then became far more nearly normal, and for the greater part of the remainder of the month pressure was generally slightly below the normal. For the whole province, taking into consideration only those stations at which observations have been recorded for some years, and which therefore yield reliable averages, it may be said that the mean pressure for the month has been above the normal by 0.035 inch. This excess pressure has been smallest in the southern and south-western districts, and largest in the northern districts, and particularly along the foot of the hills, where at Purneah it equals 0.062 inch and at Durbhunga 0.053 inch. In Assam pressure has also been pretty uniformly in excess, the mean pressure showing 0.028 inch in excess of the normal.

Temperature.—As is usual during the monsoon period, the variations of temperature have generally been small and of little importance, though during the break in the rains in the middle of the month temperature rose rather considerably. In the first week the mean temperature of Bengal was 0.7° in defect of the normal, while in Assam the defect was 0.8°. In the second week temperature was again below the normal, the defect averaging about 1.4° to 1.5° both in Bengal and Assam. In the third week temperature had become in excess generally by about 1°, and the excess continued, though in smaller amounts, up till the close of the month. For the whole month the average temperature in Bengal has been very slightly in defect of the normal, the defect equalling about a tenth of a degree. In Assam the mean defect has been rather larger, and it averages 0.8°.

Rainfall.—The comparison of the actual rainfall of the various great divisions of the province during August with the normal is most accurately and conveniently shown in the form of a percentage. The figures representing the rainfall for the month calculated in this way are included in the table below under the heading of August. This table really gives a condensed summary of the rainfall statistics of the present year up to date for each meteorological division, the first eight columns giving the actual average rainfalls in each division in each month expressed as a percentage of the normal, while the ninth column gives the actual rainfall for the first eight months of the year expressed as a percentage of the rainfall for the period. The figure 100 in this table will therefore represent a normal fall; a number larger than 100 an excess fall, and so on:—

Meteorological Divisions.	January.	February.	March.	April.	May.	June.	July.	August.	Actual rainfall of first eight months expressed as a percentage of the normal fall for the period.
Orissa	119	Nil.	137	60	193	66	91	83	91.
South-West Bengal	202	2	222	56	139	82	105	76	96
East Bengal	612	14	206	34	71	70	80	71	80
North Bengal	530	2	274	114	158	139	63	97	116
North Behar	381	Nil.	127	109	177	135	69	111	107
South Behar	411	Nil.	303	188	423	70	63	83	107
Chutia Nagpur	500	Nil.	10	111	331	73	93	90	100

That is to say, in August North Behar has received a rainfall decidedly in excess of the normal, Chutia Nagpur and North Bengal have received falls nearly equal to the normal, South Behar and Orissa falls in decided defect, and South-West Bengal and East Bengal falls rather largely in defect of the normal.

In actual amounts North Bengal has received the largest average fall, equalling 13·74 inches, and North Behar the next largest amount, 12·79 inches; East Bengal and Chutia Nagpur have received average falls between 11 and 12 inches, and Orissa, South Behar, and South-West Bengal amounts between nine and ten inches. These figures, however, represent only the average falls over the seven large divisions into which the province is divided for meteorological purposes, and the actual falls at different stations have varied much more largely than this. Thus the fall has varied between about fifty and five inches at various stations, for while Buxa in the Darjeeling Hills district has received 50·72 inches, Gyabanda in the Rungpore district has received 4·85 inches, Sherepore in the Bogra district 3·95 inches, Kishnaghur 4·6 inches, Magoora 4·79 inches, Maldah 4·76 inches, and Dhurmsalla in the Cuttack district 4·81 inches. These stations indeed appear to have been centres of particularly scanty rainfall throughout the month. These figures will indicate that the distribution of the rainfall during August has been very irregular, decidedly more irregular than is the case in most years. The Bombay branch of the monsoon, as has been previously indicated, has been decidedly strong, and the Bay of Bengal branch has therefore had a more easterly set, or has been deflected towards the east more than usual. At the same time the amount of interaction between the two branches has been more marked than usual over the western parts of the province. In the actual distribution of the rainfall in this month there appear to be no less than three areas of large precipitation; the first along the line of the hills to the north of the province, where falls of 30 inches and upwards are frequent; the second in South-East Bengal, where the falls rise to about 20 to 25 inches; and the third in the west of the province, where the falls are from 15 to 18 inches, and from these three centres rainfall diminishes in quantity towards the centre of the province.

Compared with the normal fall for the month, it is seen that there are two large and one small tract of excess rainfall, but that the whole of the remainder of the province, constituting probably about three-quarters of the whole, has been in very decided defect. The one large area of excess precipitation comprises the whole of Chutia Nagpur except the Hazaribagh district, the western stations in Orissa, Ranigunge, and the whole of the Bankoora district. The second large area runs along the line of the hills to the north of North Bengal and North Behar, and includes the greater part of Behar to the north of the Ganges, but does not include Chumparun, and also includes the Dinagapur and Rungpur districts; but, on the other hand, parts of the Rungpur and Darjeeling districts are in defect. The third area of excess precipitation comprises a small part of the Moorshedabad and Sonthal Pergunnahs districts. The excess falls generally vary up to about three inches, but in some cases they exceed five inches. The whole of the remainder of the province is in defect, a large part being in defect by amounts larger than three and in some cases five inches. The following are the principal areas of defect:—the greater part of the Patna district and part of the Gya district, and the following districts:—the South Bhagulpore, Maldah, Pubna, Bogra, Mymensingh, Dacca, part of Comilla, Furrceedpur, Backergunge, Jessore, Khoolna, part of Nuddea, Burdwan, Birbhoom, Hooghly, Howrah, part of Midnapore, Pooree and Cuttack. In the Furreedpore, Dacca, Bogra, Pubna, and Maldah districts the average falls scarcely equal half the normal amount.

The following table gives full data for the comparison of the actual and the normal rainfall of the month of August in all districts of the province. The figures are derived from the average and actual rainfall of the rain-recording stations in each district, due allowance or weight being made for the area which each station represents. This gives a more accurate average than the arithmetical means given in the weekly and monthly meteorological tables. The first column gives the normal or average district rainfall as determined from the rainfall observations of the past 15 years. The second column gives the actual district rainfall as determined from the weighted actual rainfalls of the month at the reporting stations in each district. The third column expresses the ratio of the actual district rainfall of the past month to the normal rainfall as a percentage. The fourth column gives the same information as the third column in a slightly different form. It states as a percentage how much the district rainfall of the month varied in excess or defect from the normal rainfall, and is hence the difference between the numbers in the third column and 100:—

Calcutta, the 13th September 1887.

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 9TH OF SEPTEMBER 1887.

At the close of the previous week conditions were fairly normal for the season, and on the 2nd instant, in particular, rainfall had been general over the whole province, and at many of the northern and eastern stations the falls had been heavy. Up till the 2nd the province had been almost entirely influenced by the monsoon current blowing from the Bay of Bengal, but on this day a westerly element appeared in the wind directions, showing that the Bombay branch of the current was again commencing to make itself felt. On the 3rd conditions had not altered to any material extent; decidedly strong monsoon winds were blowing over the whole Bay, and rainfall continued fairly general over the province. At the northern stations winds, however, were a little irregular, and on the 4th a distinct circulation of winds had set up over part of Behar and North Bengal, the centre of which appeared to be near Maldah. Conditions therefore became favourable for very heavy rain in the north of the province, and the following represent some of the heaviest falls recorded on this date:—Matuari in the Purneah district 16·20 inches, Fallacotta (Julpigoree district) 15·09 inches, Mickligunge (Cooch Behar district) 12·50 inches, Julpigoree 11·96 inches, Debigunge 10·6 inches, Alipore Duar 9·06 inches, Buxa 9·82 inches and Matabhanga 8·78 inches. Over the remainder of the province also rainfall was fairly general, but only moderate in amount. On the 5th the feeble wind circulation had been transferred to South Behar, and pressure commenced to rise very rapidly, the rise exceeding a tenth of an inch at many of the stations in North Bengal and Behar; moderate to heavy rain continued to fall on this day, particularly in the north of the province, but it was clear that the area of rainfall was decreasing. On the 6th a rapid and almost complete change took place in the meteorological conditions. The minimum pressure recorded in the Bay retreated southwards to Coconada; pressure again rose rapidly in Bengal, the rise in some instances exceeding a tenth of an inch. Winds became light and variable, and at neighbouring stations were frequently of opposite directions in the interior of the province, and instead of the very strong monsoon current which had previously been blowing at the head of the Bay, a light and rather irregular current was reported, though at the same time an extremely strong monsoon current was blowing in the south of the Bay. Rainfall also to a great extent ceased in Bengal, though in Behar some heavy falls were reported. On the 7th these conditions developed further, winds became northerly at the greater number of stations in the province, pressure remained very high in Bengal and an almost complete break in the rains was established. Conditions over the centre and south of the Bay were probably decidedly disturbed at this time, and wind directions all round the Bay showed distinct indraught towards the sea area, while in the south of the Bay at Galle a particularly strong monsoon current was blowing. These conditions continued unaltered until the 9th, when an extremely rapid fall of pressure set in over the northern half of the Bay, the pressure giving way most rapidly at the eastern stations, and on this day conditions were decidedly favourable to the production of a barometric depression in the eastern part of the Bay. The depression afterwards developed on the 10th, but its history belongs to the meteorology of the following week. The break in the rains in Bengal also continued up till the close of the week, and thus from the 6th to the 9th the falls reported have been light and very local.

Pressure.—The most noticeable feature in the pressure of the week was the extremely rapid rise which took place on the 5th and 6th, the rise in certain districts almost equalling a fifth of an inch. The mean pressure has therefore been very considerably in excess of the normal, and the excess at some stations, such as Purneah and Durbhunga, almost equals a tenth of an inch. The mean excess is less than this, and does not generally exceed 0·06". The excess is smallest in South-East Bengal, in the neighbourhood of which pressure was comparatively low at the end of the week, and at Chittagong it has only equalled 0·024".

Temperature.—Was about normal, or rather above it, during the earlier part of the week, when rainfall was fairly abundant, but directly the break in the rains commenced, temperature commenced to rise with great rapidity, and at the close of the week it was largely in excess of the normal. For the whole week the mean temperature has been considerably in excess of the normal in all districts except Behar and Assam. In East Bengal the average excess has been 2·3°, in South-West Bengal 2·0°, in Orissa 1·5°, and in Chutia Nagpur 1·2°. In North Bengal the excess has been much smaller and only equals 0·2°. In Assam, on the other hand, temperature has been in defect by 0·3°, and in South Behar by 0·7°, while in North Behar the defect has been the considerable amount of 2·5°. For the whole of Bengal the mean temperature for the week has been in excess by 0·6°.

Rainfall.—Has been largely in excess of the normal in North Bengal, moderately above it in North Behar, and slightly above it in South Behar. It has been largely in defect in Chutia Nagpur and South-West Bengal, very largely in defect in East Bengal, while in Orissa the fall has been only about a fifth of the normal. The actual average fall in North Bengal has been the large amount of 6·44 inches, in North Behar it has averaged 3·11 inches, and in South Behar 2·48 inches. The falls in other districts have been very much smaller and in South-West and East Bengal and in Chutia Nagpur the falls have been from one to about one-and-a-half inches, while in Orissa the fall has only averaged 0·65 inch. Compared with the normal fall, and expressed as a percentage of that amount, the average falls in each of the seven meteorological districts for the week have been— in Orissa 23 per cent., in South West Bengal 42 per cent., in East Bengal 31 per cent., in North Bengal 173 per cent., in North Behar 122 per cent., in South Behar 102 per cent., and in Chutia Nagpur 58 per cent. Taking each of these districts as having an equal value in the calculation, the rainfall of the whole province has equalled 78 per cent. of the normal.

The heaviest falls have been mainly determined towards the following districts— Julpigoree, Rungpore and Maldah, and also towards Darjeeling, Sarun and Bogra; while on the other hand the following districts have been very largely in defect:—all the districts in Orissa, the Midnapore, 24-Pergunnahs, Howrah, Hooghly, Burdwan, Bankoor, Nuddea, Jessore and Khoolna districts, in South-West Bengal, all the districts in East Bengal, the Pubna district in North Bengal, and the Chyebassa district in Chutia Nagpur.

In Assam, during the week, particularly heavy rainfall has been reported at Dhubri, which has received 9.34 inches; moderate rain at Silchar, which reports 2.69 inches; and light rain at Sibsaur, which has received only 1.02 inches.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the eight meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 9th of September 1887:—

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives is given in the column headed "Ratio of male deaths to every 100 female deaths." The ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans was not taken in the same month as the census of the natives.

General remarks on the fluctuation of principal staples carried over the East Indian Railway during the month ended 30th July 1887.

INCREASES.

Coal and coke.—There was an increase in both the upwards and downwards despatches; the upwards increase was due to demands by Foreign Railways, and that in the down traffic is attributable principally to the facilities afforded by the opening of the Jubilee Bridge.

Cotton.—The increase in this staple was due to the shipment demands having improved after the dullness which prevailed in June 1887.

Jute.—This increase is entirely new traffic brought to the mills in the neighbourhood of Howrah over the Jubilee bridge.

Rice (husked and unhusked).—The reasons for the increase in this commodity being as before, good crops near stations on Loop line and high prices ruling up-country.

Other grains.—This increase was chiefly in the despatches from stations in the Allahabad district to Dhulpoore, Bharutpoore.

Agra and Lucknow.

Oil.—The increase is entirely made up of despatches in kerosine oil from Howrah

Railway Material, Foreign.—This was principally in despatches from Bombay via Jabulpoore to Manikpoore for the Indian Midland Railway, and from Howrah to Benares for the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway.

Skins.—Due to despatches from up-country stations to Madras.

Sugar, refined and unrefined.—Increases are shown at some of the sugar-despatching stations in the Dinapore district for despatches to up-country stations where the market is favourable.

Government stores.—The increase was principally in the despatches of Government Ordnance stores to Military stations.

DECREASES.

Turmeric.—This falling off can only be ascribed to large stocks up-country and to supplies now going from Bettin via the Bengal and North-Western Railway, and from Madras to the North-West.

Grain and Pulses.—This is in continuation of the small despatches reported during the last few months, and was principally in long lead traffic from Delhi, via Delhi and Cawnpore.

Gunny.—The falling off was almost entirely at Howrah and followed the decrease in the export traffic in wheat and seeds.

Wheat.—Due to sudden fall in the home markets and to sellers holding out for better rates.

Iron.—This decrease was principally in the despatches from Howrah owing to there being no buyers and the market dull.

Salt.—This decrease was chiefly in the despatches via Agra due to diversion of the traffic by the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway to Cawnpore.

Seeds.—This decrease is attributable to the home markets being dull.

Tobacco.—This decrease as in the previous month is due principally to poor crops.

RESOLUTION ON THE GENERAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE BHAGULPORE DIVISION FOR THE YEAR 1886-87.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

Calcutta, the 15th September 1887.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Annual General Report of the Bhagulpore Division for the year 1886-87.

This report is submitted by Mr. N. S. Alexander, who was in charge of the division throughout the year under review.

2. Annual Tours.—The Commissioner spent 114 days on tour, during which time he was especially occupied with Sonthal Pergunnahs' affairs. All the District and Sub-divisional Officers were in camp for the prescribed number of days, and in Bhagulpore the Joint-Magistrate also spent 48 days in the interior.

3. Weather, Crops, and Public Health.—The rainfall during the year was abnormally heavy in all parts of the Bhagulpore Division, and was on the whole well distributed, as is shown by the generally abundant harvests. In Maldah, the Sonthal Pergunnahs, Monghyr and Purneah, the crops, especially rice, were good, and in Bhagulpore, where the bhadoi suffered from flooding, the general results were not much below the average. The year was on the whole a particularly healthy one, and a decrease in mortality is shown by the returns of every district. With the exception of Purneah, where cholera made its appearance at the close of the rains and continued up to the colder months, the whole division appears to have enjoyed comparative immunity from epidemics of any kind. The local officers are to be congratulated on the result of their efforts to extend vaccination in Monghyr and Purneah, but the excellent results there obtained are unfortunately counterbalanced by a falling off in the number of vaccinations, which is not satisfactorily explained in the other districts of the Division.

4. Material Condition of the People.—The mass of the population is agricultural, and their material condition necessarily varies with good and bad seasons. The abundant harvests of the year have restored to the cultivators a measure of prosperity which they had lost in recent unfavourable seasons. Only in the case of the Paharias in the Sonthal Pergunnahs is no improvement reported by the District Officer, and the Lieutenant-Governor would desire to have a special report on the condition of these aborigines, and on any measures which may appear to the local officers to be possible for the amelioration of their present wretched condition. As was to be expected under the circumstances of the year, the price of food fell throughout the division: the fall was particularly marked in the Bhagulpore district, at the sudder station of which rice was cheaper than it had been during the last 10 years. A corresponding tendency to rise in the rate of wages is noticed in Bhagulpore and Maldah, while the returns of registered emigration show a decrease. The remarks made by the Deputy Commissioner of the Sonthal Pergunnahs with regard to abuses in the system of free emigration to the tea districts have been read by the Lieutenant-Governor with attention, but it is observed that no mention is made of specific instances of fraud or kidnapping, or of any other criminal offence. It is important that it should be borne in mind that a policy of non-interference with free emigration to the labour districts has been definitely accepted by Government on the ground that greater evils would be caused by interference with a view to stop possible abuses than are involved in the relatively small number of instances in which abuses occur.

5. Manufactures and Mines.—Indigo is manufactured in all the districts of the division, but chiefly in Bhagulpore and Monghyr; this industry is reviving both in Purneah and Maldah. The season was on the whole favourable to this crop, but prices were low. Opium is grown in Monghyr alone, and the area under cultivation expanded slightly, but the outturn, owing to unseasonable rains, compares unfavourably with that of 1885-86. The manufacture of silk fabrics is a declining industry in Bhagulpore and Maldah, but the price of cocoons rose in both districts on account of larger demands for export. The manufacture of bidri work in Purneah is reported to be dying out, and the iron industry of South Bhagulpore does not flourish, but the manufacture of muzzle-loading guns in Monghyr has increased. Experiments made in slate quarrying and enamelling have not proved very successful, and exorbitant terms demanded by the zemindars, both in this district and in Bhagulpore, have stood in the way of mining enterprise.

6. Trade and Commerce.—The trade of the division was generally brisk during the year on account of the favourable harvests, and the increased export of food-grains, especially of wheat, is noticeable. The import of piece-goods appears to have improved in Monghyr and Maldah, but the Commissioner makes no comment on the report received last year from the Sonthal Pergunnahs to the effect that the bad quality of European piece-goods has made them unpopular and checked their importation, although the advisability of making enquiry was suggested in the Government Resolution. The timber trade with Nepal suffered from an overstocked market, but the demand for Nepal jute was maintained. The subject of registration of trade with Nepal in Purneah, to which attention is drawn in paragraph 68 of the Commissioner's report, will be separately considered. Under the head of development of trade routes, the opening of a station on the Tirhoot State Railway in the north-west corner of the Bhagulpore district, the opening of the Purneah branch of the Assam-Bihar State Railway, and the increased traffic of steamers on the Ganges must be noticed.

7. Public Feeling and Administrative arrangements.—The account of the general demonstrations of loyalty called forth by the Queen-Empress's Jubilee is in accord with those contained in the reports of other Commissioners. On other topics public feeling did not display itself. The introduction of the income tax did not affect the mass of the people, and the Tenancy Act is hardly mentioned by the Commissioner in his report. From the tabular statement given by the Commissioner, showing the employment of Muhammadans in Government service in this division, it appears that 1 in 6 of the gazetted officers is a Muhammadan, and that in superior and inferior service the respective proportions are 1 in 5 and 1 in 3. The Commissioner expresses a decided opinion that in making appointments the best man available, irrespective of creed, is selected, and that the orders of Government are duly observed in filling up vacant appointments.

8. Police and Crime.—The results for the year under the head of Police and Crime were not altogether satisfactory. There was a decrease in the number of offences against property, probably connected with the agricultural prosperity of the year, but on the whole both cognizable and non-cognizable crime slightly increased. The percentage of convictions in sessions trials fell as low as 43·9, and there was no improvement in the results of prosecutions for false complaints. The police force of the division appears to be below the average in efficiency. In the rural police improvement is reported.

9. Civil Justice.—In civil suits there was an increase under the head of suits for money or moveables, a small decrease in the number of title suits, and a rather large decrease in rent suits. The increase under the first head is attributed to good seasons following bad ones; while the decrease of rent suits is said to be due to the general uncertainty felt regarding the effects of the provisions of the Tenancy Act. In Monghyr, however, the number of applications for deposit of rent was much higher than before. The Collector of Maldah quotes the opinion of the Munsif to the effect that the introduction of the new law has led to the speedier disposal of suits for arrears of rent, enhancement, and the surrender of holdings, and that the enhancement sections have benefited landlords.

The question of the advisability of permanently establishing a Subordinate Judge's court at Monghyr is under the consideration of the Lieutenant-Governor, and the opinion of the High Court thereon has been invited. The question of establishing a Munsif's court at Soopool will be considered in the Judicial Department.

10. Land Revenue.—The current demand of land revenue increased from Rs. 33,62,145 to Rs. 33,67,500, and the current collections exceeded those of the preceding year by Rs. 30,557, the percentage of current collections to current demand rising from 96·8 to 97·5. There was an improvement likewise in arrear collections. The registration of estates and the writing up of registers under Act VII (B.C.) of 1876 have been nearly completed in all the districts of the division.

11. Excise, Stamps and Income Tax.—The excise revenue rose from Rs. 10,26,244 to Rs. 11,11,267 during the year under report, the increase being shown under all heads—country spirits, tari, ganja, and opium—and being due apparently to the more prosperous circumstances of the people. The gross realizations from stamps also advanced from Rs. 9,74,919 to Rs. 10,50,574, the largest increase, particularly noticeable in Monghyr, being under the head of judicial or court-fee stamps. The total amount realized from the income tax, exclusive of fines and penalties, and the proceeds of the tax on Government salaries and pensions, was Rs. 2,15,098 as against Rs. 1,47,904 collected in the preceding year under the license tax.

12. Communications.—The Kosi extension of the Tirhoot State Railway and the opening of the Purneah section of the Assam-Bihar State Railway have been noticed above. A considerable number of useful original works were undertaken by the Road Cess Committees during the year, but the state of existing roads in Monghyr, Bhagulpore and Maldah is unsatisfactory. It would appear that the attention of the new District Committees should be directed rather to up-keep of existing roads than to undertaking new works at the expense of the maintenance of present lines of communication.

13. Education.—The percentage of success at the different examinations compares favourably with that reported in the preceding year, but otherwise the educational results of the year 1886-87 are discouraging. There has been a total decrease of 362 schools and of 5,889 pupils, secondary education showing a loss of one school and a gain of 381 pupils, and primary education a decline of 655 schools and 7,617 pupils; the balance is accounted for by inclusion in the returns of the department of a larger number of indigenous schools. The decrease is due, as in other divisions, to the exclusion of small and inefficient schools from the returns, but the falling off in female education in all districts, except Maldah, which appears to be the result of the exclusion of small schools, is to be regretted. Gratifying progress is being made by Muhammadans, who, although they form only 19·6 per cent. of the whole population of the division, contribute 22·9 per cent. of the total school population. In the Damini-i-Koh the number of Santhali patshalas aided by Government has increased from 99 to 110.

14. Committees and Local Bodies and Conduct of Zemindars.—The meetings of Road Cess Committees during the year were not well attended, except in Purneah, and the Lieutenant-Governor has perused with regret the unfavourable remarks contained in the report on the working of Municipal Committees in respect especially of sanitary arrangements. The responsibility devolving on District Officers for the success of such Committees must not be forgotten, and Sir Steuart Bayley relies upon their energy and tact to assist the first developments of Local Self-Government.

The conduct of zemindars in this division is reported to have been generally satisfactory. The most serious difficulties between landlords and tenants exist apparently in North Bhagulpore, where the remedy of a survey and record of rights is to be applied in the two zemindaris of Srinagar and Banaili.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

W. C. MACPIERSON,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

WOOL TRADE OF BENGAL.

The following is published for general information.

P. NOLAN,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 2737—497 Agri., dated Calcutta, the 5th September 1887.

From—H. W. C. CARNDUFF, Esq., Offg. Under-Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal,
To—The Director of the Agricultural Department, Bengal.

I AM directed to acknowledge receipt of your letter No. 1194 Agri., dated the 4th August 1887, forwarding copy of an interesting Note on wool prepared by you at the instance of the Government of India, Revenue and Agricultural Department, and to say that Sir Steuart Bayley would be prepared to give his support to a scheme for improving the breed of sheep in Behar, if submitted with your approval.

Note on Wool in Bengal.

THE Government of India having asked me, by demi-official communication, for some information regarding the trade in wool in Bengal, and the possibility of improving the supply or quality of that article, I have made some enquiry on the subject. The information which I have been able to obtain is meagre and vague in its character. Further enquiries will continue to be made, but, pending results of such enquiry, I now give the small amount of information on the subject which I have been able to gather.

First, as regards the supply of wool from Thibet and the Northern Frontier, the following remarks occur in the report of the External Trade of Bengal with Nepaul, Sikkim, and Bhutan, published by the Government of Bengal, 1885 :—

"The quantity of wool available for export from Thibet is believed to be enormous. Between Kamba and Shigatse, within a march and a half of the Sikkim frontier at the head of the Lachon, sheep are killed, not for the sake of their hides or fleece, which are practically valueless for want of a market, but in order that their carcasses may be dried into jerked meat and sold for 8 annas each. At Kamba itself carpets and rugs are manufactured of the finest quality, and of patterns evincing excellent taste and skill; but there is no outlet for these fabrics. Further north on the Great Chang Thang (or northern plateau), which begins just beyond the Sanpo, within five marches of the Kongra Lama, are prodigious flocks and herds which roam at will over the endless expanse. In noticing the improvements in the supplies of wool imported into Bengal from Thibet during 1882-84, it was remarked in the report for that year—'it is believed that this trade has dwindled during the current year (1884-85), partly owing to the difficulties placed in the way by Thibetan officials,' the statistics recorded show that the belief was well founded, for the quantity imported during 1884-85 was only one tenth that imported during 1883-84, viz. 91 maunds against 911 maunds. With the exception of 19 maunds registered at Rungeet in 1883-84, and 5 maunds in 1882-83, the entire supply during the three years was brought through Pheydong. The value of manufactured woollen goods (chiefly blankets) during 1884-85 was Rs. 4,415 in excess of the figures of 1883-84, but Rs. 564 below those of 1882-83. By far the largest supplies are brought via Pheydong."

The following statement shows the quantity of wool imported into British territory from Sikkim and Thibet during the past five years :—

					Mds.
1882-83	168
1883-84	911
1884-85	91
1885-86
1886-87	1,933

The falling off in imports of wool in 1884-85, as compared with the two previous years, has been attributed to the difficulties placed in the way of this trade by Thibetan officials; but though this may be one of the true causes of the decline in question, it is to be noted that the trade appears to have been at all times insignificant and irregular. At the same time that there was a decline in the imports of wool, it is to be observed that there was a very large increase in the imports of other articles—for example, musk and yak tails.

		1883-84.	1884-85.
		Rs.	Rs.
Musk	...	2,563	84,100
Yak tails	...	8,924	58,794

margin, largely increased in 1884-85.

2. Without, however, questioning the existence or the pernicious effects of restrictions placed by the Thibetan officials on the frontier trade—matters on which I have no knowledge and no special sources of information—I may say that, having made some enquiry on the subject at Darjeeling, I have not seen or heard anything which would lead me to doubt that a considerable trade in Thibetan wool can be developed even under existing conditions, by which, however, may be accounted for by the greater facility with which these less bulky articles may be smuggled. The imports of these latter commodities had, as will appear from the figures quoted in the simply creating a steady demand and securing a steady sale for the article in Darjeeling. It will be seen from a letter from Mr. Spencer Robinson, which is annexed, that a merchant trading with Thibet has recently offered to deliver to that gentleman in Darjeeling ten thousand maunds of wool, provided he guaranteed the purchase of it at Rs. 16 per maund. The Thibetans, he adds, will not place any obstacles in the way of allowing the wool to come through. If the wool, as stated, can be delivered at Darjeeling at Rs. 16 a maund, or, say, three to three and a half pence per pound, and the wool is worth in England 6½ to 7 pence per pound, as it is believed to be, there would appear to be little doubt that the existence of a steady demand at Darjeeling, or some other place nearer the frontier within British territory, would lead to a steady supply so far as the resources of Thibet allow. I am not here arguing against the desirability of removing trade restriction—a question which does not come within my province, and on which I am not called upon to offer an opinion—but what I am arguing in favour of is the creation of a steady demand for Thibetan wool in Darjeeling by establishing an agency, public or private, for the continuous purchase of it. The attempts being made by Mr. Spencer Robinson, who has, I am informed, much practical knowledge of the subject, will, from this point of view, be watched with much interest. It will be seen from the annexed report, with which I have been favoured by the Chamber of Commerce, and from the Secretary of the Agri-Horticultural Society, that Thibetan wool as per sample received from Mr. Spencer Robinson is supposed to be worth 6½ to 7 pence per pound in England, where the price is rapidly rising. If this estimate turn out to be correct, and wool is forthcoming from Thibet in large quantities as stated to Mr. Spencer Robinson, the importation of wool from Thibet should be a highly remunerative business.

3. The following statement shows the exports or imports of wool from and to Calcutta according to the Custom House returns and statistics of river and rail-borne trade in Bengal since 1881-82 :—

Sea-borne trade.				Export.	Import.
Year.				lbs.	lbs.
1881-82	13,416	7,484
1882-83	2,336	41,617
1883-84	32,684	19,613
1884-85	78,395	21,612
1885-86	57,595	86,367

4. As regards the trade in wool produced in the plains of Bengal, there is very little information available in the records of the Bengal Government, and as the Government of India has called for very early report on the subject, I have not been able to ask local officers for further information regarding it. No attempts have ever been made in Bengal to improve the quantity or quality of wool produced in these provinces. The bare suggestion of the possibility of taking measures with this end in view has been made subject of gibes and ridicule. It will, however, be seen from the papers annexed that practical men, who have given attention to the subject, are by no means of opinion that nothing can, or that nothing ought, to be done by Government in this matter. Mr. Abbott, a well known indigo-planter of Tirhoot, is enthusiastically in favour of endeavouring to improve the breed of Behar sheep by judicious cross-breeding, and is willing himself to undertake the supervision of the experiment on an inexpensive plan, which will be found described in his letter annexed, and Mr. Orrah, Deputy Superintendent of the Bhagulpore Jail, is of the same opinion. I think that Mr. Abbott's plan is an eminently practical one, and that cross-breeding on the lines suggested by him and Mr. Orrah ought to be tried. The Revenue and Agricultural Department of the Government of India may perhaps be in a position to give some assistance and support by supplying merino or other good rams and ewes. I am myself also in communication on the subject with Dr. Greenhill of Calcutta, who has been good enough to volunteer his assistance in the selection and importation of good rams from Australia.

5. I annex some interesting papers with which, through the courtesy of Dr. Lothbridge, I have been favoured by Mr. Orrah.

This gentleman has given much attention to the subject of Indian wool, and probably knows more about it than any official in Bengal. Some of his suggestions for effecting improvements in the quality of Bengal wool, owing no doubt to his want of acquaintance with the actual conditions of Bengal peasant life, are, I think, impracticable; but he agrees with Mr. Abbott in thinking that much may be done by judicious cross-breeding. Mr. Orrah, being in charge of the manufacture of woollen articles in the Bhagulpore Jail, is in a position to offer an opinion of value on the subject, and he bears testimony to the fact that the attempts made to improve the breed of sheep in the North-Western Provinces have led to a marked improvement in the quality of the wool of that province, which he says is decidedly superior to that produced in Bengal. Further, he significantly notes that since the system of cross-breeding sheep by continuous importation of fresh stock has ceased in the North-Western Provinces, the quality of the wool produced is there also deteriorating.

6. I regret that I am unable to furnish the Government of India at present with more accurate and detailed information on this subject, and have only two practical suggestions to make with a view to improvement in the supply and quality of wool from Bengal and the northern frontier.

These are—

1st.—That arrangements may be made by which a steady demand and sale can be guaranteed for Thibetan wool in Darjeeling or elsewhere within British territory—such demand will create the supply, and will probably arise without the aid or interference of Government, when it is known that wool is forthcoming. If, in addition to this, the Government of Thibet can be induced to remove restrictions which must as a matter of course injuriously affect trade, all the better; but I am not in a position to offer an opinion on this point. Further, it would perhaps be at first desirable to allow specially favourable rates for carriage of wool from Darjeeling by rail to Calcutta, and orders to have this done have, I understand, been recently issued. It would also be well, if possible, to improve the means of communication by road with the Thibetan frontier.

2nd.—That as regards wool produced in the plains of Bengal, the suggestions made by Mr. Abbott for cross-breeding in his letter, which is annexed, be accepted as a tentative measure.

I FORWARD by Mr. Stevenson two samples of Thibet wool as received from that country.

One is ewe wool, the other ram's wool. I have been selecting wool for a Calcutta merchant during the last week, who is sending it home to England. This is the first shipment of wool sent home. I received a valuation on this wool recently, which was 6½ to 7 pence per pound in England.

The wool trade with Thibet can be developed into a large business, and a merchant trading with Thibet offered to deliver me 10,000 maunds of wool in Darjeeling (provided I would guarantee to buy it) at Rs. 16 per maund. He states the Thibetans will not place any obstacles in the way of allowing the wool to come through the Passes. He is sending me samples of cloth, &c., purchased by the Thibetans, and wishes me to forward them to English manufacturers and let him know the price of such cloth when landed in Calcutta.

Suffice it then to say, as a commencement of correspondence, that as far as sheep-breeding in Behar is concerned, I live in the very centre of it and, roughly speaking, my tenants own at least a lakh of these useful little animals; but as far as wool or quality of meat goes they are of the most wretched description, though, like most things indigenous to the country, hardy to a degree. As I told you personally, I am convinced that judicious crossing would prove eminently beneficial (were Australian or British blood imported) to both wool and mutton. I do not think much outside trade is done in the wool line, the shepherds finding a sufficient market at present by weaving it into blankets, which they dispose of locally; but with the railroad now at their doors, the industry only wants encouragement to develop into a very valuable adjunct to the commercial economy of the district. Be it always remembered that the grazing in Behar is for India the best par excellence. Sheep during the hot weather are driven to the northern chours, when for a mere nominal sum they fairly well keep themselves; while during the rains practical farming-planters are glad enough to let them have the magnificent grazing of the inevitably heavy undergrowth in their indigo lands, charging the value of one sheep in the hundred for the right. Therefore, Behar is eminently a country suited to sheep farming, and it behoves Government to improve the breed. Give me a dozen rams and double the number of ewes, allow me Rs. 20 a month to keep them up, and I will guarantee to make a present of 90 per cent. of every ram produced in the stock to sheep-farmers in the district, and 50 per cent. of the ewes. Your charge shall be no more than the above Rs. 20 as long as I am in the country, and when I leave, I will give back to Government the same amount of stock that they handed me, or at the end of five years I will ask no further aid from Government, but will return it in kind the amount of rams and ewes advanced me. I will with pleasure furnish statistics of the entire births, deaths and distribution of the stock: of course you will fully understand that, should the stock die, I have no claim whatever against you as far as the Rs. 20 per mensem goes. My mere wish is to show how Government aid, properly applied, can benefit the district at small expense, and be made in the long run almost self-supporting. After a bit, I believe we could make money by letting out the services of the rams. But this must be done gradually. I have already proved that, as far as horses, poultry and dogs are concerned, one can with imported blood and judicious local crossing do very great things in Behar; and as I honestly believe, as far as Bengal is concerned, it could be made the nursery for grain, horses, oilseeds, sheep, cattle, et hoc genus omne, for the whole of Southern India.

In such a country as this the encouragement of horses, sheep, and poultry-breeding, of the importation of finer seeds from foreign countries, in fact the entire working up of Behar as a wholesale producer for India, should be the work of the Government at first, and of every Englishman who, like myself, is grateful to it for a happy if an exiled home.

Many experiments have doubtless been made, but forgive me if I say unhesitatingly they have been, as a rule, made on wrong lines. They are generally made through the means of the temporary Collector of the district, without the smallest effort being made to find whether the gentleman in question has a penchant for this kind of thing. The odds are he has not. Witness the attempt to breed mules in Mozufferpur.

Report by Mr. Orrah.

In reply to the Inspector-General of Jails' request, I have the honour to submit the following report upon Bengal wools, together with extracts.

Regarding the production and improvement of wool grown in Bengal, it will be necessary to enter somewhat minutely into the characteristics of wool, namely—

1st.—Softness.	4th.—Uniformity of staple.
2nd.—Elasticity.	5th.—Fineness
3rd.—Length of staple.	6th.—Soundness.

So far as my experience goes in the working of Bengal wools, I find them wanting in all the aforementioned characteristics.

As regards want of softness and elasticity, I attribute this partly to the hardness of the water the sheep may have to drink, being of a limy character.

The scarcity of yolk in the fibre, which is the natural reservoir from which the wool fibre gains its character for softness, &c., shows the sheep are not sufficiently and suitably fed.

As regards length of staple, uniformity, fineness and soundness, these deficiencies are more the result of want of care and attention to the breeding. Good breeding is undoubtedly the main cause by which sheep of all countries are improved, or for want of it are deteriorated.

Whilst Bengal wools show these deteriorations all round, and contrast very unsatisfactorily with other provinces in the North-West of India, there is one redeeming feature, which is a very valuable one, possessed by the Bengal sheep, and that is they are very receptive, or in other words susceptible of being improved more rapidly than many other classes of sheep. The Thibet sheep, for instance, will require much more time to eradicate the coarse hairs and kemps out of the fleece than would the Bengal sheep.

To improve the quality and quantity of Bengal wool, I will mention a few principal methods of treatment necessary for this purpose, for part of which there is some evidence of its having been successful in India as well as other countries.

1st. Pasturage.—I have spoken of the water as being hard; this seems to point out that land pasturage over Bengal is of a calcic or lime character,* and would undoubtedly not only account for hardness of water, but the pasturage thereof must contain in its grasses, herbs and trees and vegetation generally a large proportion of calcium, therefore the food upon which the sheep live and graze must also contain lime, and we see as a natural consequence that the wool they grow is dry, natureless, stunted, and irregular in staple, harsh in feeling, coarse, brittle, inelastic, whilst the yolk of the fibre is scanty and poor.

I would therefore suggest that the water which sheep drink should be tested, and if found to be hard should be treated chemically with a small sprinkling of oxalic acid,† viz. 1 oz. of the salt of this acid to 500 gallons of water, to deposit the lime of waters drunk by the sheep. The washing water for sheep should also have any lime that exists in it deposited before being used.

Quantity and quality of wool, which is distinguished from the fleshy parts of sheep by the large proportion of sulphur which it contains, is very much affected by the soil upon which the food grows: some soils growing poor grasses keep the sheep grazing thereon lean, and whilst giving finest of wool yields only 1½lbs., but a merino fed upon good pasturage, of chemically treated soils, often gives a fleece weighing 10lbs. to 11lbs. It is calculated that 30,000,000 sheep yield on an average 111,000,000lbs. wool, or about 4½lbs of wool to the fleece. This quantity of wool contains 5,000,000lbs of sulphur, which is of course all extracted from the soil.

If we suppose this sulphur to exist in, and to be extracted from, the soil in the form of gypsum, then the plants which the sheep live upon must take out from the soil to produce the wool alone 30,000,000lbs. or 13,000 tons of gypsum. Though the proportion of this gypsum lost by any one sheep farm in a year is comparatively small, yet it is reasonable to believe that by the long growth of wool on land to which nothing is even added, either by art or from natural sources, those grasses must gradually cease to grow in which sulphur most largely abounds, and which therefore form growth of wool—in other words, the produce of wools likely to diminish by lapse of time where sulphur has for centuries been yearly carried off the land: and again the produce is likely to be increased in amount when such land is dressed with gypsum or other manures in which sulphur naturally exists.* This, I believe, could be obtained in a very cheap form from the gas works of the country; some of their waste products containing sulphur in a large degree, such, for instance, as the sulphate of lime, a waste product of these works. There probably also is a natural form of sulphur found in connection with the rock salt districts, as geologically it exists in some form in the same stratification. Iron pyrites also contains sulphur in large proportions. Though not acquainted with all the natural products of India, I am quite sure products could be obtained sufficiently low in rates for manuring purposes. No bones of animals ought to leave India, for its land sadly needs it, being also a valuable manure for sheep farms, in addition to the various dungs of animals of all descriptions.

* This is doubtful.

† Impracticable, and if practicable, would be dangerous, oxalic acid being a poison.

Breeding.

Next, I would suggest as of first importance also that a definite system of cross-breeding should be sustained with rams obtained from pure blood stock. There is, I believe, some difference of opinion amongst flock-owners as to what countries the best rams are obtainable from; but experience has always proved this fact, that the merino ram, whether of European, South African, or Australian breed, is decidedly the best for crossing with Indian sheep.

As success has been obtained by crossing the merino rams of each one of these aforementioned countries with Indian sheep, the aim of flock-owners should be to obtain wools for clothing purposes of a finer quality. This could be accomplished, and some six different qualities be obtained, which would work in combination or serve the special direct purposes of manufacture in general. With this end in view, I would suggest—

Crosses.

1st.—For producing finest fibres of a felty character, a cross of one South African merino ram, pure bred, with 100 Bengal ewes.

2nd.—For producing uniformity of lengths of staple, medium fineness, soundness, and elasticity, a cross of an English merino ram, pure bred, with 100 Bengal ewes.

3rd.—For medium qualities and characteristics ranging between Nos. 1 and 2, a cross of one Australian merino ram, pure bred, with 100 Bengal ewes.

4th.—For improvement from Indian stock rams for coarser wools and cloths, a cross with North-West part-bred merino rams, the result of crossings with European stock in years gone by. This crossing would give wool closely approaching the Agra wool, or wool used largely by Cawnpore and Dhariwal mills, and also exported largely to Europe.

5th.—I would advise a trial being made of crossing some Thibet ewes with an English merino ram, pure bred, and the rams obtained from this crossing should then be crossed with Bengal ewes. The effect, I believe, would be that a Bengal wool would be produced, having a character distinctly its own, and a flannel and clothing wool also suitable for hosiery would be produced of an excellent character and high value.

6th.—To produce combing wool of very long fine staple, soft in form, in length, soundness, and elasticity of a high value, for European combing machinery, would, I believe, be obtained by crossing Australian fine merino ewes, pure bred, with Thibet rams.

In connection with this matter of breeding are several important factors, such as the ascertaining of defects, pursuing a good system of selection or rejection and sub-division of sheep into classes. These should be done regularly by a yearly inspection, so as to form correct opinion of the nature and properties of the fleece borne by each, in order that the defective sheep may be removed and never again allowed to mix with those drafted and set apart for the production of fine wool.

White-woolled sheep, free from grey or black, should be kept separate.

Black-woolled sheep, free from white or grey, should be kept separate; also the rams of same should be similarly kept separate with their flocks, and not allowed to mix promiscuously. All parti-coloured sheep should be extirpated.

Kemp and hairy wool is very objectionable. Bengal wool is very kempy, that is, full of white hairy coarse bristles or hairs which protrude and will not dye or become amenable to any process or operation of improvement. This, however, is the result of deterioration in all its forms, and can only be eradicated by the carrying out of all such operations as are being suggested herein. If only a few kemps be seen in wool, it lowers its value immensely for clothing purposes. Good feeding, protection and breeding will eradicate these objectionable features. Thus it is that changes in the fleeces of sheep are wrought by propagation or crossing of breeds possessing those qualities which it is wished to acquire.

Lord Western, whose interest in the growth and improvement of wool production years ago, records the effect of a union he made with one of his lordship's own merino tups and some East Indian ewes, on which a striking proof was exhibited of the influence of the male upon the progeny, the latter having a fleece infinitely superior to that of the dams. The ram was kept highly fed, and consequently their fleeces became long in fibre, heavy in weight, the breed of the ram being the merino, which is considered the best from which foreign stock can be improved. Purity of blood should be unquestionable, and the result will then be a stronger stamina capable of standing changes of climate better.

It is, however, impossible, in the brief space of a report like this, to enter more fully into the minute details of sheep husbandry. I subjoin, however, a few extracts obtained from my library, which may be of interest in showing what has been done in the past in the other presidencies of India, and which I consider somewhat confirms by facts some of the suggestions herein made.

* Gypsum would no doubt be good manure for pasture land, but beriwallas are not likely to use it.

Before concluding I might remark, from my present workings of the North-West of India wools, as compared with Bengal wools, there is so decided a superiority of the North-West wools that I am obliged to use a large proportion to obtain more satisfaction from those who purchase our blankets and cloths, and I have no doubt in my own mind that this same superiority has been given to it by some such early action in the matter of breeding, &c., having been taken by the Government of the North-West of India in the years gone by.

I am also convinced that Bengal could so improve its wools, and if the system of cross-breeding was kept up continuously, might eventually supersede in character the wools of those provinces. I judge also from what I see of the North-West wools, at present there are signs in their wools now that the system of cross-breeding is not being kept up by continuous importations of fresh stock, a very desirable element to sustain and further improve their wools: this I would suggest Bengal should attend to continuously.

EARLY efforts to improve the country breed by merino of imported stock.

Early efforts.

The Cape-bred merino rams have been found to answer for this country, India, better than those imported from England, so much so that Government have determined henceforth to import only from the Cape as appear from the memorandum from Mr. Secretary Reid in 1835.

The attention of Government was first directed at the end of 1835 to the improvement of the wool and sheep of Western India. From the information furnished to Government, it appears that many parts of the Deccan and Guzerat are very well adapted to sheep pasture, and that, if the wool of this country, which, though very inferior in kind, finds a ready market, were improved by importing superior sheep so as to improve the fleece of the country breed, the natives would be greatly benefitted. Measures were accordingly adopted by Government to import sheep of a superior breed, and in 1837 a supply of rams and ewes, about 106 in number, of the Southdown merino breed, were sent out at a very heavy expense by the Honourable Court under the care of an experienced English shepherd. About 60 rams and ewes of the Saxon and merino breed were obtained from the Cape of Good Hope where the breed is very fine.

A large supply of sheep (600) was also obtained through the agency of Colonel Pottenger and Captain Burne from Afghanistan and Cabul, and the pastoral districts in the vicinity of the Indus. A small number of sheep was also brought from Bussorah, as it is well known that the breed in that part of the country yields a very fine lengthy fleece. The sheep obtained from England, the Cape and Cabul, have been distributed about the country, and many of them are entrusted to the care of gentlemen who understand the management of this animal, and take an interest in the undertaking. A sheep farm was established at Ahmednugger, and another at the fort of Jooner, where the climate is good and pasturage plentiful, and these farms were entrusted to Mr. J. Webb of the Civil Service, who had a good practical acquaintance with the management of sheep. The natives in the interior, who breed sheep, are supplied from these farms with half-bred lambs and were allowed to send their ewes to the Government. From the experience gained by these practicalists, it was found that the Cape-bred merino sheep were far superior to those bred in England and better adapted to the Indian climate, the English sheep being too large for the slight made ewes of this country, and are moreover greatly affected by the change in the climate. The Cape sheep are less affected by the climate, and not so subject to disease as those of this country or of England, while their lambs are much stronger than those produced from the English sheep. It was therefore determined not to obtain any more supplies from England.

Of this enterprise on the part of the Government were noted by Sir George Arthur, who brought to the subject a valuable fund of information

which he had acquired during his previous administration in New South Wales, and thus early declared himself a decided patron and supporter of improvements in Indian wool. When visiting the Government sheep farms of Ahmednugger and Amrut Mahub, he inspected the flocks, and in a minute drawn up on the occasion, remarked that "an improvement in the breed of sheep, as regarded the views of Government, was not an object that at all had reference to profit, but one on which the authorities took the lead, as being the best means of interesting industrious natives in the experiment. Sir George suggested the advantages which would be derived from establishing a more definite system in breeding in the first place by carefully ascertaining the defect on the indigenous race, and this done, by steadily pursuing a good system of rejection and crossing. He at the same time adopted a fresh mode of pasturing and sub-division of the sheep in such a manner that no flock should exceed 700 head, and recommended that, in order to encourage the natives to try the experiment, a given number of the improved sheep should be transferred to the native shepherds under an agreement to provide pasture and attendance, receiving in payment one-third of the produce, and so on.

Again, about a year later, Sir George Arthur having occasion to visit Alleghoom when the Government flock had been collected by a previous arrangement with the Superintendent, again inspected the stock, and in a minute written by himself, and dated 27th September 1843, he expressed himself much pleased with the manifest improvements in the condition of the sheep, which was such as showed the care and attention paid to them by the Superintendent, and the general appearance of the flock being greatly bettered by the removal of parti-coloured sheep, recommending at the same time that no relaxation in this system should be allowed, and urging that it would be proper in the next report from the farm to have the sale price of the wool compared with the ordinary country sheep distinctly noted. Sir George Arthur observed that in order to ensure success it would be necessary annually to import a fresh stock of merino rams till the improved stock had thoroughly superseded the country one on the farm.

Captain Henderson, who acquired much information on the subject as a sheep-farmer at the Cape in 1836, submitted to the Government of Bombay a paper of instruction on the management of merino sheep. In this treatise the Captain states that on rearing these animals the diseases in India most to be guarded against are dysentery and mange. As a precaution against the first, he says that dry pasturage is most essential, and in order to prevent the mange, that great attention should be paid to the cleanliness of the sheep. A Patna ewe crossed with a Southdown ram was tried in Calcutta by a gentleman who had had considerable experience in the growth and cleaning of the staple in the Australian Colonies, and he entered among the proceedings of the Agri-Horticultural Society of India the following result:—The wool is decidedly of a very good quality for the first cross, uniting length of staple and softness with great uniformity of quality throughout the fleece, which is much desirable. The quality from its coarseness will not admit of being used for other than blankets and very coarse cloth. Its market value was in the Home market 16d per pound. He further states that Mr. Rickets, the owner, had acted correctly in having crossed Patna with the Southdown, and should strongly recommend him to carry out the improvement by crossing the production with the merino, as he only requires now the texture, he having procured the length of staple with crosses. India can in my opinion, if sufficient care were displayed in the crosses, produce as good a sample of wool as any of Her Majesty's dominions from the luxuriousness of feed and the temperature of the climate, as texture with length of staple is all that is necessary.

Colonel Hazlewood, in writing to Captain Jacob, of Bombay Artillery, dated Bangalore, 1837, says:—I have just received six more Saxon rams from the ruby flock of Sydney. Mr. Sullivan brought out two merino rams and two ewes, and I have seen the effect of crossing by these and also by Southdown rams imported by Sir William Rumbold on the Neilgherries. Even the red hairy sheep of India become Southdown in size and wool in the second generation, and the white-wooled sheep of India become merino and Southdown in size and wool after one crossing. I have shown Mr. Sullivan's merinos which have been two years in India after twice washing and shearing the day after the ewes gave five or four and a half pounds each; in fineness, length of staple, elasticity and oiliness, equal to any I ever saw in Tasmania, where 2½ lbs. is the utmost ever got from a ewe of the merino kind.

Further report by Mr. Orrah.

SINCE writing my report upon the wools of Bengal, I have received, by mail, a copy of the weekly paper called the Wool and Textile Fabrics, which contains a report made by Mr. F. H. Bowman, D.S.C., F.R.S., &c., an authority in England on technical matters upon Indian wools. I have therefore had a copy of the same written out, which I send to you with this letter.

COLONIAL WOOL.

IV.

Copy from the Wool Textile Fabrics Weekly of 14th May 1887.

WE take the following paper on colonial wools (by Mr. F. H. Bowman, D.S.C., F.R.S. &c., President of the Society of Dyers and Colourists) from the "Reports on the Colonial sections of the Colonial and Indian Exhibition," issued under the supervision of the Council of the Society of Arts, and edited by the Secretary to the Society, Mr. H. Trueman Wood, M.A.

The whole of the wools exhibited from India, except one or two incidental specimens were confined to those contained in a case within the Economic Court. In speaking of them as wools, the term is used in its widest sense, so as to include all goat and sheep fibres. The samples were 23 in number, and no reference appears to be made to them specially in the official catalogue. Few of these samples were named specifically, the largest portion being only distinguished by a number or letter without label. In character they covered a wide range of quality from the very coarsest goat's hair down to the finest wool or pure pashmina, which is the undergrowth of the Thibetan shawl-goat, as well as the native Indian wools, of which there are at least eight varieties. These wools are interesting, as they contain almost every variation in the individual fibres, which is to be found in all other races of sheep. Most of the hairs and wools exhibited in this section, however, are of comparatively small interest to European manufacturers, because the export is small and the quality such that they can only be used for the coarsest class of goods, and when worked by machinery they require to be mixed with other wools. They are, however, of considerable importance in India as forming the staple of the woollen industry in the mountain districts, where the great bulk of the woollen goods are worn. Many of them are singular mixtures of coarse and fine fibres; so much so that those who are only accustomed to the regular wools of cultivated sheep can hardly conceive it possible that many of the samples could be obtained from a single animal. The finest specimen in quality and regularity of fibre, and in all characteristics which are typical of the best wools, can scarcely be surpassed; but by far the largest numbers of samples are defaced by irregularities in the structure and quality of the fibre, which are only to be found in the most neglected sheep in the United Kingdom and the Colonies. To enumerate all the defects which are found in many of these wools, when compared with the highest standards attainable in the Australasian Colonies, would be to mention all the defects to be found in any wool, and indeed many of the samples probably resemble the covering of the primitive sheep, from which all the truly domesticated varieties are originally derived. Without further knowledge in regard to the place of origin, a more classification of these wools would be of little service, and especially since the wools of India scarcely come within the scope of this report, and will probably receive attention elsewhere.

As already remarked, the wide range over which the growth of the wool extended, and the difference in climate and other conditions to which the sheep in the various colonies were subjected, rendered the present opportunity most valuable in making a comparative examination of the different wools. This survey brought home to the eye most forcibly the very wide range of conditions under which the sheep can be cultivated, and the high state of perfection to which it can attain in almost every part of the world, when due attention is paid to the culture and breed. It seems to indicate that special cases of sheep are more adapted to certain regions of the earth's surface than others, and that in many cases the environment of the sheep tends in the course of generations, under careful management, to produce a special character which becomes permanent, and may be retained as a pure breed. It also shows that certain characteristics of the wool, such as lustre in the long-woolled breeds, can only be retained permanently by the re-introduction of fresh blood from time to time; at any rate, in all the regions which lie nearest to the equator, a certain degree of equality of temperature and atmospheric moisture being necessary for its permanence. Thus it appears to be retained longest in New Zealand and the southern coast of the Australian Continent. The nature of the herbage also affects the quality of the wool in a marked degree, and probably one of the chief reasons why the Australian merinos deteriorate when introduced into the Cape Colony is because the herbage is not fitted for the highest development of the sheep. One very marked lesson of the Exhibition is the fact that all the best wools exhibited show that, whatever tends to improve the character of the sheep in any one direction, re-acts all round in a benefit to all the other characteristics. The same conditions which tend to increase the size of the sheep cause the wool to be better nourished, firmer and more tenacious, without injury to the best qualities of the fibre, provided care is taken in the proper selection and purity of breed in the sheep. The question of difference in the lustre of the wool is an important one, and opens a wide field for investigation. It has been already noticed that the Victorian wools stand foremost in this respect amongst the merinos. When the fibres are examined by a microscope, it appears that, while the fibres are equally fine when compared, say, with those from New South Wales or South Australia, the development of the individual scales on the surface is larger, and they present fewer scales in the linear inch. On the other hand, as the fineness in diameter is maintained in the less lustrous fibres, and the development of the scales is greater in number, and this gives a greater softness and pliability to the individual fibres with a large degree of serration, and therefore a higher felting power: It is for this reason probably that the wools of New South Wales are more adapted for fine clothing trade than the more lustrous Victorian, or the coarser fibre wools of South Australia. The judicious introduction of the best characters of certain classes of sheep into other breeds, as is clearly shown, may induce a permanent improvement of the new breed only under certain conditions, and it seems now beyond a doubt that it will always be necessary for the farmer to discover the special class for which his own climate and surroundings are the most advantageous, if he is to attain the highest perfection in the production of wool. Those who are growers of wool must remember that every year the demand for quality in the raw material is greater, and those only who aim at securing all the best properties which wool can possess will secure the markets of the future.

In several instances "kemps" were found associated with the wool. These kemps are fibres, usually shorter and thicker than the others, in which all traces of wool structure are absent. They are brittle, solid, and ivory like. This is the sure indication of want of trueness in breed, and is most objectionable, as these kempy fibres will neither felt nor take any dye. They cannot be removed from the fleece by any process, except picking them out, and hence they injure the quality of any goods for which the wool may be used. The defect was specially noticed in some of the cross-breeds with the long-woolled sheep, and where it exists the value of the wool is most seriously deteriorated.

Nothing can compensate for the want of condition in the wool when sheep are neglected, and it cannot be too strongly urged that every endeavour should be made to maintain in the bulk the high standard presented in the samples exhibited. Without this care and due attention to classification, the results of good breeding and cultivation may all be lost, and rendered commercially unremunerative.

An endeavour was made in preparing this report by each specimen exhibited in relation to the geographical position in which it was grown, to determine, if possible, whether any general law with regard to characteristic properties could be drawn from this relation, but the differences in the breed of sheep, and in the care and attention bestowed on the wool, rendered any sound deduction impossible, and it therefore appears probable the selection of breed, good pasturage and attention, have far more influence than mere geographical position within the range of the temperate zone.

In conclusion, the author of this report begs to record his high sense of the uniform kindness and courtesy which he experienced from all the officials in charge of the various colonial exhibits, and from the Executive of the Exhibition. This was all the more appreciated, as it involved on their part, from the number of samples and variety of information required, a large amount of labour and time.

Dated Calcutta, the 28th July 1887.

From—S. E. J. CLARKE, Esq., Secretary, Bengal Chamber of Commerce,
To—M. FINUCANE, Esq., C.S.

I HAVE only received your letter of the 21st and 27th instant, the former handing me two samples of ram's wool and owe's wool from Thibet, of which you wish to know the value in Calcutta. The samples have been examined by the Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, who direct me to send you the enclosed copies of letters written by Messrs. Peol, Jacob and Company of this city, with reference to similar descriptions of wool sent to them from Darjeeling in the beginning of 1884. Such wool, say 30 to 40 maunds, was then valued in Calcutta at Rs. 18 per maund. It was, however, subsequently sold to the Elgin Mills Company of Cawnpore for Rs. 25 per maund.

Through the courtesy of Mr. J. L. Mackay, of Messrs. Mackinnon, Mackenzie and Company; I am able to supplement the information given by Messrs. Peol, Jacob and Company by a London Valuation Report dated 18th May of the current year, on some samples of Thibetan wool sent home by Mr. Mackay's firm. The valuation given is from 6½d. to 7d. per pound at the then current market rates. The Economist gives the price, January—June 1884, of unwashed wool at 7d. per pound. The value of wool similar to the samples you have now sent would be probably at that time 5d. to 5½d. per pound. The higher quotation given by Messrs. Buxton, Ronald and Company in May last is owing to the rise in the price of wool which has taken place during the last three years.

Thibetan wool is not well known in this market, so that it is difficult to say what the demand for it would be.

The Committee of the Chamber of Commerce desire me to say that they are of opinion it would be advisable to send the samples to the Elgin Mills Company at Cawnpore, and also to the Egerton Woollen Mills Company, Limited, at Dharwal, Umritsur, from both of which concerns you would be likely to receive valuable and practical reports as to the quality of the wool and its suitability to their requirements. They would probably also be in a position to say what place it would take in the home market.

In conclusion, I am to say that, if you desire it, Mr. Mackay will be happy to send the samples home for valuation in London. An early reply to this suggestion will oblige.

Report on Wool Samples referred to in Mr. Clarke's letter.

WE have two samples of wool from you, and value the first received at 5d. per pound, and that last received at 5½d. per pound. The wool is unwashed and unassorted; it is well grown and is of a sound and healthy character. Such wool would sell in Europe in any quantity. Of similar wool from Bombay, Kurrachee, and Beyrout, we sell 50 million pounds annually. There is always a market for such wool at a price; at present the value of all carpet wools (this is carpet wool) is remarkably low. Please refer to the figures in the enclosed circulars about East India wool, which will govern this wool also. Those figures are for washed wool, assorted into various colours and qualities; and it might be advisable to trace a small lot of the wool you have in view in this manner, and ship it to test this market. At the same time, we would certainly suggest that five or ten bales should be shipped in the natural state, and then we could report fully, and you would be prepared to act in the event of prices rising. It appears to us that the subject is one of great importance, for it is evident that the wool shown by your samples comes from a country perfectly adapted for the growth of a sound and healthy wool.

In Bombay and Kurrachee it is customary to assort and wash the wool before it is shipped, and this plan commends itself to our buyers. We send you samples of a parcel of Candahar wool which was worth 5½d. per pound in its original state as clipped from the sheep, and we give you the result in the assorted and marked washed state of this wool. We do not, however, know what the wool weighed before it was washed.

From—MESSRS. BUXTON, RONALD AND COMPANY.

To—MESSRS. DUNCAN, MACNEILL AND COMPANY.

WITH reference to the sample of Thibet wool submitted to us this day for valuation, we beg to say we consider the wool worth from 6½ to 7d. per pound at present market values.

In accordance with your instructions, we have retained a portion of your sample as reference, and now return the remainder herewith.

Calcutta, the 14th January 1884

From—MESSRS. PEEL, JACOB AND COMPANY,

To—The Secy. to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce.

THE sample of wool referred to in your letter of 8th instant is to hand, and we will endeavour to send you a valuation for it in a few days.

Our Liverpool correspondents, to whom we sent a sample of your wool, write us as follows:—

“We find the present value is about 5d. for unwashed, and say 9d. per pound if washed. It is recommended to be washed before shipment, and if in addition the colours be assorted, each sort being of course packed separately, higher prices would be obtained. We understand there is usually a good demand for this article.”

Those particulars may be interesting to you, even if they do not induce you to send a trial shipment to England.

Calcutta, the 25th January 1884.

From—MESSRS. PEEL, JACOB AND COMPANY,

To—The Secy. to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce.

We have now the pleasure to enclose a report on your earlier samples, which we have received from our home correspondents, who have gone to some trouble in the matter, and we have sent you by post the five samples referred to therein. We enclose, for your further information, a Liverpool Wool Circular, details in which may be of interest to you. We would ask your careful consideration of the report, and would recommend you to make a trial shipment as suggested, with the view of commencing a regular business.

Dated Calcutta, the 30th July 1887.

From—The Secretary to the Agri-Horticultural Society of India,

To—The Director of the Agricultural Department, Bengal.

I AM now in a position to reply to your demi-official No. 284 of the 21st instant, regarding two samples of wool from Thibet, ram and ewe.

As mentioned in my previous note on this subject, there is very little trade done in wool in Calcutta, and the dealers in Thibetan wool amount to probably less than half a dozen in number. I have obtained the opinion of two of these traders on the samples. They consider they are good raw wools, but are very dirty, and their value would depend on the washing and cleaning they should receive before being put upon the market. In the present state the wool would be unsaleable here. The final market for wool of good quality is Amritsar, and the price there for staple of the quality of the samples would be from Re. 1 to Rs. 5 per seer according to the cleaning to which it has been subjected; it would there meet in competition Australian and European wools which are imported via Bombay. Another market would be found at the mills in the North-Western Provinces, but prices are not good there, as best qualities of wool are not sought after.

Of the two samples the ewe's wool is the better; the brown spots in it would, however, probably depreciate its value. From an European point of view the samples would be much improved were the two qualities of wool of which they are each composed separated. The outer wool of the sheep is wiry and harsh as compared to the soft inner fleece which is the more valuable. Should you desire it, I can obtain a more precise valuation from Bombay in a few days.

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 16TH OF SEPTEMBER 1887.

On September, the 9th, or the last day of the previous week, an extremely rapid fall of pressure set in over the northern half of the Bay, the pressure giving way most rapidly at the eastern stations, and thus forming an area of relatively low pressure over the north-eastern part of the Bay. On the 10th a further very rapid fall of pressure took place over the northern half of the Bay, and at same of the stations in South Bengal the fall equalled about 0.15 inch. A distinct barometric depression was therefore formed, the centre of which was apparently not very far south of the Sunderbans, and on the 10th the centre of the wind circulation accompanying it was to the south or south-west of Burrisal. The depression then travelled in a westerly direction, and on the 11th the centre of the feeble storm was about midway between Saugor Island and Faise Point, and it was again accompanied by a distinct cyclonic circulation of winds, though the wind velocities in connection with it were light. On the morning of the 12th the depression had passed well inland, and had disappeared into the Central Provinces, and in South Bengal pressure rose very rapidly, while the area of lowest pressure in the Bay retreated to South Orissa. Pressure continued to rise on the 13th, but the general conditions were unaltered, and the depression had quite ceased to affect the weather in the Province of Bengal. During the formation and advance of the feeble storm, moderate to heavy rain was brought to the southern districts, and in some cases the falls were very heavy: thus on the 10th, Bongong received 5.05 inches, Culna 3.08 inches, Khoolna 2.94 inches, Ranaghat 2.35 inches, Kandi 2.22 inches, and Tumlook 2.40 inches. On the 11th rainfall was again very general in the southern districts, and many stations received falls exceeding an inch, but on the 12th rainfall became rather less general and rather lighter.

The storm having disappeared inland, it then became possible for the monsoon winds to flow over the Province. Moderate rain commenced to fall in many districts, but it was neither very general nor heavy. A rather strong south-easterly current set in over the whole of Bengal from about the 13th, though, at the same time, a strong westerly current was blowing across the south of the Bay from the Arabian Sea. This seems to have deflected the area of heavy rainfall from the Bengal current towards the east coast of the Bay, and on the 14th Diamond Island reported the excessive rainfall of 9.58 inches. On the 15th a rapid fall of the barometer took place in the north-west angle of the Bay, resulting in the formation of another very feeble depression, the centre of which was near Balasore, and which was accompanied with cyclonic circulation of winds, and the result was that heavy rainfall was brought on this day to parts of South-West Bengal and Orissa, and thus Pooree reported 3.18 inches, False Point 4.46 inches, Dharmasallah 4.02 inches, Garbetta 2.18 inches, and Anda (Bankoora district) 2.70 inches. On the 16th the depression had entirely passed inland, and a steady monsoon current from the Bay of Bengal flowed over the whole Province, and on the 14th and 15th moderate rainfall was general over almost the whole Province.

It will thus be seen that conditions have been rather favourable for rainfall in all districts, except North Bengal and Behar, and the presence and movement of the two depressions have brought good rain to Orissa, South-West Bengal, and Chutia Nagpur.

Pressure.—The variations of pressure over the Province during the week have been large. At the commencement pressure generally fell rapidly in connection with the formation of the depression, but with its disappearance pressure rose rapidly till the 14th, when a fall again occurred, which was succeeded on the 15th and 16th by a further rise; but even at the close of the week pressure was still below the normal over the whole Province, the defect being as large as a tenth of an inch in Chutia Nagpur. The mean pressure for the whole week has therefore been considerably in defect of the normal, the defects varying from 0.133 inch at Gopalpur and 0.132 inch at False Point to 0.071 inch at Purneah. Taking only those stations into consideration, from which records have been received for a number of years, and which therefore furnish reliable averages, the mean pressure for the week for the whole Province has been in defect of the normal by 0.107 inch. In Assam also pressure has been in defect of the normal by nearly a tenth of an inch at each of the three stations, and the mean defect has been 0.101 inch.

Temperature.—Owing to the defective rainfall in North Bengal and Behar, temperature has been about 2° above the normal in these districts, while in the other districts of Bengal the variations from the normal have been small, though temperature has been generally rather higher than usual. For the whole week the mean temperature of the Province has been 1.2° above the normal. In Assam also temperature has been rather largely above the normal, and the excess has averaged 3°.

Rainfall.—It has already been stated that conditions were rather favourable for rainfall in Orissa, South-West and East Bengal, and in Chutia Nagpur, and unfavourable elsewhere. Orissa has received an average of about four inches of rain, South-West Bengal and East Bengal about three inches, and Chutia Nagpur about two and a half inches, and in each district rain has fallen on an average of four or five days during the week. In North Bengal and South Behar the rainfall has averaged little more than an inch, while in North Behar it has been less than half an inch, though even these districts have received rain on two or three days in the week. Compared with the normal fall for the period, and expressed as a percentage of that amount, the actual district average falls for the past week have been—Orissa 142 per cent., South-West Bengal 144 per cent., East Bengal 128 per cent., North Bengal 36 per cent. North Behar only 20 per cent., South Behar 63 per cent., and Chutia Nagpur 112 per cent. Taking all these large divisions as having an equal value in the calculation, the average rainfall of the whole Province for the week may be said to have been 92 per cent. of the normal. The following districts have received very heavy falls during the week :—Pooree, Midnapore, 24-Pergunnahs, Howrah, Hooghly, Burdwan, Berhampore, Krishnagore, Jessore and Burrisal; while the following are very largely in defect :—Bogra, Rajshahye, Maldah, Dinagepore, Rungpore, Julpigoree, Darjeeling, Purneah, Durbhunga, Chumparun, Gya, Patna and Sarun.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 16th of September 1887 :—

 The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

MEMORANDUM.

THE mortuary returns of the districts in Bengal for the month of July 1887 disclose the following results:—

1. That the deaths of 137,112 persons were registered in these districts among their population of 66,163,884, representing an annual death-rate of 24·84 per 1,000 against 20·40 per 1,000 during the preceding month, and 16·92 per 1,000 during the corresponding month of the preceding year, indicating, as compared with both the periods, a very considerable advance in the registration of the events.

2. That the highest casualty, rates were returned from the following districts:—

Districts.	Ratio per mille.	Districts.	Ratio per mille.
Shahabad ...	72·00	Darjiling ...	33·72
Gya ...	63·60	Hazaribagh ...	33·36

Lohardugga ...	42·72	Jalpaiguri ...	26·40
Monghyr ...	40·32	Balasore ...	26·04
Sarun ...	38·40

3. That the mortality from the specific death-causes specified in the table appended to this memorandum, as contrasted with the outcome of the corresponding month of the preceding year, stood as follows:—

	Ratio per mille during—
	July 1887.	July 1886.
Cholera ...	5·62	·72

Fever ...	14·52	12·12
Bowel-complaints ...	·84	·60
Injury ...	·72	·72
Other causes ...	2·88	2·28

indicating a marked increase of mortality from cholera and fever, particularly those from the former, no noticeable differences from the rest of the diseases, the casualties from injury remaining stationary.

4. That while no district presented noticeably high mortality from small-pox and injury, Darjiling suffered pre-eminently from bowel-complaints; Puri from the maladies classed under the head of "other causes" (the former disease furnishing a death-rate of 10·32, and the latter of 11·52 per 1,000 of population), and the following districts from cholera and fever at the rates noted opposite them.

Cholera.	Ratio per mille.	Fever.	Ratio per mille.

Hazaribagh ...	2·28

It will be seen from the foregoing table that Puri, Shahabad, Gya and Lohardugga suffered notably from cholera, and the same districts, excluding Puri and including Monghyr, from fever.

5. That under the heads of Sex, Class and Age, the mortality of the month was distributed as follows:—

Commissariat Advertisement for Tea for the Madras Presidency:

SEALED tenders in the form used in the Commissariat Department (blank forms whereof can be had on application at the Commissariat Storekeeper-General's Office, Madras) will be received by the Commissariat Storekeeper-General, Madras, until 1 o'clock on Monday, the 17th October 1887 (and opened by him at the same time and place in presence of those interested), for the supply, by contract, of Indian black tea not exceeding in quantity 139,745lbs., to be delivered at the Commissariat Stores at Madras to the Commissariat Storekeeper-General on or before the 30th day of April 1888 free of all charges whatsoever. No payment will be made on account of such supply prior to the 1st April 1888. The above quantity is subject to a possible deduction of 117,000lbs. or less, if favourable tenders for out-stations (as per paragraph 3) are received.

2. Earnest Deposits.—Each tender must be accompanied by a receipt from the Secretary of the Bank of Madras acknowledging the payment of earnest-money equal to the amount shown in the table in paragraph 3 according to the number of stations tendered for, or by Government promissory notes to the same amount duly endorsed over to the Commissariat Storekeeper-General, Madras. If such earnest-money is not lodged, the tender will be rejected. Tenders to be sealed and superscribed "Tender for Tea."

3. Tenderers have the option of tendering for the supply of the whole quantity of tea at Madras as mentioned in paragraph 1, or of supplying at the following stations separately the respective quantities given opposite each station. In the latter case the amount inserted opposite each station is the earnest-money to accompany such tenders in the manner set forth in the preceding paragraph:—

						Tea, lbs.	Earnest- money. Rs.
Bangalore	23,000	290
Belgaum	12,000	150
Bellary	12,000	150
Cannanore	7,000	90
Kamptee	12,000	150
Madras	22,745	280
Secunderabad	38,000	440
Wellington	13,000	160
Total	139,745	1,750

4. Security Deposits.—The earnest-moneys of successful competitors will be retained until they lodge with the Commissariat Storekeeper-General at Madras (or with the Executive Commissariat Officers in case separate tenders are accepted for each station) a security deposit of 10 per cent. on the value of the quantity or quantities of tea tendered by them. The security deposit may be lodged either in cash or in Government promissory notes. If the contractor desires to lodge the deposit in cash, he should pay the same to the Secretary of the Bank of Madras, or to the nearest Government treasury; and forward to the Storekeeper-General the Bank or treasury receipt for the same. If Government promissory notes are deposited, they are to be endorsed over to the Commissariat Storekeeper-General, Madras, for the time being as security for the due fulfilment of the contract. The earnest-moneys deposited with the successful tenders will then be returned to the tenderers.

5. The earnest-moneys of all unsuccessful competitors will be returned on the decision of Government as to the acceptance of any tender being received.

6. Contract Deed.—The successful competitors will be required to sign contracts on the basis of their tenders containing the usual provisions in the form used in the Commissariat Department (form whereof can be seen on application to the Commissariat Storekeeper-General at Madras), and to furnish the requisite security deposit within eight days from the date on which the acceptance of their tenders is notified to them. Should the successful competitors fail to sign the contracts or to furnish the security deposits within the time specified, so much of their earnest moneys will be forfeited as will reasonably compensate Government for such breach of contract, and their tenders will be considered as having been rejected. It is, however, to be clearly understood that the forfeiture of the total amount (if necessary) of such earnest-moneys for such default shall in no way preclude Government from recovering from the defaulting competitors all such damages as Government may sustain by reason of such defaults, and that the amount of such earnest-moneys is not to be taken as the total amount of compensation payable to Government for such defaults.

Each chest should contain 50lbs. of Indian tea and should be marked "50lbs. net." A certain number of the chests will be opened and examined by a Committee to ascertain that they contain not less than the weight represented, dependent on which examination the remainder will be taken to contain the net weight marked thereon.

8. Quality of tea.—The quality of tea will be subject to the approval of, or rejection by, a Committee to be appointed, at the request of the Commissary-General, by the Officer Commanding the District, and payment will be made for such quantity of tea only as may be approved of by the said Committee.

9. Samples.—Samples of tea can be had free of charge on application at the Commissariat Storekeeper-General's Office at Madras.

10. Each tender must be accompanied by a sample chest containing 50lbs. of the tea it is proposed to supply, which will be paid for at the rates tendered if of good quality.

11. Defaults.—If the contractors make default in delivering the whole or any part of the tea on or before the 30th April 1888, so much of the security deposited by them as will reasonably compensate Government for such breach of contract will be liable to be realized by Government, and, should such security be insufficient to compensate Government for such breach of contract, the contractors will be liable to pay to Government the difference between the amount of such security and such compensation, and any such compensation may, at the option of the Government, be deducted either from the moneys payable to the contractors for the tea delivered by them or from the securities deposited by them.

General Stipulations.

12. All further information may be had on application at the Commissariat Storekeeper-General's Office at Madras.

13. Every tender not made in the required form will be rejected. The form of tender to be signed as well as the schedule.

14. The Government reserves to itself the right of rejecting any tender without assigning any reason for so doing.

15. No person making a tender shall be allowed to withdraw his tender for the space of ninety days from the date thereof, and, in the event of his doing so, his earnest-money shall be forfeited to Government.

16. No offers by telegram will be accepted.

If such earnest-money is not lodged, the tender will be rejected. Tenders to be sealed and superscribed "Tenders for Tea."

Security Deposits.—The earnest-moneys of successful competitors will be retained until they lodge with the Commissariat Store-keeper-General at Madras (or with the Store and Shipping Commissariat Officer, Rangoon) a security deposit of 10 per cent. on the value of the quantity or quantities of tea tendered by them. The security deposit may be lodged either in cash or in Government promissory notes. If the contractor desires to lodge the deposit in cash, he should pay the same to the Secretary of the Bank of Madras or to the nearest Government treasury, and forward to the Store-keeper-General the Bank or treasury receipt for the same. If Government promissory notes are deposited, they are to be endorsed over to the Commissariat Store-keeper-General, Madras, for the time being, as security for the due fulfilment of the contract. The earnest-money deposited will then be returned to the tenderer.

5. The earnest-money of all unsuccessful competitors will be returned on the decision of Government as to the acceptance of any tender being received.

6. Contract Deed.—The successful competitors will be required to sign contracts on the basis of their tenders containing the usual provisions in the form used in the Commissariat Department (form whereof can be seen on application to the Commissariat Store-keeper-General at Madras), and to furnish the requisite security deposit within eight days from the date on which the acceptance of their tenders is notified to them. No. 9.

Commissariat Advertisement for Tea for the Madras Presidency:

SEALED tenders in the form used in the Commissariat Department (blank forms whereof can be had on application at the Commissariat Storekeeper-General's Office, Madras) will be received by the Commissariat Storekeeper-General, Madras, until 1 o'clock on Monday, the 17th October 1887 (and opened by him at the same time and place in presence of those interested), for the supply, by contract, of Indian black tea not exceeding in quantity 139,745lbs., to be delivered at the Commissariat Stores at Madras to the Commissariat Storekeeper-General on or before the 30th day of April 1888 free of all charges whatsoever. No payment will be made on account of such supply prior to the 1st April 1888. The above quantity is subject to a possible deduction of 117,000lbs. or less, if favourable tenders for out-stations (as per paragraph 3) are received.

2. Earnest Deposits.—Each tender must be accompanied by a receipt from the Secretary of the Bank of Madras acknowledging the payment of earnest-money equal to the amount shown in the table in paragraph 3 according to the number of stations tendered for, or by Government promissory notes to the same amount duly endorsed over to the Commissariat Storekeeper-General, Madras. If such earnest-money is not lodged, the tender will be rejected. Tenders to be sealed and superscribed "Tender for Tea."

3. Tenderers have the option of tendering for the supply of the whole quantity of tea at Madras as mentioned in paragraph 1, or of supplying at the following stations separately the respective quantities given opposite each station. In the latter case the amount inserted opposite each station is the earnest-money to accompany such tenders in the manner set forth in the preceding paragraph:—

								Tea.	Earnest-money.
								lbs.	Rs.
Bangalore	23,000	290
Belgaum	12,000	150
Bollary	12,000	150
Cannanore	7,000	90
Kamptee	12,000	150
Madras	22,745	280
Secunderabad	38,000	440
Wellington	13,000	160
Total								139,745	1,750

4. Security Deposits.—The earnest-moneys of successful competitors will be retained until they lodge with the Commissariat Storekeeper-General at Madras (or with the Executive Commissariat Officers in case separate tenders are accepted for each station) a security deposit of 10 per cent. on the value of the quantity or quantities of tea tendered by them. The security deposit may be lodged either in cash or in Government promissory notes. If the contractor desires to lodge the deposit in cash, he should pay the same to the Secretary of the Bank of Madras, or to the nearest Government treasury; and forward to the Storekeeper-General the Bank or treasury receipt for the same. If Government promissory notes are deposited, they are to be endorsed over to the Commissariat Storekeeper-General, Madras, for the time being as security for the due fulfilment of the contract. The earnest-moneys deposited with the successful tenders will then be returned to the tenderers.

5. The earnest-moneys of all unsuccessful competitors will be returned on the decision of Government as to the acceptance of any tender being received.

6. Contract Deed.—The successful competitors will be required to sign contracts on the basis of their tenders containing the usual provisions in the form used in the Commissariat Department (form whereof can be seen on application to the Commissariat Storekeeper-General at Madras), and to furnish the requisite security deposit within eight days from the date on which the acceptance of their tenders is notified to them. Should the successful competitors fail to sign the contracts or to furnish the security deposits within the time specified, so much of their earnest moneys will be forfeited as will reasonably compensate Government for such breach of contract, and their tenders will be considered as having been rejected. It is, however, to be clearly understood that the forfeiture of the total amount (if necessary) of such earnest-moneys for such default shall in no way preclude Government from recovering from the defaulting competitors all such damages as Government may sustain by reason of such defaults, and that the amount of such earnest-moneys is not to be taken as the total amount of compensation payable to Government for such defaults.

7. Size and Weight of Chests.—The chests containing the tea must be of suitable material, lined with lead, and the lead lining thereof must be sound and strong. Each chest must measure 27 inches long by 16 inches wide and 12½ inches deep (outside measurement), and must weigh as per margin. Each chest must be bound completely round with hoop iron at both ends, the nails being driven so as not to injure the lead.

lining. No chests of other dimensions than those specified above will be received. No broken or damaged chests will be received.

Each chest should contain 50lbs. of Indian tea and should be marked "50lbs. net." A certain number of the chests will be opened and examined by a Committee to ascertain that they contain not less than the weight represented, dependent on which examination the remainder will be taken to contain the net weight marked thereon.

8. Quality of tea.—The quality of tea will be subject to the approval of, or rejection by, a Committee to be appointed, at the request of the Commissary-General, by the Officer Commanding the District, and payment will be made for such quantity of tea only as may be approved of by the said Committee.

9. Samples.—Samples of tea can be had free of charge on application at the Commissariat Storekeeper-General's Office at Madras.

10. Each tender must be accompanied by a sample chest containing 50lbs. of the tea it is proposed to supply, which will be paid for at the rates tendered if of good quality.

11. Defaults.—If the contractors make default in delivering the whole or any part of the tea on or before the 30th April 1888, so much of the security deposited by them as will reasonably compensate Government for such breach of contract will be liable to be realized by Government, and, should such security be insufficient to compensate Government for such breach of contract, the contractors will be liable to pay to Government the difference between the amount of such security and such compensation, and any such compensation may, at the option of the Government, be deducted either from the moneys payable to the contractors for the tea delivered by them or from the securities deposited by them.

General Stipulations.

12. All further information may be had on application at the Commissariat Storekeeper-General's Office at Madras.

13. Every tender not made in the required form will be rejected. The form of tender to be signed as well as the schedule.

14. The Government reserves to itself the right of rejecting any tender without assigning any reason for so doing.

15. No person making a tender shall be allowed to withdraw his tender for the space of ninety days from the date thereof, and, in the event of his doing so, his earnest-money shall be forfeited to Government.

16. No offers by telegram will be accepted.

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 23RD OF SEPTEMBER 1887.

At the close of the previous week the meteorological conditions were almost normal over the greater part of the province, except that pressure was rather lower than usual. A fairly steady monsoon current was blowing from the Bay of Bengal, and easterly and south-easterly winds were reported from almost all stations. Conditions were almost unchanged on the 17th, and on this day light but rather local rain was reported from the greater part of the province. On the 18th the changes of pressure over the province were a little irregular, and at the western stations winds became rather westerly, showing that the westerly current blowing from the Arabian Sea was again beginning to influence Bengal. On the 18th rainfall was rather irregularly distributed, and the greater part of the centre of the province received little or no rain. On the 19th pressure commenced to fall, the fall being rather large in North Bengal and Assam, and the area of lowest pressure at the Bay stations was transferred to the north-west angle of the Bay and the Orissa Coast; the westerly winds strengthened, and winds became westerly and south-westerly over the greater part of the province. On this day also general and rather heavy rain was received in Behar and North Bengal. On the 20th a brisk fall of pressure took place over parts of South-West Bengal, and pressure became distinctly low, a band of low pressure apparently stretching from South-West Bengal through West Bengal into Behar. Winds also commenced to show a very faint tendency to circulation over Bengal, and rain again fell over a considerable part of Behar and North Bengal. On the 21st pressure continued to fall, and a low pressure area was formed over the whole of the centre of the province, while on the 22nd a distinct barometric depression accompanied by cyclonic circulation of winds had formed over the head of the Bay, the centre being only a short distance south of the Sunderbuns and between Saugor Island and Burrisal. On the 23rd the depression was still only of slight intensity and had scarcely moved its position, and its centre on this day was probably almost over the coast line of the Sunderbuns. During the formation of the depression the monsoon current was as usual prevented from blowing over the province, and rain almost ceased over the interior of Bengal, but at the stations on and near the coast, which were affected by the depression, rather heavy rain fell at the close of the week.

The rainfall of the week has therefore again not been heavy, and all districts have received amounts averaging from about one-and-a-half to two inches. The rainfall has thus been about equal to the normal amount in South-West Bengal, Chutia Nagpur and Behar, while it is seriously in defect in East and North Bengal and Orissa.

Pressure—During the previous week averaged about a tenth of an inch below the normal, but for the greater part of the present week pressure was increasing, and it was only at its close that the southern districts of the province were affected by the formation of the depression at the head of the Bay. The mean pressure for the present week has thus been much more nearly normal, and though pressure is at almost all stations below the average, the variations as a rule are not larger than two or three hundredths of an inch. Taking only those stations into consideration from which observations have been received for a considerable period, and which therefore yield reliable averages, the mean pressure of the whole of Bengal for the week has been 0.021 inch below the normal, and the extreme variations are only from a defect of 0.041 inch at Jessore to an excess of 0.004 inch at Cuttack. In Assam pressure has been more largely below the normal, the defect varying from 0.037 inch at Sibsaugor to one of 0.071 inch at Dhubri, the mean defect for Assam for the week being 0.054 inch.

Temperature.—The variations of temperature from the normal of the week are small and in no district equal a degree. In East Bengal and North Bengal the mean temperature has been above the normal by 0.3° and 0.2° respectively, but all other districts show defects. In Orissa, North Behar and Chutia Nagpur the defects are small and are less than half a degree, but in South-West Bengal and South Behar the defects are larger and equal 0.7° and 0.9° respectively. For the whole of Bengal temperature has been in defect by 0.3°. In Assam temperature has been above the normal by 0.8°.

Rainfall—Has been moderate in amount in all districts during the week, and the average rainfall in each of the seven meteorological districts has varied between one-and-a-half and two inches. Rainfall is, however, now becoming decidedly less frequent, and the average number of rainy days in the week has been from 2 to 3 in the various districts. Compared with the normal fall for the period, the rainfall in East Bengal has been most largely in defect; North Bengal has also been largely in defect, while in Orissa the defect has been a little less pronounced. The other districts have received falls nearly equal to or in excess of the normal, but while in South-West Bengal and North Behar the excess amounts are very small, in South Behar the excess is considerable. Compared with the normal, and expressed as a percentage of that amount, the actual rainfall in the seven meteorological districts during the past week has been—in Orissa 62 per cent., in South-West Bengal 101 per cent., in East Bengal 50 per cent., in North Bengal 55 per cent., in North Behar 106 per cent., in South Behar 130 per cent., and in Chutia Nagpur 93 per cent. Taking each of these districts as having an equal value in the calculation, the average rainfall of the province for the past week has been equal to 85 per cent. of the normal.

The rainfall for the whole of September has been generally deficient in Bengal. This can be most clearly seen by giving the figures representing the rainfall for each week in each of the seven districts expressed as a percentage of the normal fall.

Rainfall expressed as a percentage of the normal fall.

Meteorological District.	From 2nd September to 9th September 1887.	From 9th September to 16th September 1887.	From 16th September to 23rd September 1887.	Average of the first three weeks of September.

All districts except South Behar and South-West Bengal have therefore received a decidedly defective rainfall during September, and in Orissa and East Bengal, and in the northern districts of the province, the defects have been large.

Taking up the rainfall of the province rather more in detail, during the week under review the following districts have received particularly scanty falls:—parts of the Hooghly, Burdwan, Jessore, Khoulua, and Bankoorah districts, the whole of the Furreedpore, Dacca, and Commilla districts and part of Mymensingh, and the Maldah district. The extreme scantiness of the rainfall at some of the stations in East Bengal during the week may be shown by the fact that in the Furreedpore district the average fall for the week has been 0·20 inch, the normal fall for the period being 1·80 inches; in the Dacca district the actual fall has averaged 0·55 inch against the normal 2·67 inches; and in the Commilla district the fall has averaged, so far as the reports have been received up to the present, about a tenth of an inch against the normal 2·63 inches. In fact, since the first of the month up to the 18th the station of Commilla has only received 2·55 inches, while the normal fall is 9·61 inches, and since the 15th of May it has only received 40·91 inches, the normal for the period being 69·30 inches. Chandpore also in the Tipperah district has only received 2·23 inches of rain since the 1st of the month up to the 22nd against the normal fall of 10·24 inches, and since the 15th of May the actual fall has been 32·27 inches against the normal fall of 70·93 inches.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 23rd of September 1887:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

No. 9.

Commissariat Advertisement for Tea for the Madras Presidency.

SEALED tenders in the form used in the Commissariat Department (blank forms whereof can be had on application at the Commissariat Storekeeper-General's Office, Madras) will be received by the Commissariat Storekeeper-General, Madras, until 1 o'clock on Monday, the 17th October 1887 (and opened by him at the same time and place in presence of those interested), for the supply, by contract, of Indian black tea not exceeding in quantity 139,745lbs., to be delivered at the Commissariat Stores at Madras to the Commissariat Storekeeper-General on or before the 30th day of April 1888 free of all charges whatsoever. No payment will be made on account of such supply prior to the 1st April 1888. The above quantity is subject to a possible deduction of 117,000lbs. or less, if favourable tenders for out-stations (as per paragraph 3) are received.

2. Earnest Deposits.—Each tender must be accompanied by a receipt from the Secretary of the Bank of Madras acknowledging the payment of earnest-money equal to the amount shown in the table in paragraph 3 according to the number of stations tendered for, or by Government promissory notes to the same amount duly endorsed over to the Commissariat Storekeeper-General, Madras. If such earnest-money is not lodged, the tender will be rejected. Tenders to be sealed and superscribed "Tender for Tea."

3. Tenderers have the option of tendering for the supply of the whole quantity of tea at Madras as mentioned in paragraph 1, or of supplying at the following stations separately the respective quantities given opposite each station. In the latter case the amount inserted opposite each station is the earnest-money to accompany such tenders in the manner set forth in the preceding paragraph:—

	Tea.		Earnest-money.
	lbs.	Rs.
Bangalore	23,000	290
Belgaum	12,000	150
Bollary	12,000	150
Cannanore	7,000	90
Kamptee	12,000	150
Madras	22,745	280
Secunderabad	38,000	480
Wellington	13,000	160
Total	139,745	1,750

4. Security Deposits.—The earnest-moneys of successful competitors will be retained until they lodge with the Commissariat Storekeeper-General at Madras (or with the Executive Commissariat Officers in case separate tenders are accepted for each station) a security deposit of 10 per cent. on the value of the quantity or quantities of tea tendered by them. The security deposit may be lodged either in cash or in Government promissory notes. If the contractor desires to lodge the deposit in cash, he should pay the same to the Secretary of the Bank of Madras, or to the nearest Government treasury; and forward to the Storekeeper-General the Bank or treasury receipt for the same. If Government promissory notes are deposited, they are to be endorsed over to the Commissariat Storekeeper-General, Madras, for the time being as security for the due fulfilment of the contract. The earnest-moneys deposited with the successful tenders will then be returned to the tenderers.

5. The earnest-moneys of all unsuccessful competitors will be returned on the decision of Government as to the acceptance of any tender being received.

6. Contract Deed.—The successful competitors will be required to sign contracts on the basis of their tenders containing the usual provisions in the form used in the Commissariat Department (form whereof can be seen on application to the Commissariat Storekeeper-General at Madras), and to furnish the requisite security deposit within eight days from the date on which the acceptance of their tenders is notified to them. Should the successful competitors fail to sign the contracts or to furnish the security deposits within the time specified, so much of their earnest moneys will be forfeited as will reasonably compensate Government for such breach of contract, and their tenders will be considered as having been rejected. It is, however, to be clearly understood that the forfeiture of the total amount (if necessary) of such earnest-moneys for such default shall in no way preclude Government from recovering from the defaulting competitors all such damages as Government may sustain by reason of such defaults, and that the amount of such earnest-moneys is not to be taken as the total amount of compensation payable to Government for such defaults.

7. Size and Weight of Chests.—The chests containing the tea must be of suitable material, lined with lead, and lining. No chests of other dimensions than those specified above will be received. No broken or damaged chests will be received.

Each chest should contain 50lbs. of Indian tea and should be marked "50lbs. net." A certain number of the chests will be opened and examined by a Committee to ascertain that they contain not less than the weight represented, dependent on which examination the remainder will be taken to contain the net weight marked thereon.

8. Quality of tea.—The quality of tea will be subject to the approval of, or rejection by, a Committee to be appointed, at the request of the Commissary-General, by the Officer Commanding the District, and payment will be made for such quantity of tea only as may be approved of by the said Committee.

9. Samples.—Samples of tea can be had free of charge on application at the Commissariat Storekeeper-General's Office at Madras.

10. Each tender must be accompanied by a sample chest containing 50lbs. of the tea it is proposed to supply, which will be paid for at the rates tendered if of good quality.

11. Defaults.—If the contractors make default in delivering the whole or any part of the tea on or before the 30th April 1888, so much of the security deposited by them as will reasonably compensate Government for such breach of contract will be liable to be realized by Government, and, should such security be insufficient to compensate Government for such breach of contract, the contractors will be liable to pay to Government the difference between the amount of such security and such compensation, and any such compensation may, at the option of the Government, be deducted either from the moneys payable to the contractors for the tea delivered by them or from the securities deposited by them.

General Stipulations.

12. All further information may be had on application at the Commissariat Storekeeper-General's Office at Madras.

13. Every tender not made in the required form will be rejected. The form of tender to be signed as well as the schedule.

14. The Government reserves to itself the right of rejecting any tender without assigning any reason for so doing.

15. No person making a tender shall be allowed to withdraw his tender for the space of ninety days from the date thereof, and, in the event of his doing so, his earnest-money shall be forfeited to Government.

16. No offers by telegram will be accepted.

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 30TH OF SEPTEMBER 1887.

ON the last day of the previous week a feeble cyclonic storm or barometric depression, which had formed over the head of the Bay, had partly advanced over the land, and its centre was at 10 A.M. of the 23rd almost over the coast line of the Sunderbuns, and between Saugor Island and Burrisal. The feeble storm was, as usual, accompanied by distinct cyclonic circulation of winds, but the wind force at the land stations was moderate only, though at the head of the Bay squally weather generally prevailed. With the existence of the depression over the extreme south of the province, the monsoon winds were as usual prevented from extending over the province, and thus, though conditions were favourable for rainfall over the south and south-east of Bengal, the greater number of the northern and western stations were almost absolutely rainless. On the 24th the depression advanced slowly in a northerly or north-north-easterly direction, and at 10 A.M. its centre was near Burrisal and between this station and Jessore. Pressure fell rapidly at Burrisal, the fall almost equalling a tenth of an inch, and with the advance of the feeble storm inland, strong winds set in at the coast stations at the head of the Bay and moderate to heavy rain fell over the greater part of the south of the province. The following decidedly heavy rainfalls were recorded on the 24th in connection with the feeble storm:—in South-West Bengal Ranaghat 1·80 inches, Meherpore 1·82 inches, Kooshtea 1·50 inches, Satkhira 3·30 inches, Jessore 2·49 inches, Jhenida 1·51 inches, and Bongong 2·70 inches; in East Bengal Cox's Bazar 1·75 inches, Kutubdia 2·12 inches, Burrisal 2 inches, Bauphal 1·96 inches, and Perozepore 1·80 inches; and in North Bengal Cooch Behar 1·54 inches, Mikligunge 3·53 inches, Matabhanga 2·48 inches, and Siliguri 1·55 inches. The feeble storm continued its advance in a northerly direction, and at 10 A.M. of the 25th its centre was in North Bengal between Serajgunge and Rampore Beaulah. It was still well defined, but the depression was decidedly shallower than on the previous day, and it was evidently filling up. With the advance of the depression into North Bengal, conditions became more favourable for rainfall in the eastern and northern districts, and good general rain fell on this day, but it was not as a rule heavy. On the 26th the depression had practically filled up, the cyclonic circulation of winds accompanying the feeble storm had disappeared, and winds became rather irregular in direction, while pressure generally rose, but rain showers were again fairly numerous in East and North Bengal. On the 25th and 26th the following heavy falls of rain were reported:—in South-West Bengal Choodanga 3·40 inches, Parkabaree 3·10 inches on the 25th and 4 inches on the 26th, Bongong 2·80 inches, Kooshtea 2·12 inches; and the following stations received between one and two inches:—Meherpore, Bagirhat, Khoolna, Narail, Jessore and Azimgunge; in East Bengal the following stations received between 1 and 2 inches in the two days:—Bhola, Noakholly, Ramgunge, Pakour, Netrokona, Subournakhally, while in North Bengal Nattore, Naogan and Darjeeling received heavy falls.

With the disappearance of the depression conditions became at once less favourable for rainfall, and for the remainder of the week generally local showers only were reported, principally from the east and north of the province. From the 27th to the end of the week pressure has almost steadily risen, westerly and south-westerly winds also set in at the western stations and gradually forced back the southerly winds previously blowing until, at the close of the week, north-westerly winds were blowing over the whole province except at the eastern stations, where still south-easterly and southerly winds were reported. With the setting in of the dry north-westerly winds humidity rapidly decreased, until at several of the western stations the saturation was less than fifty per cent. of the possible amount. Cloud proportion also decreased rapidly, while temperature generally increased, and at the close of the week the conditions over the greater part of the province were distinctly those which mark the close of the rainy season, and the commencement of the transition conditions which obtain previous to the setting in of the north-east monsoon or the cold weather season in Bengal.

For the whole province the week has again been one of deficient rainfall. The central districts, it is true, have received good rain owing to the action of the depression, but elsewhere the falls have been small. In Orissa, Chutia Nagpur, and the greater part of Behar rainfall has been so small in amount as to be almost practically absent; in South-West Bengal the fall has been nearly equal to the normal, but in East and North Bengal the amounts have only been from about two-thirds to one half the usual amount.

Pressure.—The variations of pressure for the first three days were mainly due to the movement of the depression, but for the second-half of the week pressure rose almost uninterruptedly. The mean pressure for the week has, however, not varied very largely from the normal, though at most stations pressure has been slightly below it. Taking only those stations into consideration which have furnished observations for many years, and which therefore yield reliable averages, the mean pressure of the whole province of Bengal for the week has been below the normal by 0·01 inch. Generally speaking the western stations show excess pressures, and at Hazaribagh the excess is 0·025 inch, while the largest defects are at such stations as Burrisal, where it is 0·042 inch, and at Calcutta, where it is 0·037 inch. Some of the stations in North Bengal, such as Darjeeling, Julpigoree, Rungpore, and Dinagepore, show even a larger defect than these. In Assam also pressure has been decidedly below the normal, the defects ranging from 0.051 inch at Silchar to 0.077 inch at Dhubri, and the general defect for Assam has been 0.06 inch.

Temperature.—Has generally been in defect of the normal over the greater part of the province. Orissa and North Bengal show a slight excess temperature of about half a degree, but all other districts show defects, and in South Behar and Chutia Nagpur the defects range between 1° and 2°. For the whole of Bengal the average temperature of the week has been 0.6° below the normal. In Assam, on the other hand, the mean temperature has been 0.6° above the normal.

Rainfall.—The general distribution of the rainfall has already been referred to in the previous summary. The actual average rainfalls in South-West Bengal, East Bengal, and North Bengal have ranged from 1.36 inches up to 1.51 inches; while the next largest amount is 0.15 inch in Orissa and 0.12 inch in South Behar. Finally, in North Behar and Chutia Nagpur the amounts are only a few hundredths of an inch. Compared with the normal fall, and expressed as a percentage of that amount, the actual average rainfall in each of the seven large meteorological districts for the week has been—Orissa 7 per cent., South-West Bengal 83 per cent., East Bengal 62 per cent., North Bengal 51 per cent., North Behar 1 per cent., South Behar 8 per cent., and Chutia Nagpur 1 per cent.; or taking each of these districts as having an equal value in the calculation, the rainfall of the whole of Bengal for the week has been equal to only 30 per cent. of the normal quantity. Taking up the rainfall rather more in detail, all districts in Orissa have received extremely defective falls; in South-West Bengal the following districts have received fairly good falls:—Burdwan, Nuddea, Jessore, Khoolna, while in Midnapore, 24-Pergunnahs, Howrah, Hooghly, Bankoorah, Beerbhoom and Moorshedabad the falls have been decidedly scanty; in East Bengal, the Chittagong, Backergunge, Noakholly and Mymensingh districts have received moderate falls, Furreedpore and Dacca have received smaller and rather scanty falls, while the greater part of Tipperah is again largely in defect. The station of Comilla has received a moderate fall of 1.23 inches, but Chandpore has only received 0.48 inch and Brahmanberiah up to the 26th September only 0.32 inch. The actual fall at Comilla for the whole of September has been only 3.78 inches, against the normal 11.91 inches, at Chandpore it has been 2.71 inches, against the normal of 13.27 inches, and at Brahmanberiah up to the 26th September it has been 3.52 inches, while the normal fall for September is 12.17 inches. For the whole of the monsoon period the falls in the Tipperah district have been only equal to about half the normal amount.

In North Bengal the districts of Pubna, Bogra, Rajshahye, Julpigoree, Cooch Behar and Darjeeling have received good rain, while Maldah, Dinagepore, and Rungpore are largely deficient. In North Behar all districts are largely in defect, rainfall being practically absent; in South Behar, the only district which has received rain is Sonthal Pergunnah, and in Chutia Nagpur rainfall has also been practically absent.

The rainfall in Bengal throughout September has been very considerably in defect, as has been pointed out in previous summaries. The table below contains the numbers representing the rainfall for the four weeks of September, the figures given being the actual rainfall of each of the seven large meteorological districts expressed as a percentage of the normal fall for the period:—

Rainfall for September 1887 expressed as a percentage of the normal fall for the period.

The defective rainfall is therefore becoming decidedly more pronounced, and in all districts, except South-West Bengal, rainfall during September has been decidedly scanty.

In Assam during the week fairly good rain has fallen. Sibsaur has received 3.37 inches, Silchar 1.99 inches, and Dhubri 1.16 inches.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 30th of September 1887:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

o overcast, g gloomy, d drizzling rain, p passing temporary showers, Δ dew.

Acts of the Governor General's Council assented to by the Governor General

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Act of the Governor-General of India in Council received the assent of His Excellency the Governor-General on the 23rd September, 1887, and is hereby promulgated for general information :

ACT NO. XIX OF 1887.

An Act to provide for the Administration of the Estate of His late Majesty the King of Oudh.

WHEREAS His late Majesty Wajid Ali Shah, King of Oudh, was during his lifetime exempt from the jurisdiction of the Civil Courts, and it is expedient to make provision for the administration of his estate otherwise than under the authority of those Courts ; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

1. (1) The Governor General in Council shall have exclusive authority to act in the administration of the property of whatever nature left by His late Majesty the King of Oudh in regard to the settlement and satisfaction of claims against the estate of His late Majesty, and may make distribution of the remaining property or the proceeds thereof in Administration of the estate of the late King of Oudh by the Governor General in Council.

Oudh in regard to the settlement and satisfaction of claims against the estate of His late Majesty, and may make distribution of the remaining property or the proceeds thereof in such manner as he deems fit among the family and dependents of His late Majesty.

(2) No act of the Governor General in Council in connection with the administration to or distribution of the property left by His late Majesty shall be liable to be questioned in any Court.

2. The Agent to the Governor General with Indemnity to Agent His late Majesty, and all to the Governor General persons acting under his oral orders, are hereby indemnified and discharged from liability in respect of all acts done by him or them since the twentieth day of September, 1887, in connection with the preservation and administration of the estate of His late Majesty, and no suit or other proceeding shall be instituted in any Court against him or them, or against the Secretary of State for India in Council, in respect of those acts or any of them.

3. This Act shall take effect notwithstanding any testamentary or other disposition which may have been made by His late Majesty, and notwithstanding any proceedings which may have been or may be instituted before any Civil Court for administering his estate or collecting the debts due to it, and any person who under any probate, letters of administration or certificate, or otherwise howsoever, has received or realised any portion of the estate of His late Majesty shall be bound to account therefor to such officer as the Governor General in Council may appoint in this behalf.

Effect of Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

As regard must be had in the administration of the estate of His late Majesty the King of Oudh to political considerations by which an executor or administrator under the ordinary law could not be guided, and as the winding-up of the estate will include the closing of the large establishment at Garden Reach, it is considered necessary to follow the precedent created by Act XVIII of 1848 in the case of the Nawab of Surat, and to confer upon the Government exclusive authority to act in the administration of the property of His late Majesty.

The object of this Bill is to confer that authority on the Governor-General in Council.

The 22nd September, 1887.
